'Shocking' Fraud Told by Authority

Special Session Is Due Next Week on Cleaning Up Docks

Legislators to Consider State Commission's Plans and Transit Authority Act

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—The Legislature will convene next Thursday noon in a special session to consider measures aimed at cleaning up crime and ridding New York city's waterfront of rackets.

In announcing his call to the legislators yesterday, Gov. Dewey specified that they would weigh the State Crime Commission's recommendations and consider amendments to the New York city Transit Authority Act.

Dewey said his administration and New Jersey would make public on Sunday their proposal to set up twin commissions that would administer labor practices along the waterfront until Congress approves a merger.

The governor said the special session would consider the Crime Commission's recommendations "for regulation of the waterfront" and for "strengthening of governmental and criminal procedure."

Cites Five Points

Dewey said the proposed anti-crime legislation would be ready Saturday and would cover these commission proposals:

1. Creation of a permanent commission of investigation.
2. Establishment of a uniform jury system for counties outside New York city.
3. Provisions for a uniform set of standards for appointments to local police forces.
4. Revision of certain laws governing the immunity of witnesses in investigations.
5. Expansion of the power of the governor to remove local officials for misconduct or malfeasance in office. The governor now may remove mayors and police chiefs for cause.

To Study Testimony

The four-member crime commission, at a series of hearings, heard testimony that violence, extortion, thievery was commonplace on the docks and that gangsters ran the dock unions.

The commission proposed creation of a state agency to license stevedores and control hiring practices on the piers.

Dewey and Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey agreed nine days ago that they would ask their legislatures to set up companion agencies to control the waterfront. Dewey held a two-day public hearing in New York city last week on proposals to clean up pier rackets.

Proposed amendments to the Transit Authority Act are expected to include a reduction of the limit on capital debt that the authority may incur without approval from the city's board of estimate. The limit now is 57 million dollars a year, and the proposed amendment probably would cut it to 5.

Also likely is a proposal to eliminate the bookkeeping factors of obsolescence and depreciation of transit equipment from calculation of what fare would be required to make the city's transportation system pay its own way.

To Open With Bang

Burbank, Calif., June 19 (AP)—The Burbank Symphony Association's summer season will open July 12 with a bang—60 seconds of rifle and tank-cannon fire directed by walkie-talkie. A one-minute artillery barrage is called for in the score of the symphony's opening number, Tschaikowsky's "1812 Overture." The selection depicts the retreat of Napoleon from Moscow. Sound effects will include six shots from a 76-millimeter cannon of a 30-ton medium tank and rifle fire from a platoon of 20 Burbank riflemen.

Housing Authority Chairman Hits at Attempts to Mislead

How a "shocking" number of persons are attempting to gain admission to the Kingston Housing Project by making false statements about their annual income was revealed today by Arthur A. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority.

Attempts to mislead the authority came to light when an investigator was hired to check on the applications now being filed for apartments in the recently completed project.

Apartments in the project are reserved for families whose annual incomes fall within certain prescribed brackets, the maximum incomes allowable for tenancy varying with the size of the family and the number of rooms in the apartment.

No Actual Estimate

Davis revealed today that the investigator's reports and interviews with applicants "revealed a shocking number of cases where attempts have been made to mislead the authority and commit a fraud by giving false information on the application forms with respect to the family income." He said, however, he was unable at this time to make an estimate of the actual number of such cases.

Davis said it was found that in some cases "the family income actually amounts to well over $6,000, whereas the signed application forms state that the income is only about $3,000 or $4,000."

To date, no one is living in the project, and fraudulent applications uncovered by the housing autority are simply denied.

Davis warned, however, that

Only Recourse Now Seems to Be in Eisenhower's Hands

Washington, June 19 (AP) — The Supreme Court today set aside the stay of execution issued by Justice Douglas to Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. This presumably dooms them to death barring some last minute development.

Announcement of the decision was made by Chief Justice Vinson shortly after the court met at 11 a. m., EST.

The court convened in extraordinary session yesterday to deal specifically with the stay, issued by Douglas only the day before.

The Rosenbergs, husband and wife, had been sentenced to die last night on conviction of stealing atomic secrets and passing them on to Russia.

Plea to President

With the court's action, a plea for President Eisenhower to spare their lives will now go to the White House from the Justice Department.

Attorneys for the Rosenbergs filed it with the department earlier this week. It has been held there pending the outcome of the court consideration of the case.

Recommendations on such clemency pleas always are made by the President's pardon attorney who works at the Justice Department.

Eisenhower turned down an earlier plea for clemency in February.

No Immediate Word

There was no immediate word after Vinson's announcement as to the division of the nine justices on the issue.

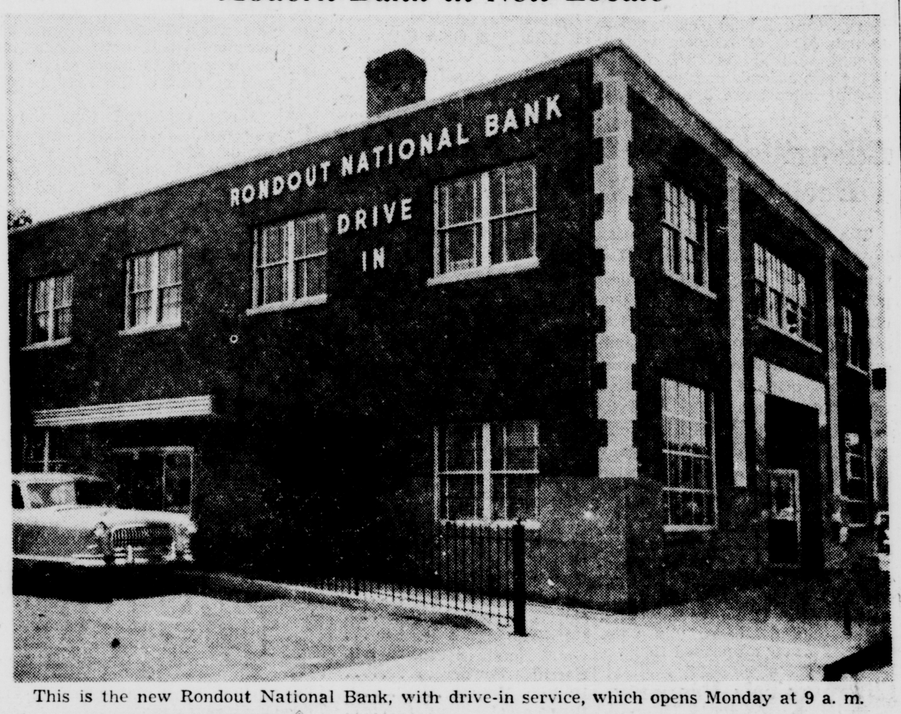

But Douglas spoke up strongly in dissent.

"I know that I am right on the law," he declared.

New Motor Vehicle Laws

(The is the first of two articles on new regulations and changes in the state's motor vehicle laws. It summarizes the new rules of the road. The second, dealing with non-fixable tickets and chemical tests on drinking drivers, will be moved tomorrow for use in Saturday PMs).

Albany, June 19 (AP)—New laws enforcing safer driving in New York state go into effect July 1.

The 1953 Legislature put more teeth in the state's campaign for safer highways. Beginning next month, motorists in New York will find the laws do these things:

1. Demand more courtesy on the road by making drivers' signals mandatory and defining the right of way at intersections.

Would Increase Flow

2. Step up the flow of traffic by permitting passing on the right and changing lanes under certain conditions, and making slowpoke driving a traffic offense.

3. Crack down harder on violations by installing a system to prevent the fixing of traffic tickets and by putting more troopers on patrol.

4. Making it harder for drinking drivers to beat intoxication charges by authorizing police to use chemical tests on motorists suspected of being in an intoxicated condition.

Passed by Legislature

The new laws were passed by the 1953 Legislature after Gov. Dewey had called for "a broadly based traffic safety program and a uniform traffic code." In his annual message to the Legislature last January, Dewey asked specifically for up-to-date provisions governing passing on highways and for regulations on giving hand signals.

Motorists long have been urged to use hand signals for turning or halting. Until this year, however, the state went no further than diagramming the signals in the handbook issued driver's license applicants by the Motor Vehicle Bureau.

Now the signals are about to become law. Here they are:

1. Left turn—hand and arm extended horizontally.
2. Right turn—hand and arm extended upward.
3. Stop or slow down—hand and arm extended downward.

To Have Option

Drivers will have the option of signalling by hand or using mechanical or electrical signal devices. Present law requires motorists to use the devices or extend the left arm from the car window to warn of a turn, decrease in speed or a stop.

Another new section of the vehicle and traffic law, also effective next month, will require you to yield the right of way at an intersection when:

1. The other driver already has entered the intersection.
2. When the other vehicle is on your right.
3. You are about to turn left and vehicles approaching from the opposite direction are in the intersection or so close "as to constitute an immediate hazard."
4. You are approaching a vehicle making a left turn across your path.

Will Be Allowed

Passing on the right, previously prohibited in all parts of the state outside New York, will be legal after July 1 when:

1. The overtaken vehicle is about to turn left.
2. On a road with four or more lanes unobstructed for moving traffic, or on a one-way street having at least two unobstructed lanes.
3. It can be done safely and without leaving the pavement.

Legislation to rid the roads of "creepers" — drivers who poke along at slow speed on the open highway—makes it a traffic offense to drive unreasonably slowly.

The law, which takes effect next month, sets no minimum speed, but prohibits driving at such a slow rate as to impede or block the normal movement of traffic.

No Developments Are Reported on Airborne Object

Object Seen Falling From Sky Remains Mystery; Incident Used as Spotters' Call

Mrs. G. D. Logan, supervisor of the observation post on the Governor Clinton Hotel, said today that nothing further had been determined on the report yesterday that an object was dropped from the air into a field back of the hotel.

It was reported yesterday that some type of airborne object had dropped something in the area. Investigation of similar reports in the past have resulted in the finding of parachutes dropped from automatically operated weather balloons.

Seen by Spotters

Mrs. Logan said that Mrs. Jessie Burnett, of 143 Hurley avenue, and Mrs. Sophie Dales, of 192 Clinton avenue, spotters on duty at the hotel, reported the incident shortly before 10 a. m., yesterday to the White Plains filter center, and also notified her.

The filter center today, Mrs. Logan said, reported no further developments.

New York Fires 6, Suspends Five

Action Taken for Refusal to Answer Questions About Red Ties

New York, June 19 (AP) — The City Board of Education yesterday dismissed six teachers and suspended five others from public schools in Brooklyn and Queens for refusing to answer questions about Communist party membership.

The action was taken on recommendation of Superintendent of Schools William Jansen. It followed a number of recent similar actions against members of the faculties of municipal colleges and public schools.

The dismissals were under a section of the city charter which provides that any employe who refuses to answer questions of an official investigating body on the ground of possible self-incrimination is subject to firing without trial.

Invoked Amendment

The six had invoked the Fifth Amendment recently while under questioning before congressional committees.

The five suspensions were for refusing to answer questions of Jansen regarding Communist par-

Business Was Founded in 1848; Marks Third Move for Local Firm

The handsome, modern new building at 635 Broadway which will house the 105-year-old Rondout National Bank will be officially opened at 9 a. m. Monday.

Workmen were still busy with last-minute jobs today, including the hanging of a 10-ton steel door on the main vault.

Preparations were also being made for placing the old clock which for many years has stood on the Strand in front of the downtown bank. The clock, which chimes the quarter hours, will occupy a position at the corner of the new bank property.

Are Being Moved

Furnishings and equipment were in process of being moved today from the old bank building but tellers and bank officials were conducting business as usual.

The Rondout National Bank was founded in 1848 by Jansen Hasbrouck who served as its president from August 4, 1848, until July 14, 1885.

The bank was first located on Ferry street, operating there until 1929 when property was purchased on East Strand and a new building erected which was joined to the old one on Ferry street. Business has been carried on at the East Strand office since 1929.

Special Windows Installed

Featured in the air-conditioned new bank will be "walk-up" and "drive-in" windows for the convenience of patrons.

The walk-up window will enable mothers with baby carriages or children to remain with their carriages while doing business with the bank. They will be able to converse with the teller by means of a special speaker arrangement. A mechanical drawer, electrically operated, can be extended by the teller to receive or disburse cash, etc., while the teller is completely sealed behind the glass of the window.

The walk-up window may also be of use to the working man who might hesitate to enter the bank in his working clothes.

Can Drive Car In

The drive-in window will enable a patron to drive his automobile to a window located on the side of the bank, there transact his business and drive on. Entrance to the drive-in will be from Henry street, with the exit on Broadway, thus making it possible for the driver to pull into the window on the driver's side.

White lines will be laid out to mark the driver lane to the drive-in window, it was said.

Martial Law Cracks Revolt; Workers Return to Jobs

Berlin, June 19 (AP)—Tough Soviet martial law apparently cracked workers' resistance in East Berlin today and men began returning to their jobs for the first time since Wednesday's bloody revolt against the Communist government.

A Soviet machinegun barrier divided the tense eastern sector of Berlin from the west but a semblance of normal traffic of workers could be seen from the frontier.

West Berlin Lord Mayor Ernst Reuter appealed for top level allied meetings with the Russians to rescue the Soviet sector from the iron grip of Red army troops.

The United States, Britain and France have already demanded that the Russians end their blockade of the eastern sector. The western powers condemned the execution yesterday of a jobless West Berlin truck driver by a Soviet firing squad as "an act of brutality which will shock the conscience of the western world."

Against a backdrop of frantic appeals by the puppet East German government for support from their people embittered by the years of dictatorial Red rule, there were these additional developments:

The Americans turned back to the Soviet sector Otto Nuschke, East German deputy premier who was kicked into the western zone by rioters and held for two days.

Bishop Otto Dibelius, head of the Protestant Church for all-Germany, appealed to Soviet High Commissioner Vladimir Semyenov to listen to complaints of workers in the east. Their resentment against Communist pressure of more work without adequate pay was an immediate cause of Wednesday's rioting.

In west Berlin all flags were lowered to half staff for the victims of the rioting—numbering more than a score. A full day of mourning was planned for next Monday.

The American radio station advised the Soviet zone residents to

Reds Say South Korea Tries to Build Army

Included Among Escapees Are 494 Men Who Battled U. S. Marines

Seoul, June 19 (AP)—New and bloody mass breaks from allied stockades today swelled to nearly 26,000 the legion of anti-Communist war prisoners liberated in South Korea's bold defiance of the UN command.

More than 1,800 bolted from five prison camps and a hospital last night and early today on the heels of those ordered released Wednesday by President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea.

UN command headquarters in Tokyo placed at 25,952 the total Koreans escaping in the last two days, and 9,398 those anti-Red Koreans remaining in custody. The figures differed somewhat with those released by the UN prisoner of war command, which said its totals were "rough."

Those making the break early today included 484 who battled U. S. Marines at Ascom City camp, near Seoul's big port of Inchon on the west coast. The UN command said the leathernecks had replaced ROK guards at the camp before the South Koreans had opportunity "for collusion."

Whether the mass releases and breaks for freedom would wreck the two-year-old armistice negotiations—now in their 11th hour—remained to be seen.

Meeting Is Scheduled

At Communist request, a full-dress meeting of the armistice delegations was set for 11 a. m. Saturday (9 p. m., EST, Friday).

The official Red Peiping Radio charged Rhee released the prisoners to impress them into the ROK army. It also said the "Americans deliberately connived" by taking no preventive measurer and said U. S. sincerity is "indeed put to an acid test."

A Rhee aide said "anyone who understands our position will understand" the presidential order freeing the prisoners. Rhee has voiced vigorous opposition to any armistice leaving Korea divided.

Obstacle Is Removed

When allied and Communist truce teams agreed upon a formula for handling Communist prisoners unwilling to return to Red rule they had removed the last major obstacle to an armistice.

At Ascom City, 13 prisoners were killed by gunfire and 17 were trampled to death as POWs clawed through a barbed wire fence to freedom. Ten more POWs died later of injuries to boost the death toll to 40.

A marine spokesman said the gunfire came from a rice paddy outside the prison compound, evidently from Koreans aiding the break. Two marines were wounded. AP Correspondent Mil Farneti reported the stockade was literally blood soaked.

The UN command assured the Communists via courier that it is making "every effort" to round up the prisoners—but it appeared an almost impossible task.

Rhee announced dramatically Thursday he personally ordered the compounds thrown open. He called upon South Korean civilians to shelter the prisoners. It didn't take long for South Korea's teeming population to envelope the fugitives.

Armistice Appears Ready for Signing; Reds May Protest

UN Command Tells Foe All Steps Are Taken to Seize Escaped Prisoners

Munsan, June 19 (AP)—The fate of the Korean armistice may be determined within a few hours when allied and Red negotiators meet in full-dress session at Panmunjom.

The next move apparently is up to the Reds—but they gave no hint when they asked for a meeting at 11 a. m. Saturday (9 p. m. Friday, EST).

The negotiators might approve final truce details or the Reds may protest President Syngman Rhee's defiant release of about 26,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners.

The armistice draft appears ready for signature as soon as Chinese, English and Korean translations are approved.

Wouldn't Block Signing

Observers predicted Rhee's arbitrary action probably would not block signing of the truce, but they feared trouble later when the allies must account for and hand over Red prisoners.

And there is the possibility Rhee could expand this first open revolt against the UN upsetting the whole agreement.

The UNC has assured the Reds it is taking "every step" to recapture the escaped prisoners, but it has found only a handful. The task appeared almost hopeless as the prisoners melted into the the countryside, hiding in homes with the blessing of the South Korean government.

Meanwhile, Rhee made public a letter he wrote President Eisenhower Wednesday in which he apparently rejected Eisenhower's offer of economic and military aid and a promise to negotiate a security pact if South Korea would accept a truce.

Pleads With Eisenhower

Rhee pleaded with Eisenhower to find some other answer than a "death warrant" armistice.

As the critical full-dress session approached, there were these other developments:

1. The Reds called off Friday's meeting of interpreters believed working on the armistice draft at Panmunjom.

2. The official Red Peiping radio accused Rhee of releasing the prisoners in order to impress them into the South Korean Army and added the "Americans deliberately connived" by taking no measures to prevent the breakouts. It also said the sincerity of the U. S. is "indeed put to an acid test."

3. Communist army engineers abruptly stopped construction of a building at Panmunjom which some observers thought might be used for the truce signing ceremony. There was no explanation.

Continue Preparations

4. Allied troops continued preparations for prisoner exchange and top Allied officers who will serve on a joint-Red Allied military commission after the armistice arrived in Munsan.

Should the Reds make the most of the prisoner release, a truce might be threatened seriously.

The actual prisoner agreement makes no mention of numbers but says all prisoners opposing return to their homeland will be turned over to the repatriation commission within 60 days.

The UNC has told the Reds about 47,000 anti-Red prisoners would go to the commission.

If the Allied Command fails to meet this number, the Communists possibly could hold out on Allied prisoners.

Kelly Is Improved

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly, of 111 West Chester street, who was admitted to Kingston Hospital earlier this week for treatment of a heart condition, was reported as "slightly improved" today. His condition was reported yesterday as critical.

Rose Property Sale Is Being Negotiated

Rumors concerning the sale of Rose's Super Market, 70-72 Franklin street, have their basis in the fact that negotiations are in progress, it was learned today. The transaction has not been completed, however, according to a reliable source.

The market, locally owned by A. D. Rose, Inc., has been up for sale and in recent weeks the market has advertised a liquidation sale offering packaged groceries at 10 per cent off regular shelf prices.

The name of the prospective purchaser was not revealed while negotiations are in progress.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The position of the Treasury June 17: Net budget receipts, $1,092,802,-243.53; budget expenditures, $226,-710,768.12; cash balance, $3,721,-511,612.88; customs receipts for month, $30,555,493.88; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $59,125,-214,055.34; budget expenditures fiscal year, $70,850,357,457.59; budget deficit, $11,725,143,402.25; total debt, $267,165,537,690.60; decrease under previous day, $616,-826,318.37; gold assets, $22,512,-547,808.78.

The handsome, modern new building at 635 Broadway which will house the 105-year-old Rondout National Bank will be officially opened at 9 a. m. Monday.

Workmen were still busy with last-minute jobs today, including the hanging of a 10-ton steel door on the main vault.

Preparations were also being made for placing the old clock which for many years has stood on the Strand in front of the downtown bank. The clock, which chimes the quarter hours, will occupy a position at the corner of the new bank property.

Are Being Moved

Furnishings and equipment were in process of being moved today from the old bank building but tellers and bank officials were conducting business as usual.

The Rondout National Bank was founded in 1848 by Jansen Hasbrouck who served as its president from August 4, 1848, until July 14, 1885.

The bank was first located on Ferry street, operating there until 1929 when property was purchased on East Strand and a new building erected which was joined to the old one on Ferry street. Business has been carried on at the East Strand office since 1929.

Special Windows Installed

Featured in the air-conditioned new bank will be "walk-up" and "drive-in" windows for the convenience of patrons.

The walk-up window will enable mothers with baby carriages or children to remain with their carriages while doing business with the bank. They will be able to converse with the teller by means of a special speaker arrangement. A mechanical drawer, electrically operated, can be extended by the teller to receive or disburse cash, etc., while the teller is completely sealed behind the glass of the window.

The walk-up window may also be of use to the working man who might hesitate to enter the bank in his working clothes.

Can Drive Car In

The drive-in window will enable a patron to drive his automobile to a window located on the side of the bank, there transact his business and drive on. Entrance to the drive-in will be from Henry street, with the exit on Broadway, thus making it possible for the driver to pull into the window on the driver's side.

White lines will be laid out to mark the driver lane to the drive-in window, it was said.

Martial Law Cracks Revolt; Workers Return to Jobs

Berlin, June 19 (AP)—Tough Soviet martial law apparently cracked workers' resistance in East Berlin today and men began returning to their jobs for the first time since Wednesday's bloody revolt against the Communist government.

A Soviet machinegun barrier divided the tense eastern sector of Berlin from the west but a semblance of normal traffic of workers could be seen from the frontier.

West Berlin Lord Mayor Ernst Reuter appealed for top level allied meetings with the Russians to rescue the Soviet sector from the iron grip of Red army troops.

The United States, Britain and France have already demanded that the Russians end their blockade of the eastern sector. The western powers condemned the execution yesterday of a jobless West Berlin truck driver by a Soviet firing squad as "an act of brutality which will shock the conscience of the western world."

Against a backdrop of frantic appeals by the puppet East German government for support from their people embittered by the years of dictatorial Red rule, there were these additional developments:

The Americans turned back to the Soviet sector Otto Nuschke, East German deputy premier who was kicked into the western zone by rioters and held for two days.

Bishop Otto Dibelius, head of the Protestant Church for all-Germany, appealed to Soviet High Commissioner Vladimir Semyenov to listen to complaints of workers in the east. Their resentment against Communist pressure of more work without adequate pay was an immediate cause of Wednesday's rioting.

In west Berlin all flags were lowered to half staff for the victims of the rioting—numbering more than a score. A full day of mourning was planned for next Monday.

Included Among Escapees Are 494 Men Who Battled U. S. Marines

Seoul, June 19 (AP)—New and bloody mass breaks from allied stockades today swelled to nearly 26,000 the legion of anti-Communist war prisoners liberated in South Korea's bold defiance of the UN command.

More than 1,800 bolted from five prison camps and a hospital last night and early today on the heels of those ordered released Wednesday by President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea.

UN command headquarters in Tokyo placed at 25,952 the total Koreans escaping in the last two days, and 9,398 those anti-Red Koreans remaining in custody. The figures differed somewhat with those released by the UN prisoner of war command, which said its totals were "rough."

Those making the break early today included 484 who battled U. S. Marines at Ascom City camp, near Seoul's big port of Inchon on the west coast. The UN command said the leathernecks had replaced ROK guards at the camp before the South Koreans had opportunity "for collusion."

Whether the mass releases and breaks for freedom would wreck the two-year-old armistice negotiations—now in their 11th hour—remained to be seen.

Meeting Is Scheduled

At Communist request, a full-dress meeting of the armistice delegations was set for 11 a. m. Saturday (9 p. m., EST, Friday).

The official Red Peiping Radio charged Rhee released the prisoners to impress them into the ROK army. It also said the "Americans deliberately connived" by taking no preventive measurer and said U. S. sincerity is "indeed put to an acid test."

A Rhee aide said "anyone who understands our position will understand" the presidential order freeing the prisoners. Rhee has voiced vigorous opposition to any armistice leaving Korea divided.

Obstacle Is Removed

When allied and Communist truce teams agreed upon a formula for handling Communist prisoners unwilling to return to Red rule they had removed the last major obstacle to an armistice.

At Ascom City, 13 prisoners were killed by gunfire and 17 were trampled to death as POWs clawed through a barbed wire fence to freedom. Ten more POWs died later of injuries to boost the death toll to 40.

A marine spokesman said the gunfire came from a rice paddy outside the prison compound, evidently from Koreans aiding the break. Two marines were wounded. AP Correspondent Mil Farneti reported the stockade was literally blood soaked.

The UN command assured the Communists via courier that it is making "every effort" to round up the prisoners—but it appeared an almost impossible task.

Rhee announced dramatically Thursday he personally ordered the compounds thrown open. He called upon South Korean civilians to shelter the prisoners. It didn't take long for South Korea's teeming population to envelope the fugitives.

Armistice Appears Ready for Signing; Reds May Protest

UN Command Tells Foe All Steps Are Taken to Seize Escaped Prisoners

Munsan, June 19 (AP)—The fate of the Korean armistice may be determined within a few hours when allied and Red negotiators meet in full-dress session at Panmunjom.

The next move apparently is up to the Reds—but they gave no hint when they asked for a meeting at 11 a. m. Saturday (9 p. m. Friday, EST).

The negotiators might approve final truce details or the Reds may protest President Syngman Rhee's defiant release of about 26,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners.

The armistice draft appears ready for signature as soon as Chinese, English and Korean translations are approved.

Wouldn't Block Signing

Observers predicted Rhee's arbitrary action probably would not block signing of the truce, but they feared trouble later when the allies must account for and hand over Red prisoners.

And there is the possibility Rhee could expand this first open revolt against the UN upsetting the whole agreement.

The UNC has assured the Reds it is taking "every step" to recapture the escaped prisoners, but it has found only a handful. The task appeared almost hopeless as the prisoners melted into the the countryside, hiding in homes with the blessing of the South Korean government.

Meanwhile, Rhee made public a letter he wrote President Eisenhower Wednesday in which he apparently rejected Eisenhower's offer of economic and military aid and a promise to negotiate a security pact if South Korea would accept a truce.

Pleads With Eisenhower

Rhee pleaded with Eisenhower to find some other answer than a "death warrant" armistice.

As the critical full-dress session approached, there were these other developments:

1. The Reds called off Friday's meeting of interpreters believed working on the armistice draft at Panmunjom.
2. The official Red Peiping radio accused Rhee of releasing the prisoners in order to impress them into the South Korean Army and added the "Americans deliberately connived" by taking no measures to prevent the breakouts. It also said the sincerity of the U. S. is "indeed put to an acid test."
3. Communist army engineers abruptly stopped construction of a building at Panmunjom which some observers thought might be used for the truce signing ceremony. There was no explanation.

Continue Preparations

4. Allied troops continued preparations for prisoner exchange and top Allied officers who will serve on a joint-Red Allied military commission after the armistice arrived in Munsan.

Should the Reds make the most of the prisoner release, a truce might be threatened seriously.

The actual prisoner agreement makes no mention of numbers but says all prisoners opposing return to their homeland will be turned over to the repatriation commission within 60 days.

The UNC has told the Reds about 47,000 anti-Red prisoners would go to the commission.

If the Allied Command fails to meet this number, the Communists possibly could hold out on Allied prisoners.

Kelly Is Improved

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly, of 111 West Chester street, who was admitted to Kingston Hospital earlier this week for treatment of a heart condition, was reported as "slightly improved" today. His condition was reported yesterday as critical.

Rose Property Sale Is Being Negotiated

Rumors concerning the sale of Rose's Super Market, 70-72 Franklin street, have their basis in the fact that negotiations are in progress, it was learned today. The transaction has not been completed, however, according to a reliable source.

The market, locally owned by A. D. Rose, Inc., has been up for sale and in recent weeks the market has advertised a liquidation sale offering packaged groceries at 10 per cent off regular shelf prices.

The name of the prospective purchaser was not revealed while negotiations are in progress.

Mischief Still Plagues Kingston

Malicious mischief, in one form or another, continued in the city this week.

Police were notified at 7:40 p. m., yesterday by John Van Steenburgh, of 160 Second avenue, that someone had knocked out a window valued at $55 on one side of his house, and that on the previous night a window was broken in his son's car.

A complaint at 9:05 p. m., said that youngsters were hitting cars with sticks and were throwing rubbish along Ferry street. Officers Francis Loeffler and Sheldon O'Rourke were dispatched there and reported the boys had left the area.

Dump Blocks Again

Later last night police were notified that youngsters were fighting in the street in front of School No. 6. They had left the area on arrival of Officers Kenneth Gaffney and William Norton.

Earlier in the week it was reported that several concrete blocks had been pushed from a wall of a new building of the Model Railroad Club to the rear of the West Shore freight house. Detectives arrested several youngsters following a similar complaint a few weeks ago and restitution was made for the damage.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons are investigating the recent complaints.

Ellenville Rates Decision Put Off

The Public Service Commission in Albany today extended to December 28 its suspension of a proposal by Ellenville Electric Company to introduce a new industrial rate applicable to large consumers who guarantee a 500 kilowatt minimum demand. The extension was made to allow the commission more time in which to complete its study of the company proposal. The original suspension was ordered on February 10 and would have expired on June 29.

The company's proposed new rate is being opposed by Channel Master Corporation, the only customer which would be affected thereby, which claims that unit electric costs would be increased rather than decreased under the company's now suspended filing.

Champanier's Property Will Be Sold June 22

A notice of sheriff's sale posted at the Ulster County Court House reveals that the personal property belonging to Abram August Champanier, doing business as the Saxton Fells School of Art, 243 Fair street, will be sold at public auction on June 22.

The sale will be conducted by Sheriff Cluett Schantz pursuant to an execution in Ulster County Court. It will be held 10 a. m., June 22 at 243 Fair street.

Held in Slaying Case

Stamford, Conn., June 19 (AP)—Investigators of the mystery slaying of Una Beatrice Eisan, 36, East Orange, N. J., nurse, reported today the arrest of John C. Parrino, 46, a Stamford factory foreman, on an assault charge. Det. Capt. William J. Lynch and Det. Sgt. Canio Genovese, who made the arrest, declined to discuss it. Parrino is being held without bond. Lynch and Genovese have been working on the case since Miss Eisen's battered body was found near a Long Island beach here at dawn last Tuesday. She had been struck on the head with a sharp instrument and then hit by an automobile, medical authorities said.

Checking Theft

The sheriff's office is investigating the reported theft this week of a battery and a five-gallon can of motor oil, from road building equipment of the A. E. Octaviano Construction Company, general contractors on the Thruway section between Route 28 and Whiteport. The sheriff's office night patrols have been assigned to check the equipment frequently to prevent a recurrence.

Military Takes Over

Cairo, Egypt, June 19 (AP)—Egypt's ruling military clique tightened its hold on the Nile land today. It proclaimed a republic, installed Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib as president as well as premier, and publicly took over the major cabinet portfolios The proclamation of the republic ended the 148-year-old dynasty of ex-King Farouk and his forebears.

The case of Louis A. Lewis against Woodstock Properties, Inc., continued in Supreme Court today before Justice William Deckelman. A case in equity, the trial is before the judge without a jury. It was begun in May, but put over by the judge until June, after the trial jurors were discharged. The firm of Cashin & Ewig represents Lewis, and attorney N. LeVan Haver represents Woodstock Properties.

Wicks Firemen Are In First Division

Wicks Engine Co., headed by the prize-winning Port Ewen Fife Drum and Bugle Corps, will be in the first division, fourth place, in the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association parade at Lake George tomorrow, Raymond L. Whitbeck, secretary of the local company announced today.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and members of the Board of Fire Commissioners will parade with the local firemen, who expect to have about 40 men in line. The Wicks fire engine will also be in the parade.

The firemen are due to be at the Wicks engine house for inspection at 7:30 a. m., tomorrow. The bus to Lake George is scheduled to leave at 7:45. Some of the firemen will make the trip in private cars.

'Shocking' Fraud

anyone who does succeed in obtaining an apartment under "false pretenses" will be subject to severe penalties in the form of surcharges. They will also face possible eviction.

The housing authority will conduct periodical checkups of tenants to "disclose the true facts sooner or later," the chairman revealed.

First tenants are expected to move into the project off Flatbush avenue in July. Occupants of the veterans housing project on Charlotte Place have first priority, and many of them were interviewed this week. Those who have been accepted will be notified shortly to be prepared to move to the new project during the first part of July.

Davis explained that the requirements regarding maximum income are designed to give deserving and qualified families, for whom the project was intended, an apartment and a good place to live.

"Those families having income above the maximum for this project can and should look to privately owned apartments or purchase their own homes," Davis said.

Because of the number of unqualified applicants weeded out by investigation, it is possible that a few four and one-half room apartments will be available, Davis said. Application forms may be obtained at the office of the Kingston Housing Authority on the third floor of the city hall. Telephone number is 4856.

Should Notify Authority

Families whose financial status has changed since the date of application and who are not now eligible are expected to notify the authority immediately, Davis said. This can be done by telephone or by mail.

The types of fraudulent statements uncovered by investigation fell into three main classifications, Davis revealed:

1. In some cases the husband had two jobs or had substantial income from some source other than his principal employment and reported only his salary from one source.

2. Some signed applications stated only the husband was working, and that his income constituted the entire income for the family, whereas in truth the wife was also working and her income added to that of her husband put the family income far above that allowed for occupancy in this type of housing.

Stopped, Then Started

3. In some cases where husband and wife were working and earning above the maximum allowed, the wife obtained a leave of absence from her job, or stopped working temporarily, to bring the family income down to an acceptable amount, intending to start working again as soon as the apartment is obtained.

In addition to those three main types of fraud, there were also other means attempted to mislead the authority.

Chairman Davis has stressed the fact that since the number of available apartments is limited, each apartment obtained by misleading methods deprives a family of low income from obtaining an apartment to which it is entitled under the intent of the housing law.

Killed by Shell

Fort Dix, N. J., June 19 (AP)—A young GI was killed and 16 others injured yesterday by a mortar shell that exploded prematurely during a firing range demonstration at this army post.

U. S. Supreme . . .

the court session that the questions raised by the issuance of the Douglas stay were "complicated and novel."

Frankfurter added that he would dispose of the case only after opposing lawyers had been given full opportunity to study the questions.

Black Dissents

Then Justice Black announced from the high bench that he, too, dissented.

Douglas, Black, Frankfurter and Justice Jackson made up the four-man minority when the court turned down the Rosenbergs' appeal last Monday—a rejection that touched off furious and unprecedented new legal maneuvering before the high court.

Douglas issued his stay Tuesday on the ground that there was a substantial question whether the Rosenbergs were properly sentenced under the espionage law of 1917.

He said the courts should pass upon the issue of whether the case against them should have been brought under the Atomic Secrets Act of 1946.

The Atomic Secrets Act bars a death sentence unless (a) it is recommended by the jury and (b) there is a showing that the violation was with deliberate intent to injure the United States.

The jury made no recommendation in the New York trial of the Rosenbergs.

At today's climactic court session, Douglas asserted his position in granting a stay was the right one.

Douglas emphasized that he felt no death penalty should have been pronounced in this case without a recommendation for capital punishment by the trial jury.

Douglas said that in his view the death sentence was unlawful and that U. S. District Judge Irving Kaufman in New York was without power to impose the death sentence without a jury recommendation.

Black in his statement from the bench said "I do not believe that counsel or this court have had adequate time" to dispose properly of the case.

Questions Power of Court

Black also questioned the power of the full court to vacate a stay granted by an individual judge.

He said the high court should not have disposed of the matter until after the attorneys involved had been given more time for study and argument.

Immediately after Vinson announced the majority decision of the court, the dissenting justices began stating their views, one by one in the order of their seniority on the bench.

Just before the court recessed Emanuel Bloch, chief counsel for the Rosenbergs, asked again for a stay—to let him file a clemency petition directly with the President.

Bloch said the latest clemency petition he had filed with the Justice Department had not yet gone to the White House.

Will Consider Motion

Vinson told Bloch he could submit his motion for a stay to the clerk of the court and promised that the high tribunal would consider it.

The chief justice added that to expedite the request, the attorney could write it out in longhand.

After the chief justice spoke the court went into recess at 11:30 a. m. (EST).

Bloch in pleading for time to let President Eisenhower study the clemency petition said: "Tens of millions of people throughout the world are deeply disturbed over the Rosenberg case."

Stresses Call to Duty

"I hope this incident will serve to show the people here the importance of this work and that more will come out and serve as spotters. The are urgently needed," Mrs. Logan said.

The post supervisor said that whenever such incidents occur, they are treated as military secrets until something definite is established, and this, she hoped, was another point the public would understand.

Late Bulletins

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to grant a new temporary stay of execution to Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, the atom spies awaiting execution. The stay had been asked to permit time for the White House to act on a new plea for executive clemency.

They Learn of Ruling

Ossining, June 19 (AP)—Doomed atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg learned by prison radio during lunch today that this may be their last day on earth.

The death house radio amplifier told them the Supreme Court had vacated the stay granted by Justice William O. Douglas.

The grim message came as they were having a meal of fried filet of fish with tomato gravy, mashed potatoes and waxed beans.

Their reaction was not known immediately.

Warden Wilfred E. Denno, also at lunch, said he had not yet received official word from Washington.

Vote Was 6 to 3

Washington, June 19 (AP)—By a 6 to 3 vote, the Supreme Court struck down today the legal barrier thrown up by Justice William O. Douglas against the execution of atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

New York, June 19 (AP)—Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman, who sentenced Julius and Ethel Rosenberg to death, today declined to comment on the Supreme Court's upset of a stay of execution.

Time Tentatively Set

New York, June 19 (AP)—The execution of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg is tentatively planned for 10 p. m. (EST) tonight, U. S. Marshal William A. Carroll said today.

Carroll, in charge of execution arrangements, said that was the present plan pending further word from Attorney General Herbert Brownell's office.

Washington, June 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower today rejected an appeal that he spare the lives of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. The President's decision was announced by a press aide in these words: "The President refuses to intervene."

ty membership. Andrew G. Clauson, Jr., president of the board, said the five teachers would be called for departmental trial.

Frauenglass Included

Among the dismissed teachers was William Frauenglass, of James Madison High School, Brooklyn, who had written to Dr. Albert Einstein recently asking his opinion of the work of congressional probe committees and actions of the New York city board of education. Frauenglass was under suspension at the time.

In a reply—made public by Frauenglass a week ago—Einstein said in part:

"Every intellectual who is called before one of the committees ought to refuse to testify, i.e, he must be prepared for jail and economic ruin, in short, for the sacrifice of his personal welfare in the interest of the cultural welfare of his country."

Rondout National

banking room are of handsome knotty pine with a light finish. Fluorescent lighting is recessed in the ceilings.

The main banking floor is done in terrazo, the teller's work area in cork tile and the private offices are carpeted. The offices of the consumer-credit and bookkeeping department are rubber-tiled. The walls are of attractive medium green color.

Can Lock Up Cash

An interesting innovation in the new bank is the separate unit consisting of safe and cash drawers assigned to each teller. The unit is mounted on casters and in case a teller is withdrawn temporarily he can lock his cash drawers and remove the entire unit, trundling it to a convenient corner until he returns. In the meantime, the new teller taking his place moves in with an entire new unit of his own. In this way no teller ever handles money which has been handled by another teller.

There will be two vaults, one on the main floor for cash and safe deposit boxes, and one in the basement for records.

The consumer-credit department has been provided with a separate entrance in order that it may be kept open on occasion, if necessary, even though the bank is closed.

New Directors' Room

The directors' room on the second floor is carpeted and done handsomely in a deep rose brown color. Ceilings in the directors' room, and throughout the building, are done in acoustic tile.

In the basement are located rest rooms for employes, attractively decorated and with tiled floors.

Officers of the bank are James A. Dwyer, president; John M. Cashin, vice president; Irving L. Eyles, executive vice president, and James Rua, cashier.

avoid clashes with Soviet troops, saying violence would force the Russians to back up the Communist government in the long run.

Reuter spoke to newsmen after a meeting with the allied commandants. He said theye were in general agreement with his views. He said he asked the western allies to approach the Russians on the high commission level with demands for lifting the state of siege imposed on 1,100,000 east Berliners, the reestablishment of normal living conditions and permission for free unhindered traffic between both parts of divided Berlin.

Reuter said he discussed also a new proposal for free elections throughout Berlin as an initial step toward German unity.

One indication that the Russians planned no quick lifting of their martial rule was seen in the action restoring ration cards to 40,000 east Berliners who work in the west and now cannot pass through Red army lines. The cards had been cancelled six weeks ago.

Mischief Still Plagues Kingston

Malicious mischief, in one form or another, continued in the city this week.

Police were notified at 7:40 p. m., yesterday by John Van Steenburgh, of 160 Second avenue, that someone had knocked out a window valued at $55 on one side of his house, and that on the previous night a window was broken in his son's car.

A complaint at 9:05 p. m., said that youngsters were hitting cars with sticks and were throwing rubbish along Ferry street. Officers Francis Loeffler and Sheldon O'Rourke were dispatched there and reported the boys had left the area.

Dump Blocks Again

Later last night police were notified that youngsters were fighting in the street in front of School No. 6. They had left the area on arrival of Officers Kenneth Gaffney and William Norton.

Earlier in the week it was reported that several concrete blocks had been pushed from a wall of a new building of the Model Railroad Club to the rear of the West Shore freight house. Detectives arrested several youngsters following a similar complaint a few weeks ago and restitution was made for the damage.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons are investigating the recent complaints.

Ellenville Rates Decision Put Off

The Public Service Commission in Albany today extended to December 28 its suspension of a proposal by Ellenville Electric Company to introduce a new industrial rate applicable to large consumers who guarantee a 500 kilowatt minimum demand. The extension was made to allow the commission more time in which to complete its study of the company proposal. The original suspension was ordered on February 10 and would have expired on June 29.

The company's proposed new rate is being opposed by Channel Master Corporation, the only customer which would be affected thereby, which claims that unit electric costs would be increased rather than decreased under the company's now suspended filing.

Champanier's Property Will Be Sold June 22

A notice of sheriff's sale posted at the Ulster County Court House reveals that the personal property belonging to Abram August Champanier, doing business as the Saxton Fells School of Art, 243 Fair street, will be sold at public auction on June 22.

The sale will be conducted by Sheriff Cluett Schantz pursuant to an execution in Ulster County Court. It will be held 10 a. m., June 22 at 243 Fair street.

Held in Slaying Case

Stamford, Conn., June 19 (AP)—Investigators of the mystery slaying of Una Beatrice Eisan, 36, East Orange, N. J., nurse, reported today the arrest of John C. Parrino, 46, a Stamford factory foreman, on an assault charge. Det. Capt. William J. Lynch and Det. Sgt. Canio Genovese, who made the arrest, declined to discuss it. Parrino is being held without bond. Lynch and Genovese have been working on the case since Miss Eisen's battered body was found near a Long Island beach here at dawn last Tuesday. She had been struck on the head with a sharp instrument and then hit by an automobile, medical authorities said.

Checking Theft

The sheriff's office is investigating the reported theft this week of a battery and a five-gallon can of motor oil, from road building equipment of the A. E. Octaviano Construction Company, general contractors on the Thruway section between Route 28 and Whiteport. The sheriff's office night patrols have been assigned to check the equipment frequently to prevent a recurrence.

Military Takes Over

Cairo, Egypt, June 19 (AP)—Egypt's ruling military clique tightened its hold on the Nile land today. It proclaimed a republic, installed Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib as president as well as premier, and publicly took over the major cabinet portfolios The proclamation of the republic ended the 148-year-old dynasty of ex-King Farouk and his forebears.

The case of Louis A. Lewis against Woodstock Properties, Inc., continued in Supreme Court today before Justice William Deckelman. A case in equity, the trial is before the judge without a jury. It was begun in May, but put over by the judge until June, after the trial jurors were discharged. The firm of Cashin & Ewig represents Lewis, and attorney N. LeVan Haver represents Woodstock Properties.

Wicks Firemen Are In First Division

Wicks Engine Co., headed by the prize-winning Port Ewen Fife Drum and Bugle Corps, will be in the first division, fourth place, in the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association parade at Lake George tomorrow, Raymond L. Whitbeck, secretary of the local company announced today.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and members of the Board of Fire Commissioners will parade with the local firemen, who expect to have about 40 men in line. The Wicks fire engine will also be in the parade.

The firemen are due to be at the Wicks engine house for inspection at 7:30 a. m., tomorrow. The bus to Lake George is scheduled to leave at 7:45. Some of the firemen will make the trip in private cars.

'Shocking' Fraud

anyone who does succeed in obtaining an apartment under "false pretenses" will be subject to severe penalties in the form of surcharges. They will also face possible eviction.

The housing authority will conduct periodical checkups of tenants to "disclose the true facts sooner or later," the chairman revealed.

First tenants are expected to move into the project off Flatbush avenue in July. Occupants of the veterans housing project on Charlotte Place have first priority, and many of them were interviewed this week. Those who have been accepted will be notified shortly to be prepared to move to the new project during the first part of July.

Davis explained that the requirements regarding maximum income are designed to give deserving and qualified families, for whom the project was intended, an apartment and a good place to live.

"Those families having income above the maximum for this project can and should look to privately owned apartments or purchase their own homes," Davis said.

Because of the number of unqualified applicants weeded out by investigation, it is possible that a few four and one-half room apartments will be available, Davis said. Application forms may be obtained at the office of the Kingston Housing Authority on the third floor of the city hall. Telephone number is 4856.

Should Notify Authority

Families whose financial status has changed since the date of application and who are not now eligible are expected to notify the authority immediately, Davis said. This can be done by telephone or by mail.

The types of fraudulent statements uncovered by investigation fell into three main classifications, Davis revealed:

1. In some cases the husband had two jobs or had substantial income from some source other than his principal employment and reported only his salary from one source.

2. Some signed applications stated only the husband was working, and that his income constituted the entire income for the family, whereas in truth the wife was also working and her income added to that of her husband put the family income far above that allowed for occupancy in this type of housing.

Stopped, Then Started

3. In some cases where husband and wife were working and earning above the maximum allowed, the wife obtained a leave of absence from her job, or stopped working temporarily, to bring the family income down to an acceptable amount, intending to start working again as soon as the apartment is obtained.

In addition to those three main types of fraud, there were also other means attempted to mislead the authority.

Chairman Davis has stressed the fact that since the number of available apartments is limited, each apartment obtained by misleading methods deprives a family of low income from obtaining an apartment to which it is entitled under the intent of the housing law.

Killed by Shell

Fort Dix, N. J., June 19 (AP)—A young GI was killed and 16 others injured yesterday by a mortar shell that exploded prematurely during a firing range demonstration at this army post.

U. S. Supreme . . .

the court session that the questions raised by the issuance of the Douglas stay were "complicated and novel."

Frankfurter added that he would dispose of the case only after opposing lawyers had been given full opportunity to study the questions.

Black Dissents

Then Justice Black announced from the high bench that he, too, dissented.

Douglas, Black, Frankfurter and Justice Jackson made up the four-man minority when the court turned down the Rosenbergs' appeal last Monday—a rejection that touched off furious and unprecedented new legal maneuvering before the high court.

Douglas issued his stay Tuesday on the ground that there was a substantial question whether the Rosenbergs were properly sentenced under the espionage law of 1917.

He said the courts should pass upon the issue of whether the case against them should have been brought under the Atomic Secrets Act of 1946.

The Atomic Secrets Act bars a death sentence unless (a) it is recommended by the jury and (b) there is a showing that the violation was with deliberate intent to injure the United States.

The jury made no recommendation in the New York trial of the Rosenbergs.

At today's climactic court session, Douglas asserted his position in granting a stay was the right one.

Douglas emphasized that he felt no death penalty should have been pronounced in this case without a recommendation for capital punishment by the trial jury.

Douglas said that in his view the death sentence was unlawful and that U. S. District Judge Irving Kaufman in New York was without power to impose the death sentence without a jury recommendation.

Black in his statement from the bench said "I do not believe that counsel or this court have had adequate time" to dispose properly of the case.

Questions Power of Court

Black also questioned the power of the full court to vacate a stay granted by an individual judge.

He said the high court should not have disposed of the matter until after the attorneys involved had been given more time for study and argument.

Immediately after Vinson announced the majority decision of the court, the dissenting justices began stating their views, one by one in the order of their seniority on the bench.

Just before the court recessed Emanuel Bloch, chief counsel for the Rosenbergs, asked again for a stay—to let him file a clemency petition directly with the President.

Bloch said the latest clemency petition he had filed with the Justice Department had not yet gone to the White House.

Will Consider Motion

Vinson told Bloch he could submit his motion for a stay to the clerk of the court and promised that the high tribunal would consider it.

The chief justice added that to expedite the request, the attorney could write it out in longhand.

After the chief justice spoke the court went into recess at 11:30 a. m. (EST).

Bloch in pleading for time to let President Eisenhower study the clemency petition said: "Tens of millions of people throughout the world are deeply disturbed over the Rosenberg case."

and today she expressed thanks to the spotters and to the firemen and police for their alertness and prompt response.

The field in which the object appeared to drop is a swampland, with deep pools of water in many places, and this condition hampered a thorough search of the area.

Late Bulletins

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to grant a new temporary stay of execution to Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, the atom spies awaiting execution. The stay had been asked to permit time for the White House to act on a new plea for executive clemency.

They Learn of Ruling

Ossining, June 19 (AP)—Doomed atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg learned by prison radio during lunch today that this may be their last day on earth.

The death house radio amplifier told them the Supreme Court had vacated the stay granted by Justice William O. Douglas.

The grim message came as they were having a meal of fried filet of fish with tomato gravy, mashed potatoes and waxed beans.

Their reaction was not known immediately.

Warden Wilfred E. Denno, also at lunch, said he had not yet received official word from Washington.

Vote Was 6 to 3

Washington, June 19 (AP)—By a 6 to 3 vote, the Supreme Court struck down today the legal barrier thrown up by Justice William O. Douglas against the execution of atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

New York, June 19 (AP)—Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman, who sentenced Julius and Ethel Rosenberg to death, today declined to comment on the Supreme Court's upset of a stay of execution.

Time Tentatively Set

New York, June 19 (AP)—The execution of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg is tentatively planned for 10 p. m. (EST) tonight, U. S. Marshal William A. Carroll said today.

Carroll, in charge of execution arrangements, said that was the present plan pending further word from Attorney General Herbert Brownell's office.

Washington, June 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower today rejected an appeal that he spare the lives of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. The President's decision was announced by a press aide in these words: "The President refuses to intervene."

ty membership. Andrew G. Clauson, Jr., president of the board, said the five teachers would be called for departmental trial.

Frauenglass Included

Among the dismissed teachers was William Frauenglass, of James Madison High School, Brooklyn, who had written to Dr. Albert Einstein recently asking his opinion of the work of congressional probe committees and actions of the New York city board of education. Frauenglass was under suspension at the time.

In a reply—made public by Frauenglass a week ago—Einstein said in part:

"Every intellectual who is called before one of the committees ought to refuse to testify, i.e. he must be prepared for jail and economic ruin, in short, for the sacrifice of his personal welfare in the interest of the cultural welfare of his country."

Rondout National

banking room are of handsome knotty pine with a light finish. Fluorescent lighting is recessed in the ceilings.

The main banking floor is done in terrazo, the teller's work area in cork tile and the private offices are carpeted. The offices of the consumer-credit and bookkeeping department are rubber-tiled. The walls are of attractive medium green color.

Can Lock Up Cash

An interesting innovation in the new bank is the separate unit consisting of safe and cash drawers assigned to each teller. The unit is mounted on casters and in case a teller is withdrawn temporarily he can lock his cash drawers and remove the entire unit, trundling it to a convenient corner until he returns. In the meantime, the new teller taking his place moves in with an entire new unit of his own. In this way no teller ever handles money which has been handled by another teller.

There will be two vaults, one on the main floor for cash and safe deposit boxes, and one in the basement for records.

The consumer-credit department has been provided with a separate entrance in order that it may be kept open on occasion, if necessary, even though the bank is closed.

New Directors' Room

The directors' room on the second floor is carpeted and done handsomely in a deep rose brown color. Ceilings in the directors' room, and throughout the building, are done in acoustic tile.

In the basement are located rest rooms for employes, attractively decorated and with tiled floors.

Officers of the bank are James A. Dwyer, president; John M. Cashin, vice president; Irving L. Eyles, executive vice president, and James Rua, cashier.

avoid clashes with Soviet troops, saying violence would force the Russians to back up the Communist government in the long run.

Reuter spoke to newsmen after a meeting with the allied commandants. He said theye were in general agreement with his views. He said he asked the western allies to approach the Russians on the high commission level with demands for lifting the state of siege imposed on 1,100,000 east Berliners, the reestablishment of normal living conditions and permission for free unhindered traffic between both parts of divided Berlin.

Reuter said he discussed also a new proposal for free elections throughout Berlin as an initial step toward German unity.

One indication that the Russians planned no quick lifting of their martial rule was seen in the action restoring ration cards to 40,000 east Berliners who work in the west and now cannot pass through Red army lines. The cards had been cancelled six weeks ago.

Changes in Literacy Law Given by Election Board

This year for the first time, new voters outside the city of Kingston who need to take literacy tests will be able to take them under the jurisdiction of the election inspectors, or at the central registration board, instead of going to their district school superintendent. In Kingston, however, the procedure of past years has been unchanged.

Changes in the literacy law were explained today by the Ulster County Board of Elections, which also listed the procedure for obtaining military ballots.

Under an amendment in the election law enacted this year, election inspectors and central and veteran absentee registration boards will administer literacy tests, instead of the district superintendents of schools, in districts where personal registration is not required.

Under Regents Rules

The amendment provides that the election officials must carry on the responsibility of issuing literacy certificates under the rules and regulations of the Board of Regents of the state.

Arrangements are being made to prepare the forms and materials needed to carry out the intent of the law and to forward an adequate supply to the office of the election commissioners.

Before the amendment was passed, the responsibility for administering the literacy program in election districts not requiring personal registration rested for the most part with the district superintendents of schools in the supervisory districts of each of the counties.

The section of the Election Law applying to administration of literacy tests and issuing of literacy certificates in cities and villages having personal registration—such as Kingston—was not changed and the responsibility continues to rest with the superintendents of schools in those communities.

Military Ballots

The Board of Elections also outlined steps to be taken for obtaining a military ballot.

Every serviceman desiring a military ballot must make written application on (a) a post card form issued by the Division of Servicemen's Voting, (b) the form provided under the Federal Voting Law, or (c) any other form of post card or letter, provided the serviceman states the essential date: his name, rank, military and home addresses. The application must be signed by the serviceman.

The spouse, parent or child of a serviceman who resides in the same election district as the serviceman and who accompanies him may likewise vote a military ballot. Procedure for obtaining the ballot is the same as for the serviceman.

Applications may be filed with the Division for Servicemen's Voting, Albany 1, N. Y., on or before Oct. 23, 1953, or with the Board of Elections of the home county of residence of the military voter on or before Oct. 24, 1953.

Will Send Ballots

Military ballots will be sent to qualified applicants by the Board of Elections. The ballot will be in paper form and will contain the name of every candidate for whom the military voter might vote in the event he was in his polling place on Election Day. Military ballots will be mailed beginning Oct. 9.

The military ballots, after being voted, must be inserted in a ballot envelope which is furnished. The statement on the outside of the envelope must be filled in completely. The voter must subscribe his name to the statement. Ballot must be voted, mailed and postmarked no later than Nov. 3, 1953.

Military ballots, sealed in the ballot envelope, must be returned in the larger accompanying envelope addressed to the Division of Servicemen's Voting, Albany 1, N. Y., via air mail, free of postage, to be received no later than noon, Nov. 24.

Chance to Enroll

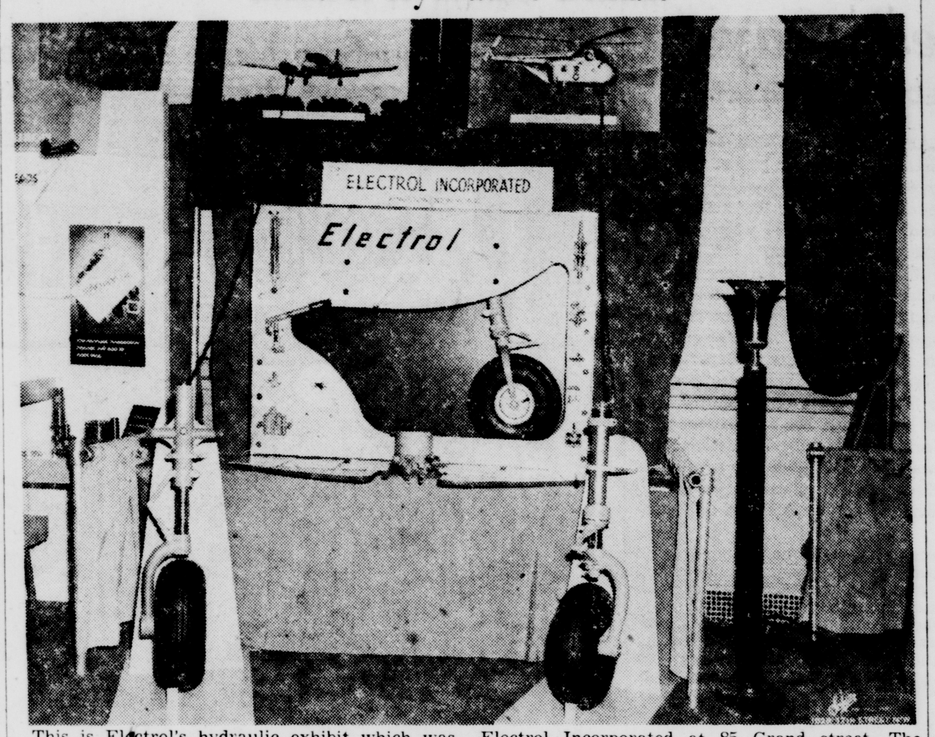

An enrollment blank will be mailed with the ballot so that the military voter may enroll in a political party. The enrollment blank should be returned in the ballot envelope.

Other persons desiring regular absentee ballots may make application at the Board of Elections office, 74 John street, Kingston. Servicemen home on leave may also stop there in person to obtain their application form for military ballot. Central registration is now in progress, and persons desiring to register at the office now rather than at their polling places on regular registration days may do that at any time during business hours, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., Monday through Friday, and 9 a. m. until noon on Saturday.

Suffers From Bullet

Binghamton, June 19 (AP)—Doctors today held in abeyance an operation on a young convict who has had a bullet lodged in his head since the stickup of an Inwood restaurant nine months ago. William Curry, 19, of St. Albans, was rushed to Binghamton City Hospital from Elmira Reformatory yesterday after guards found him having convulsions in his cell. Doctors said Curry was critically ill from meningitis, caused from the presence of the bullet. Col. Leroy Weaver, superintendent of the reformatory, said the bullet entered Curry's forehead, causing him to lose the sight of his right eye, and then followed the inside of the skull to the back of the head.

Paik Flies Home

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The premier of South Korea, visiting in Washington when the storm over release of Korean prisoners broke, has started for home by air. Premier Too Chin Paik told reporters yesterday just before he left from National Airport: "I must go back. I must go back. I must go back. That's all." Ambassador You Chang Yang said Paik would relay President Eisenhower's views as told to him during a White House call yesterday. But Yang added he knew of "no special message" Paik might have been given for President Syngman Rhee.

JESUS CHRIST

MACON, GA., MRS. L. G. Testifies: "Thank the Lord and you, I had a knot on the top of my left foot, but since I've been wearing the handkerchiefs you all sent, the knot has gone completely. I used to suffer with terrific headaches, but they have gone too. I thank you all kindly."

ENFIELD, N. C., From C. J. "I have been reading your Papers and wearing your handkerchiefs since the first of 1950. I had already been in bad health 3 years before, wasn't able to work. I had diabetes, but when I started wearing your handkerchiefs, it disappeared. I had a test last month, and I am still clear of it. I am able to do all my housework now. I feel very thankful and humble."

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Mrs. D. S. Rejoices: "Did you folks have those handkerchiefs charged with dynamite? When D. went to the mailbox and got your letter, he thought 'my, what a grand feeling this letter has.' So he opened it up, and when he took hold of the handkerchief, he said he got such a charge of electricity, clear to his elbows. He said if he had stuck his finger in a socket he couldn't have felt it any more. So he put one in his pocket, and he hasn't had an ache or pain since. When I came home and began to read your letter, I felt a warm glow go clear down to my toes. A friend came over, and we told her about it, and she said: 'have you any more?' So here went the 3rd one. She put it over heart, and felt the power go clear thru her body, and she is getting so well. Thank you again for the handkerchiefs, we felt the power of God so strong in them."

LESLIE, W. VA., MRS. M. W. Wrote: "Thank you for the handkerchief, it has helped me. I have had a neck trouble for 7 years, seems as tho it would stop up when I tried to sing. The stuffiness is almost cleared up. I can now sing better, thanks to God. I have had more rejoicing, for one of my unspoken requests was answered. One of my sons had been out of work nearly a year. He got a job and went to work two weeks ago."

GLENCOE, OHIO, MRS. G. S. Rejoices: "Thanks a lot for your Bible Lessons, enjoy them very much. My youngest son was converted, was under the power for 3 hours. He had a beautiful vision of heaven, and spoke in tongues, Praise the Lord. Thanks a million for your prayers."

ENID, MISS., MRS. L. H. Writes: "My little boy had asthma and I got one handkerchief for him, and God healed him, and it hasn't come back. The doctor said I had a tumor as large as a grape fruit, and I had one of your handkerchiefs and put it on, and when the doctor examined me again, he said there was no tumor or anything there. Praise God for healing me. My little boy had something wrong with his knees and I got one of your handkerchiefs, and he has been healed about 3 years now, glory to God."

BRISTOL, TENN., From L. L. "I have been a Christian for many years but never did enjoy life so much as I have since I have been in touch with you. I sure received the good Holy Ghost, and I just can't tell you how happy I am now. Thank God. It sure is wonderful to read the Bible Lessons."

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., E. M. Reports: "Your prayer has helped me a lot, it helped me to keep money all the time, and it helped my son-in-law to find Christ. He had been a sinner for 2 years, now he has found Christ, and he is called to preach."

CHARMCO, W. VA., MRS. O. T. Affirms: "I received your handkerchief, and my ankle is healing. It was raw when I started using the handkerchief. This place has been on my ankles for a year and a half. I used everything I could hear of to heal it and it all failed. It was caused from a scratch that got irritated and inflamed, and I was afraid it would cause me to lose my leg. I saw your Ad in the Paper, wrote to you, and that has made a new change in my life entirely. I feel better in every way."

CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, MRS. I. G. Testifies: "Sometime ago you sent me a handkerchief for the boy who had something growing out of his ear and he went to the hospital to have it cut out, and praise the Lord, it was all dried up, Glory to His precious Name. How I thank Jesus and you."

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., MRS. F. G. Writes: "I got your name and one of your handkerchiefs some years ago from a sister. I had a very bad pain in my left chest, close to my heart, so I put handkerchief over that place, and I am glad to say the Lord healed me."

ACMAR, ALA., From A. S.: "I'm doing much better since I've been wearing the handkerchief. The arthritis is about gone, my arm is just stiff."

UNIONTOWN, PA., MRS. E. D. Writes: "My requests have all been answered so far, thanks to you and God. May your great work continue."

BRENTON, W. VA., MR. C. B. Attests: "I put the handkerchief on my body, and it seemed to me something left me, it was so real. I turned around to see if I could see it go. My throat feels better, praise God."

CULLMAN, ALA., J. M. G. Reports: "The 5th night after I put the first handkerchief on, I started sleeping better. Before I could hardly rest at all, I suffered so much. Oh I wish I could get a Plunkett Lesson every day. I sure enjoy them and am learning lots from them."

SANDUSKY, OHIO, MRS. R. H. Rejoices: "It was a miracle indeed how Jesus has healed me from my sick bed. Thank Jesus for healing me, this is true. I'm so proud of Jesus."

McALPIN, W. VA., From R. S. "I laid the handkerchief on the pain where my arthritis was, and I haven't felt the pain. Thank God and thank you all for praying for me."

CANTON, OHIO, MRS. J. W. Testifies: "I am fine, weight 165 lb. Thank the Lord for my healing, and thank you. When I apply the handkerchiefs, power shakes me all over. I couldn't get done thanking my Lord for what He has done thru you two. He manifests His power thru the handkerchief."

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., MRS. B. J. Reports: "I asked you to pray that I be filled with the Holy Spirit, and that there be peace and understanding in our family. God has moved mountains of misunderstanding already and replaced it with harmony."

MACON, GA., SISTER L. J. Rejoices: "God has really touched my body thru your prayer, that choking I had in my throat has gone."

AUTHAUGAVILLE, A L A., From C. S. "Thank you for praying for me, my blood is all right. Thank the Lord."

UPPER MIDDLETON, PA., MRS. E. C. Writes: "Every time I have a pain, I place the handkerchief on myself, and pray for Jesus to heal, and He does, Praise His name."

FREDENS, PA., MR. F. S. Wrote: "I got a healing for my stomach. God touched me."

WELCH, W. VA., MRS. M. B. Testifies: "A year ago last August I saw your Ad in the paper and answered it. I had been so I couldn't walk for a month, but Praise the Lord and you people for praying for me, the Lord healed my hips and legs, and I can walk as good as ever. Thank God He healed me of kidney trouble, and blessed my home and saved the souls of my dear ones."

OXFORD, N. C., MRS. L. B. Writes: "I received the JOY Record and have played it many times and I enjoy it so much I can't help from crying when I hear Bro. Plunkett preaching. I enjoyed Christmas better with my Record. I feel better since I got my Record."

JOHNSTOWN, PA., MR. J. H. Wrote: "I received the JOY Record, and I think it is wonderful. The sermon is Gospel truth. Anyone who enjoys hearing the truth should get a blessing from it."

GOLDSBORO, N. C., MRS. W. H. Reports: "I received my Joy Record. I felt better in soul and body the first time I played it. I just play it over and over. It really blesses my soul, it encourages my faith in God. I know Jesus heals because He healed my weak heart condition several years ago. I was playing my Joy Record tonight and when my grown son came home, he asked me to play it some more. He likes to hear it and said that he wants to use it in a Young People's program. It is a blessing in our home."

WARREN, OHIO, MR. A. S. Testifies: "By all means continue to make recordings. I feel if they inspire me, they will inspire others. I enjoy the record very much. It makes me feel that Bro. Plunkett were here in person."

MT. VERNON, OHIO, G. N. Writes: "Your record is very nice, it thrills my heart to hear a good sermon like this. I love to hear the songs."

LAGRANGE, GA., MRS. C. N. Writes: "I enjoy the Record, it is fine, it does my heart good to listen to it."

GUNTERSVILLE, ALA., From MR. C. C. "I had an awful bad stomach trouble for 15 years, had to carry something for it at all times. Can truthfully say since I received the handkerchief, I have not tasted this remedy."

Chance to Enroll

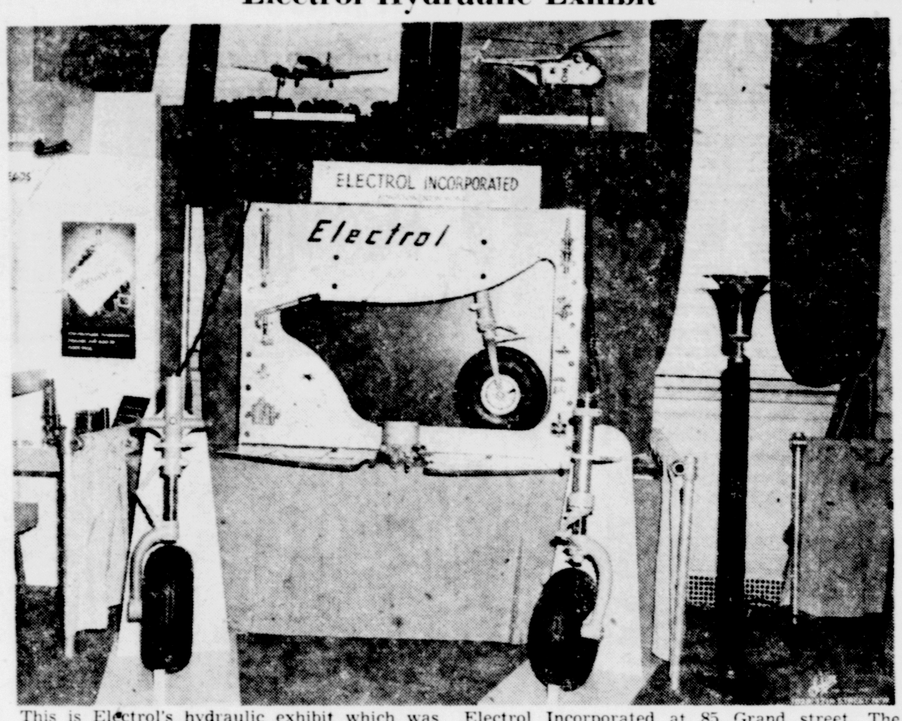

An enrollment blank will be mailed with the ballot so that the military voter may enroll in a political party. The enrollment blank should be returned in the ballot envelope.

Other persons desiring regular absentee ballots may make application at the Board of Elections office, 74 John street, Kingston. Servicemen home on leave may also stop there in person to obtain their application form for military ballot. Central registration is now in progress, and persons desiring to register at the office now rather than at their polling places on regular registration days may do that at any time during business hours, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., Monday through Friday, and 9 a. m. until noon on Saturday.

Suffers From Bullet

Binghamton, June 19 (AP)—Doctors today held in abeyance an operation on a young convict who has had a bullet lodged in his head since the stickup of an Inwood restaurant nine months ago. William Curry, 19, of St. Albans, was rushed to Binghamton City Hospital from Elmira Reformatory yesterday after guards found him having convulsions in his cell. Doctors said Curry was critically ill from meningitis, caused from the presence of the bullet. Col. Leroy Weaver, superintendent of the reformatory, said the bullet entered Curry's forehead, causing him to lose the sight of his right eye, and then followed the inside of the skull to the back of the head.

Why We Say--

. . . Not public

A soldier is called a private because at one time in England officers who entered the army were called "public officers". Others entering the army at that time were called private officers . . . it was assumed they did not intend to make the army a career.

Paik Flies Home

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The premier of South Korea, visiting in Washington when the storm over release of Korean prisoners broke, has started for home by air. Premier Too Chin Paik told reporters yesterday just before he left from National Airport: "I must go back. I must go back. I must go back. That's all." Ambassador You Chang Yang said Paik would relay President Eisenhower's views as told to him during a White House call yesterday. But Yang added he knew of "no special message" Paik might have been given for President Syngman Rhee.

JESUS CHRIST

MACON, GA., MRS. L. G. Testifies: "Thank the Lord and you, I had a knot on the top of my left foot, but since I've been wearing the handkerchiefs you all sent, the knot has gone completely. I used to suffer with terrific headaches, but they have gone too. I thank you all kindly."

ENFIELD, N. C., From C. J. "I have been reading your Papers and wearing your handkerchiefs since the first of 1950. I had already been in bad health 3 years before, wasn't able to work. I had diabetes, but when I started wearing your handkerchiefs, it disappeared. I had a test last month, and I am still clear of it. I am able to do all my housework now. I feel very thankful and humble."

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Mrs. D. S. Rejoices: "Did you folks have those handkerchiefs charged with dynamite? When D. went to the mailbox and got your letter, he thought 'my, what a grand feeling this letter has.' So he opened it up, and when he took hold of the handkerchief, he said he got such a charge of electricity, clear to his elbows. He said if he had stuck his finger in a socket he couldn't have felt it any more. So he put one in his pocket, and he hasn't had an ache or pain since. When I came home and began to read your letter, I felt a warm glow go clear down to my toes. A friend came over, and we told her about it, and she said: 'have you any more?' So here went the 3rd one. She put it over heart, and felt the power go clear thru her body, and she is getting so well. Thank you again for the handkerchiefs, we felt the power of God so strong in them."

LESLIE, W. VA., MRS. M. W. Wrote: "Thank you for the handkerchief, it has helped me. I have had a neck trouble for 7 years, seems as tho it would stop up when I tried to sing. The stuffiness is almost cleared up. I can now sing better, thanks to God. I have had more rejoicing, for one of my unspoken requests was answered. One of my sons had been out of work nearly a year. He got a job and went to work two weeks ago."

GLENCOE, OHIO, MRS. G. S. Rejoices: "Thanks a lot for your Bible Lessons, enjoy them very much. My youngest son was converted, was under the power for 3 hours. He had a beautiful vision of heaven, and spoke in tongues, Praise the Lord. Thanks a million for your prayers."

ENID, MISS., MRS. L. H. Writes: "My little boy had asthma and I got one handkerchief for him, and God healed him, and it hasn't come back. The doctor said I had a tumor as large as a grape fruit, and I had one of your handkerchiefs and put it on, and when the doctor examined me again, he said there was no tumor or anything there. Praise God for healing me. My little boy had something wrong with his knees and I got one of your handkerchiefs, and he has been healed about 3 years now, glory to God."

BRISTOL, TENN., From L. L. "I have been a Christian for many years but never did enjoy life so much as I have since I have been in touch with you. I sure received the good Holy Ghost, and I just can't tell you how happy I am now. Thank God. It sure is wonderful to read the Bible Lessons."

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., E. M. Reports: "Your prayer has helped me a lot, it helped me to keep money all the time, and it helped my son-in-law to find Christ. He had been a sinner for 2 years, now he has found Christ, and he is called to preach."

CHARMCO, W. VA., MRS. O. T. Affirms: "I received your handkerchief, and my ankle is healing. It was raw when I started using the handkerchief. This place has been on my ankles for a year and a half. I used everything I could hear of to heal it and it all failed. It was caused from a scratch that got irritated and inflamed, and I was afraid it would cause me to lose my leg. I saw your Ad in the Paper, wrote to you, and that has made a new change in my life entirely. I feel better in every way."

CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, MRS. I. G. Testifies: "Sometime ago you sent me a handkerchief for the boy who had something growing out of his ear and he went to the hospital to have it cut out, and praise the Lord, it was all dried up, Glory to His precious Name. How I thank Jesus and you."

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., MRS. F. G. Writes: "I got your name and one of your handkerchiefs some years ago from a sister. I had a very bad pain in my left chest, close to my heart, so I put handkerchief over that place, and I am glad to say the Lord healed me."

ACMAR, ALA., From A. S.: "I'm doing much better since I've been wearing the handkerchief. The arthritis is about gone, my arm is just stiff."

UNIONTOWN, PA., MRS. E. D. Writes: "My requests have all been answered so far, thanks to you and God. May your great work continue."

BRENTON, W. VA., MR. C. B. Attests: "I put the handkerchief on my body, and it seemed to me something left me, it was so real. I turned around to see if I could see it go. My throat feels better, praise God."

CULLMAN, ALA., J. M. G. Reports: "The 5th night after I put the first handkerchief on, I started sleeping better. Before I could hardly rest at all, I suffered so much. Oh I wish I could get a Plunkett Lesson every day. I sure enjoy them and am learning lots from them."

SANDUSKY, OHIO, MRS. R. H. Rejoices: "It was a miracle indeed how Jesus has healed me from my sick bed. Thank Jesus for praying for me, the Lord healed my hips and legs, and I can walk as good as ever. Thank God He healed me of kidney trouble, and blessed my home and saved the souls of my dear ones."

OXFORD, N. C., MRS. L. B. Writes: "I received the JOY Record and have played it many times and I enjoy it so much I can't help from crying when I hear Bro. Plunkett preaching. I enjoyed Christmas better with my Record. I feel better since I got my Record."

JOHNSTOWN, PA., MR. J. H. Wrote: "I received the JOY Record, and I think it is wonderful. The sermon is Gospel truth. Anyone who enjoys hearing the truth should get a blessing from it."

GOLDSBORO, N. C., MRS. W. H. Reports: "I received my Joy Record. I felt better in soul and body the first time I played it. I just play it over and over. It really blesses my soul, it encourages my faith in God. I know Jesus heals because He healed my weak heart condition several years ago. I was playing my Joy Record tonight and when my grown son came home, he asked me to play it some more. He likes to hear it and said that he wants to use it in a Young People's program. It is a blessing in our home."

WARREN, OHIO, MR. A. S. Testifies: "By all means continue to make recordings. I feel if they inspire me, they will inspire others. I enjoy the record very much. It makes me feel that Bro. Plunkett were here in person."

MT. VERNON, OHIO, G. N. Writes: "Your record is very nice, it thrills my heart to hear a good sermon like this. I love to hear the songs."

LAGRANGE, GA., MRS. C. N. Writes: "I enjoy the Record, it is fine, it does my heart good to listen to it."

GUNTERSVILLE, ALA., From MR. C. C. "I had an awful bad stomach trouble for 15 years, had to carry something for it at all times. Can truthfully say since I received the handkerchief, I have not tasted this remedy."

McALPIN, W. VA., From R. S. "I laid the handkerchief on the pain where my arthritis was, and I haven't felt the pain. Thank God and thank you all for praying for me."

CANTON, OHIO, MRS. J. W. Testifies: "I am fine, weight 165 lb. Thank the Lord for my healing, and thank you. When I apply the handkerchiefs, power shakes me all over. I couldn't get done thanking my Lord for what He has done thru you two. He manifests His power thru the handkerchief."

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., MRS. R. J. Reports: "I asked you to pray that I be filled with the Holy Spirit, and that there be peace and understanding in our family. God has moved mountains of misunderstanding already and replaced it with harmony."

MACON, GA., SISTER L. J. Rejoices: "God has really touched my body thru your prayer, that choking I had in my throat has gone."

AUTHAUGAVILLE, ALA., From C. S. "Thank you for praying for me, my blood is all right. Thank the Lord."

UPPER MIDDLETON, PA., MRS. E. C. Writes: "Every time I have a pain, I place the handkerchief on myself, and pray for Jesus to heal, and He does, Praise His name."

FREDENS, PA., MR. F. S. Wrote: "I got a healing for my stomach. God touched me."

WELCH, W. VA., MRS. M. B. Testifies: "A year ago last August I saw your Ad in the paper and answered it. I had been so I couldn't walk for a month, but Praise the Lord and you people for healing me, this is true. I'm so proud of Jesus."

DE GASPERI TO CARRY ON PROGRAMS

As a result of the Italian general elections, Premier De Gasperi and his center coalition may be said to have won a creaky working margin in parliament.

It is a sad thing that he came so close to winning much more decisive control. His coalition of parties drew 49.79 per cent of the popular vote in the important Chamber of Deputies, gaining a narrow 16-seat edge. Had he captured just 50.01 per cent, Italian election law would have given him 64 per cent of the seats.

That advantage would have assured Italy of reasonably stable government for the next five years. As it is, it will be touch and go, with De Gasperi having to be on his mettle every step of the way.

His margin in the Senate, 14 seats, is no greater comfort.

Yet the disappointment over this outcome must not be allowed to obscure the fact that De Gasperi is in control. With skill and ingenuity, which he most certainly has, he may be able to carry on his programs pretty much as before.

The most vital of these, naturally, is approval of the European defense pact, plus general support of NATO and western policies. The West has no firmer friend than the Italian premier and it would be a serious loss if somehow his hands were to be tied.

De Gasperi's own party, the Christian Democrats, polled nearly 11 million votes, no small share of the 27 million total. But the percentage—40—was off eight points from the last election in 1948. That spelled a loss of 44 seats in the Chamber and 17 in the Senate.

Who gained? The Communists and Left-wing Socialists together garnered 35 per cent of the vote this time, as against 31 per cent in 1948. But more damage was done by the extreme Right, where Monarchists climbed 4 per cent and Neo-Fascists almost as much. This 8 per cent bite represented a tripling of the Rightist vote.

De Gasperi is bitter at voters who went to the extreme Right, believing they exercised their voting privilege capriciously. From this distance it would certainly appear that they were not overanxious to reward good government.

Fundamentally, the result reflects the same questionable conception of democratic government which the French adhere to so maddeningly—the notion that any deviation of principle, however minor, ought to justify the founding of another party.

With its plague of splinter parties, the European multi-party system is proving itself an unconvincing exhibit of the virtues of the democratic way.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT AND TAXES

Tax reduction is a problem facing every branch of government. In some cases it can be accomplished now, in others it must be temporarily deferred.

Many a business has, by efficiency and labor saving methods, been able to give better service for less cost. The same thing can be accomplished in government. If there is a determined effort to reduce taxes and the people will back up the public officials seeking to get that result, tremendous cuts in public expenditures can be secured without jeopardizing progress or security.

Tax reduction isn't just for the federal government alone. Recognizing this fact the Citizens' Public Expenditure Survey of New York State has sent a telegram to President Eisenhower urging him to issue a proclamation calling upon state and local officials to join with him in an examination of all budgets and tax levies, so that every possible avenue will be explored which may lead to affecting a reduction in the total tax load.

The public will get tax reduction if it is willing to forego extravagance in city, county, state and national affairs.

Every holiday the traffic death toll seems to get worse. While people drive carelessly death will never take a holiday.

'These Days'

POPULARITY AND PURPOSE

Dwight D. Eisenhower, by any poll of popularity, holds and even betters the good-will of the American people of all sections. He matches, if he does not exceed, the acceptance which marked Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term.

It is because of this that his advisers risk, at this time, unpopular measures, such as the avoidance of tax reduction, the settlement of the Korean War by appeasement, the continued employment of Acheson men in the State Department, etc. The theory is that more things are possible when Eisenhower is at the peak of popularity than might be possible later when the fortunes of politics may make for greater difficulties. This concept, from the standpoint of practical politics, is correct only if Eisenhower is guaranteed a majority in Congress whether the Republicans or Democrats prevail.

It may be recalled that at one time General Eisenhower believed that he could be nominated by both parties. Actually, he was elected by both parties. Calculations of the Congressional vote show that Eisenhower and the Republican candidates for Congress ran about equal in the normally Republican Northern State, but Eisenhower ran far ahead of his party by getting so large a popular vote in the Solid South, which is normally Democratic. In a word, Eisenhower owes as much to Texas as to New York.

Thus far, whatever support he has had in Congress has come from a Republican-Democratic coalition which provides him with the votes which the Republicans alone are unable to gather. The success of this coalition has been the achievement of Senator Robert A. Taft. Should Senator Taft's current enforced inactivity eliminate him from active management of the affairs of his party, Eisenhower may find himself in difficulties.

Senator William Knowland is an able, forceful man of outstanding integrity. Senator Taft chose Knowland to act for him because he can trust him to avoid such subservience to the White House as other Republican members would resent. Senator Knowland has an opportunity for brilliant leadership.

The Republicans have a majority of one in the Senate. Should one senator retire or die, the control of the Senate might be in doubt. Should the vote on organization be tied, Vice President Nixon would cast the binding vote. However, the situation could be complicated by the independence of Wayne Morse. He is now neither a Republican nor a Democrat. His current political affiliation seems to be the Socialistically inclined Americans for Democratic Action.

Morse has been deprived of his committee memberships on the floor of the Senate and was defeated by a combined Republican-Democratic vote. Morse is regarded by his colleagues as a nuisance, which, undoubtedly, he means to be.

The significance of Morse is that he has placed himself in the position to bargain the control of the Senate should the Republicans lose two votes by death or retirement. He could then negotiate for his vote. Should he vote Republican, he and Nixon could continue the present organization of the Senate; should he throw his vote to the Democrats, the Senate would be without a majority and in a state of such confusion as to make the conduct of business almost impossible. Morse could, in such circumstances, break down the Eisenhower Administration. He could create a situation more closely resembling France than the United States.

Ours is a resilient people who find expediencies to handle men like Morse. The Democrats would, beyond doubt, come to the rescue. Such Democratic Senators as Byrd or Russell would never accept power by nuisance value. They would surely vote to continue the present organization of the Senate until the people have made their choice in an election. Both parties dislike mugwumps.

One other factor appears in this complication: Styles Bridges, president pro tem of the Senate, a respected Republican, runs for re-election in 1954. His victory would be assured in ordinary circumstances. Unfortunately it is becaming obvious that President Eisenhower's Chief-of-Staff, Sherman Adams, with White House prestige, is going to run in the New Hampshire Republican primaries. That campaign is on now. Powerful Republican senators are supporting Bridges. They will do everything possible henceforth to embarrass Adams, which means that Eisenhower will suffer the bother of an intra-party quarrel.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

BRAIN SYMPTOMS IN MEASLES

The story is told of a big, strong man applying for insurance who, when asked if he had had any illnesses, stated that he had never been sick in his life. When asked if he had never had any children's diseases such as measles, scarlet fever, mumps, chicken-pox, promptly replied, "Yes, I had all those diseases half a dozen times, but I don't call that sickness."

I believe this story gives an idea how most people think of these infectious diseases of children and many believe they should have them all as youngsters and so be free of them later in life.

However, physicians are finding that in some cases, an attack of scarlet fever during the first year or two of life predisposes to epilepsy later. It is of interest therefore to learn that an attack of measles may cause damage to the brain and nerves, known as measles encephalitis (inflammation of the brain).

In the American Journal of Diseases of Children, published by the American Medical Association, Drs. E. Meyer and R. K. Byers report their follow-up studies on 16 children who had measles encephalitis between 1943 and 1949.

Psychological studies (mental capacity) demonstrated that abnormal mental functioning can be shown in a high percentage of children after neurological (brain) and electroencephalographic evidences have cleared away. (The electroencephalogram is a recording of the movement of the brain similar to the electrocardiogram, which is a recording of the movements or beating of the heart). Tiring easily of study, defects in attention, defects in perceptional-spatial organization (adjusting eyes to space), and defects in learning capacity, tend to persist for months or even permanently in about one-third of the children. Patients in whom the course of the disease was short and acute fare better than when disease was prolonged. When the psychological (brain) symptoms persist, there is inability to acquire new knowledge.

The child's inability to live up to his parents' expectations at home and at school produces emotional stress — inferiority complex, or the reverse, that is, open rebellion.

From the above it can be seen that the parents must plan a way of life that will make things easier for the child.

Fortunately, measles encephalitis is not common and when it does attack, only about one-third of those have the persistence of mental symptoms.

I am recording this report of Drs. Meyer and Byers only that in these cases parents may be prepared and by the help of their physician give the needed care to obtain the best results possible in the circumstances.

Enough to Make Strong Men Weep

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—In preparation for the Bermuda conference of American, British and French heads of state, a critical new look is being taken at allied foreign policy as it relates to world communism and the Soviet Union.

The main question of a Big-Three conference seems to be whether it will lead to a Big-Four conference, with Russia as the fourth hand for the bridge table. And the big question about another Big-Four conference is whether it would do any good.

One conclusion seems fairly easy. A Big-Four conference of the kind held at Yalta and Potsdam—even with three of the four principal characters changed—seems to offer no greater promise of solid accomplishments.

The principal reason is that after any such conference, there must be a communique. That would have to be written in broad principles and general terms because no four men can keep in their heads all the complexities of world strains and conflicts.

It would be impossible to come up with the right answer on every question. It would be too much to expect that world peace could be wrapped up at one short parley in a fool-proof package.

Easy answers to complex problems always lead to different interpretations. The varrying interpretations of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements, for instance, are responsible for most of the world misunderstandings of today.

Question Is: What Should It Do?

From this it might be concluded that a Big-Four conference would offer some promise if it attempted to reach no agreement and solved nothing. Thus it would be limited to exploratory talks.

It would, of course, be more useful if all the problems of Germany, Austria, Korea, Southeast Asia and other trouble spots were worked out in advance by detailed diplomatic negotiations. The Big Four would only have to put on the finishing touches.

But how to solve all the problems of these areas of conflict? The world has been working at that since the end of the war, with scant result.

In 1946, Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal asked a young career minister in the U. S. Foreign Service to make a study of the subject. He was George F. Kennan, then a State Department staff director at the National War College.

The Kennan paper was subsequently published in the "Foreign Affairs" quarterly, as a study by a "Mr. X." For convenience it was tagged as outlining a policy of "containment" towards expanding world communism. It was not an official U. S. foreign policy statement.

When, however, Mr. X was identified as Mr. Kennan, and when he was later made head of the policy-planning staff created by Secretary of State George Marshall, the idea spread that containment was the official foreign policy of the Truman administration.

It has since been criticized as a "do-nothing" policy, which it was never intended to be. Its theory was accurately put into practice by the Truman doctrine with respect to Greece and Turkey.

It was further implemented by the Marshall Plan, and by the North Atlantic Pact. The North Atlantic Pact was primarily a political alliance. But when the accent was placed on military preparedness, rather than on economic preparedness, the pattern changed.

Red Propaganda Made Capital

At the time of the change — after the Korean war broke out—prevailing opinion in the U. S. was probably to the effect that war with Russia was inevitable. The year 1952 was frequently mentioned as the year of greatest danger. But 1952 has now come and gone. The year of maximum danger is being shifted to 1955 or 1956. Or maybe later.

The result is that Communist propaganda has been able to capitalize on two ideas. First—The United States has been crying "wolf." Second—the United States is intent on waging war against Soviet Russia.

Some place along the line the essentially defensive and peaceful objectives of the United States have been lost sight of. Certainly they have been distorted in Soviet Russia. Equally certain, they are not clear to many allies in Europe and even to some Americans.

Political candidates during the last campaign made a point of rejecting containment because it wasn't aggressive enough.

Since inauguration, there have been statements by men like Senator Taft of Ohio on forgetting the United Nations and going it alone in Korea, and by Senator Knowland of California on declaring Russia an aggressor and blockading the China coast. These statements have been repudiated by President Eisenhower himself.

One thing the Bermuda conference might clarify for friend and foe alike is what the policy of the free world leaders is with respect to world communism. Then go on from there.

South Koreans Argue They Have Not Been Direct Party to Negotiations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 19—Looked at from the American side, the government of the republic of Korea broke faith with the United Nations command and took a military action on its own when it released anti-Communist prisoners of war.

Looked at from the point of view of the Korean government, however, this was the right of an ally which had been threatened with the loss of its territorial integrity and particularly with coercion unless it signed an armistice that it bitterly opposed.

Looked at from the Korean government's point of view also, any armistice agreement which stipulated that 5,000 troops from India should be permitted in South Korea to police prison camps was a humiliation that could not be borne. To imply that the Korean government should accept the services of a country admittedly hostile to Korea was a serious blow to the pride of the republic. For India, though a member of the United Nations, has chosen to call itself "neutral," when everybody knows that Prime Minister Nehru, by his public statements favoring the immediate admission of Red China into the UN and refusal to ban shipments of strategic goods to Red China, has already prejudged the merits of the dispute.

The South Korean government is not a member of the United Nations and, according to a statement by its president, has not been permitted to be a direct party to the truce negotiations. Failing to secure truce terms that would assure the unification of Korea and failing particularly to obtain an acceptance of the demand that all troops except Koreans of the North and South be withdrawn, President Rhee felt that he had a free hand. He did not feel bound as a sovereign government to an alliance which he felt had deserted him.

The American government, on the other hand, in the statement issued by the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, after a conference with President Eisenhower, denounces the release of the prisoners by the Korean government as a "unilateral action" and as having been taken "in violation of the authority of the United Nations command to which the Republic of Korea had agreed."

There is no question about the fact that, when allies agree to any course of action, they are obligated to notify each other of the termination of such an alliance. While President Rhee has announced that he would not accept the armistice terms, and unquestionably has a legal right to separate his army from the United Nations command with or without notification, there is nevertheless a moral obligation to maintain a relationship of complete frankness with the United States government.

All sorts of reasons justifying the course that the Korean president took can, of course, be made, including the provocative steps of the last several days when, despite his announced intention to maintain a resistance to the truce, the impression was conveyed that he would be forced to accept the truce terms anyway and that economic aid and other assistance would be withdrawn immediately by the UN if he didn't. This probably seems to Syngman Rhee an arbitrary step that was being taken without a full discussion of the issues on their merits.

It is a regrettable dispute, because the Korean government needs the good will of the United States government and because also, if the Communists are not sincere about making the truce, then the main job of fighting falls back on the shoulders of the troops of Syngman Rhee.

Incidentally, if, despite what has happened, the Communists sign the truce, it will be a clear indication that they want it badly. But, if they construe this episode to be a basis for a breakup of all negotiations, it could mean that they didn't really want the truce after all.

Opinion here still inclines to the belief that some sort of truce will be signed soon by the UN command and that the Korean government, while never agreeing to the truce terms, will agree nevertheless not to engage in hostilities during the period of the political conference.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Having spent pleasant days in New Bedford, Mass., and the near countryside, I am qualified to challenge the morbid dictum of Henry Luce's spiritual outlet, the snarling little magazine called "Time," which recently condemned this good American city as "old, shabby, resigned and tolerant of both vulgarity and venality in politics."

New Bedford is not as old as New York and is an infant compared to Rome where Luce's consort, Clare, the great religious leader, is exerting her glamor against Kremlin communism as an offset to her spouse's invariable opposition to those who fight the same treason here. New Bedford is out-worn in some physical aspects, but so is New York. And Rome, of course, makes a prosperous commerce out of her antiquity and sweet debris. Old age is a meaningless indictment against a city and a moral and political community of our people so we may skip that count and tackle the whole proposition.

The proposition is that the settlement of "thousands of Irish, Portuguese, Greeks and Italians" among the old-line Yankees has been responsible for a moral degradation and a commercial and industrial decline which upon inquiry are found to be imaginary and the normal product of a remarkably surly disposition.

The excuse for this abusive publication was the fact that the mayor of New Bedford had been convicted of conspiring with gamblers to let them operate. Basil Brewer, the publisher and principal owner of the New Bedford Standard-Times, retorted that a city which was "resigned and tolerant of both vulgarity and veneality in politics" would not have convicted the mayor and invoked a law to remove him from office. Brewer called this exploit "an unjustified and shabby attack on a city which has just tried and convicted its mayor" and charged "Time" with publishing, for financial profit, "misstatement and distortion of news and the most flagrant slanting and editorialization." Brewer made the whole episode an occasion to boast on a wide screen of many highly optimistic facts of life in New Bedford.

From 1947 to 1952 building permits to the number of 6,994 were issued calling for $22,607,369. In 1951, alone, 232 new dwellings were built which cost $4,101,850. From 1938 to 1940, more than $50,000 was contributed by citizens to form an industrial development legion which created 5,000 new jobs, saved hundreds of old ones, boosted payrolls by $3,500,000 a year and brought in 28 new industries to diversify a community which had relied too heavily on textiles. As an offset to "Time's" ignorant remark that New Bedford was just an old, run-down textile mill-town, Brewer retorted that the textile payroll was only $890,503 for a recent week, whereas the industrial payroll was $838,347 and the total payroll $1,445,683.

"New Bedford," he wrote, "has recovered from slumps in whaling and textiles, both major setbacks, by 'bootstrap' efforts of its citizenry, representing all races and religions. The city is now the fourth American fishing port and Yankees, Portuguese and Scandinavians man its boats. There are 79 churches in an area ten miles by three, 53 Protestant, 23 Roman Catholic and three synagogues. A total of 17,000 went to World War II, of whom 280 were killed and 621 wounded."

Charging injury to the city and insult to many of its residents of the strains disparaged as of lax morality, Brewer asked "Time" to publish, in full, either as a letter or as a paid advertisement, an editorial of the foregoing effect.

"Time's" reply to this request for redress of a wanton wrong was an offer to publish two paragraphs of the letter and the gist of the editorial.

"We do not propose to print your vituperative comments on 'Time' magazine nor will we accept your editorial as paid advertising," the telegram said.

Were this ordinary repartee between an irresponsible periodical seeking public notice, however bad, and a typical small-town guardian of local pride, it would deserve little attention. But a queer, ominous phenomenon is at work here, the formidable influence of the China-Boy Luce properties and their revealed animus to truth, seemliness and the English language. Luce is a loner, a stranger among men, with few friends, who, unlike some other aloof giants of journalism, notably Hearst and McCormick, nevertheless has eagerly sought and, through his wife, accepted a political pay-off for supporting a candidate for President. He may not speak for Ike but he certainly doesn't speak against him and it remains to be seen whether he ever will—unless Ike, in time, decides that he has paid Luce in full and lets Clare out of her embassy in Rome.

The growth of the Luce axis has been phenomenal but by no means benign. He certainly did help Ike but he did so concurrently with vigorous blows in aid and comfort of Charlie Chaplin and other scandalous Reds while Ike and Clare were crying out against the Kremlin. His studious mutilation of the forms of grammar stands in contrast to his impudence in presuming to take a firm hand in the direction of public education.

A biographer who did the life story of Luce's first partner, Briton Hadden, and actually of "Time" itself, wrote that Luce and Hadden had a firm purpose to transmit their peculiar slant off the page into the mind of the public.

This purpose has been achieved in the most fascinating feat of effrontery in the history of publication. The typical New Bedford

DE GASPERI TO CARRY ON PROGRAMS

As a result of the Italian general elections, Premier De Gasperi and his center coalition may be said to have won a creaky working margin in parliament.

It is a sad thing that he came so close to winning much more decisive control. His coalition of parties drew 49.79 per cent of the popular vote in the important Chamber of Deputies, gaining a narrow 16-seat edge. Had he captured just 50.01 per cent, Italian election law would have given him 64 per cent of the seats.

That advantage would have assured Italy of reasonably stable government for the next five years. As it is, it will be touch and go, with De Gasperi having to be on his mettle every step of the way.

His margin in the Senate, 14 seats, is no greater comfort.

Yet the disappointment over this outcome must not be allowed to obscure the fact that De Gasperi is in control. With skill and ingenuity, which he most certainly has, he may be able to carry on his programs pretty much as before.

The most vital of these, naturally, is approval of the European defense pact, plus general support of NATO and western policies. The West has no firmer friend than the Italian premier and it would be a serious loss if somehow his hands were to be tied.

De Gasperi's own party, the Christian Democrats, polled nearly 11 million votes, no small share of the 27 million total. But the percentage—40—was off eight points from the last election in 1948. That spelled a loss of 44 seats in the Chamber and 17 in the Senate.

Who gained? The Communists and Left-wing Socialists together garnered 35 per cent of the vote this time, as against 31 per cent in 1948. But more damage was done by the extreme Right, where Monarchists climbed 4 per cent and Neo-Fascists almost as much. This 8 per cent bite represented a tripling of the Rightist vote.

De Gasperi is bitter at voters who went to the extreme Right, believing they exercised their voting privilege capriciously. From this distance it would certainly appear that they were not overanxious to reward good government.

Fundamentally, the result reflects the same questionable conception of democratic government which the French adhere to so maddeningly—the notion that any deviation of principle, however minor, ought to justify the founding of another party.

With its plague of splinter parties, the European multi-party system is proving itself an unconvincing exhibit of the virtues of the democratic way.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT AND TAXES

Tax reduction is a problem facing every branch of government. In some cases it can be accomplished now, in others it must be temporarily deferred.

Many a business has, by efficiency and labor saving methods, been able to give better service for less cost. The same thing can be accomplished in government. If there is a determined effort to reduce taxes and the people will back up the public officials seeking to get that result, tremendous cuts in public expenditures can be secured without jeopardizing progress or security.

Tax reduction isn't just for the federal government alone. Recognizing this fact the Citizens' Public Expenditure Survey of New York State has sent a telegram to President Eisenhower urging him to issue a proclamation calling upon state and local officials to join with him in an examination of all budgets and tax levies, so that every possible avenue will be explored which may lead to affecting a reduction in the total tax load.

The public will get tax reduction if it is willing to forego extravagance in city, county, state and national affairs.

Every holiday the traffic death toll seems to get worse. While people drive carelessly death will never take a holiday.

POPULARITY AND PURPOSE

Dwight D. Eisenhower, by any poll of popularity, holds and even betters the good-will of the American people of all sections. He matches, if he does not exceed, the acceptance which marked Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term.

It is because of this that his advisers risk, at this time, unpopular measures, such as the avoidance of tax reduction, the settlement of the Korean War by appeasement, the continued employment of Acheson men in the State Department, etc. The theory is that more things are possible when Eisenhower is at the peak of popularity than might be possible later when the fortunes of politics may make for greater difficulties. This concept, from the standpoint of practical politics, is correct only if Eisenhower is guaranteed a majority in Congress whether the Republicans or Democrats prevail.

It may be recalled that at one time General Eisenhower believed that he could be nominated by both parties. Actually, he was elected by both parties. Calculations of the Congressional vote show that Eisenhower and the Republican candidates for Congress ran about equal in the normally Republican Northern State, but Eisenhower ran far ahead of his party by getting so large a popular vote in the Solid South, which is normally Democratic. In a word, Eisenhower owes as much to Texas as to New York.

Thus far, whatever support he has had in Congress has come from a Republican-Democratic coalition which provides him with the votes which the Republicans alone are unable to gather. The success of this coalition has been the achievement of Senator Robert A. Taft. Should Senator Taft's current enforced inactivity eliminate him from active management of the affairs of his party, Eisenhower may find himself in difficulties.

Senator William Knowland is an able, forceful man of outstanding integrity. Senator Taft chose Knowland to act for him because he can trust him to avoid such subservience to the White House as other Republican members would resent. Senator Knowland has an opportunity for brilliant leadership.

The Republicans have a majority of one in the Senate. Should one senator retire or die, the control of the Senate might be in doubt. Should the vote on organization be tied, Vice President Nixon would cast the binding vote. However, the situation could be complicated by the independence of Wayne Morse. He is now neither a Republican nor a Democrat. His current political affiliation seems to be the Socialistically inclined Americans for Democratic Action.

Morse has been deprived of his committee memberships on the floor of the Senate and was defeated by a combined Republican-Democratic vote. Morse is regarded by his colleagues as a nuisance, which, undoubtedly, he means to be.

The significance of Morse is that he has placed himself in the position to bargain the control of the Senate should the Republicans lose two votes by death or retirement. He could then negotiate for his vote. Should he vote Republican, he and Nixon could continue the present organization of the Senate; should he throw his vote to the Democrats, the Senate would be without a majority and in a state of such confusion as to make the conduct of business almost impossible. Morse could, in such circumstances, break down the Eisenhower Administration. He could create a situation more closely resembling France than the United States.

Ours is a resilient people who find expediencies to handle men like Morse. The Democrats would, beyond doubt, come to the rescue. Such Democratic Senators as Byrd or Russell would never accept power by nuisance value. They would surely vote to continue the present organization of the Senate until the people have made their choice in an election. Both parties dislike mugwumps.

One other factor appears in this complication: Styles Bridges, president pro tem of the Senate, a respected Republican, runs for re-election in 1954. His victory would be assured in ordinary circumstances. Unfortunately it is becaming obvious that President Eisenhower's Chief-of-Staff, Sherman Adams, with White House prestige, is going to run in the New Hampshire Republican primaries. That campaign is on now. Powerful Republican senators are supporting Bridges. They will do everything possible henceforth to embarrass Adams, which means that Eisenhower will suffer the bother of an intra-party quarrel.

That Body of Yours

BRAIN SYMPTOMS IN MEASLES

The story is told of a big, strong man applying for insurance who, when asked if he had had any illnesses, stated that he had never been sick in his life. When asked if he had never had any children's diseases such as measles, scarlet fever, mumps, chicken-pox, promptly replied, "Yes, I had all those diseases half a dozen times, but I don't call that sickness."

I believe this story gives an idea how most people think of these infectious diseases of children and many believe they should have them all as youngsters and so be free of them later in life.

However, physicians are finding that in some cases, an attack of scarlet fever during the first year or two of life predisposes to epilepsy later. It is of interest therefore to learn that an attack of measles may cause damage to the brain and nerves, known as measles encephalitis (inflammation of the brain).

In the American Journal of Diseases of Children, published by the American Medical Association, Drs. E. Meyer and R. K. Byers report their follow-up studies on 16 children who had measles encephalitis between 1943 and 1949.

Psychological studies (mental capacity) demonstrated that abnormal mental functioning can be shown in a high percentage of children after neurological (brain) and electroencephalographic evidences have cleared away. (The electroencephalogram is a recording of the movement of the brain similar to the electrocardiogram, which is a recording of the movements or beating of the heart). Tiring easily of study, defects in attention, defects in perceptional-spatial organization (adjusting eyes to space), and defects in learning capacity, tend to persist for months or even permanently in about one-third of the children. Patients in whom the course of the disease was short and acute fare better than when disease was prolonged. When the psychological (brain) symptoms persist, there is inability to acquire new knowledge.

The child's inability to live up to his parents' expectations at home and at school produces emotional stress — inferiority complex, or the reverse, that is, open rebellion.

From the above it can be seen that the parents must plan a way of life that will make things easier for the child.

Fortunately, measles encephalitis is not common and when it does attack, only about one-third of those have the persistence of mental symptoms.

I am recording this report of Drs. Meyer and Byers only that in these cases parents may be prepared and by the help of their physician give the needed care to obtain the best results possible in the circumstances.

Looked at from the Korean government's point of view also, any armistice agreement which stipulated that 5,000 troops from India should be permitted in South Korea to police prison camps was a humiliation that could not be borne. To imply that the Korean government should accept the services of a country admittedly hostile to Korea was a serious blow to the pride of the republic. For India, though a member of the United Nations, has chosen to call itself "neutral," when everybody knows that Prime Minister Nehru, by his public statements favoring the immediate admission of Red China into the UN and refusal to ban shipments of strategic goods to Red China, has already prejudged the merits of the dispute.

The South Korean government is not a member of the United Nations and, according to a statement by its president, has not been permitted to be a direct party to the truce negotiations. Failing to secure truce terms that would assure the unification of Korea and failing particularly to obtain an acceptance of the demand that all troops except Koreans of the North and South be withdrawn, President Rhee felt that he had a free hand. He did not feel bound as a sovereign government to an alliance which he felt had deserted him.

The American government, on the other hand, in the statement issued by the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, after a conference with President Eisenhower, denounces the release of the prisoners by the Korean government as a "unilateral action" and as having been taken "in violation of the authority of the United Nations command to which the Republic of Korea had agreed."

There is no question about the fact that, when allies agree to any course of action, they are obligated to notify each other of the termination of such an alliance. While President Rhee has announced that he would not accept the armistice terms, and unquestionably has a legal right to separate his army from the United Nations command with or without notification, there is nevertheless a moral obligation to maintain a relationship of complete frankness with the United States government.

All sorts of reasons justifying the course that the Korean president took can, of course, be made, including the provocative steps of the last several days when, despite his announced intention to maintain a resistance to the truce, the impression was conveyed that he would be forced to accept the truce terms anyway and that economic aid and other assistance would be withdrawn immediately by the UN if he didn't. This probably seems to Syngman Rhee an arbitrary step that was being taken without a full discussion of the issues on their merits.

It is a regrettable dispute, because the Korean government needs the good will of the United States government and because also, if the Communists are not sincere about making the truce, then the main job of fighting falls back on the shoulders of the troops of Syngman Rhee.

Incidentally, if, despite what has happened, the Communists sign the truce, it will be a clear indication that they want it badly, But, if they construe this episode to be a basis for a breakup of all negotiations, it could mean that they didn't really want the truce after all.

Opinion here still inclines to the belief that some sort of truce will be signed soon by the UN command and that the Korean government, while never agreeing to the truce terms, will agree nevertheless not to engage in hostilities during the period of the political conference.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Having spent pleasant days in New Bedford, Mass., and the near countryside, I am qualified to challenge the morbid dictum of Henry Luce's spiritual outlet, the snarling little magazine called "Time," which recently condemned this good American city as "old, shabby, resigned and tolerant of both vulgarity and venality in politics."

New Bedford is not as old as New York and is an infant compared to Rome where Luce's consort, Clare, the great religious leader, is exerting her glamor against Kremlin communism as an offset to her spouse's invariable opposition to those who fight the same treason here. New Bedford is out-worn in some physical aspects, but so is New York. And Rome, of course, makes a prosperous commerce out of her antiquity and sweet debris. Old age is a meaningless indictment against a city and a moral and political community of our people so we may skip that count and tackle the whole proposition.

The proposition is that the settlement of "thousands of Irish, Portuguese, Greeks and Italians" among the old-line Yankees has been responsible for a moral degradation and a commercial and industrial decline which upon inquiry are found to be imaginary and the normal product of a remarkably surly disposition.

The excuse for this abusive publication was the fact that the mayor of New Bedford had been convicted of conspiring with gamblers to let them operate. Basil Brewer, the publisher and principal owner of the New Bedford Standard-Times, retorted that a city which was "resigned and tolerant of both vulgarity and venality in politics" would not have convicted the mayor and invoked a law to remove him from office. Brewer called this exploit "an unjustified and shabby attack on a city which has just tried and convicted its mayor" and charged "Time" with publishing, for financial profit, "misstatement and distortion of news and the most flagrant slanting and editorialization." Brewer made the whole episode an occasion to boast on a wide screen of many highly optimistic facts of life in New Bedford.

From 1947 to 1952 building permits to the number of 6,994 were issued calling for $22,607,369. In 1951, alone, 232 new dwellings were built which cost $4,101,850. From 1938 to 1940, more than $50,000 was contributed by citizens to form an industrial development legion which created 5,000 new jobs, saved hundreds of old ones, boosted payrolls by $3,500,000 a year and brought in 28 new industries to diversify a community which had relied too heavily on textiles. As an offset to "Time's" ignorant remark that New Bedford was just an old, run-down textile mill-town, Brewer retorted that the textile payroll was only $390,503 for a recent week, whereas the industrial payroll was $838,347 and the total payroll $1,445,683.

"New Bedford," he wrote, "has recovered from slumps in whaling and textiles, both major setbacks, by 'bootstrap' efforts of its citizenry, representing all races and religions. The city is now the fourth American fishing port and Yankees, Portuguese and Scandinavians man its boats. There are 79 churches in an area ten miles by three, 53 Protestant, 23 Roman Catholic and three synagogues. A total of 17,000 went to World War II, of whom 280 were killed and 621 wounded."

Charging injury to the city and insult to many of its residents of the strains disparaged as of lax morality, Brewer asked "Time" to publish, in full, either as a letter or as a paid advertisement, an editorial of the foregoing effect.

"Time's" reply to this request for redress of a wanton wrong was an offer to publish two paragraphs of the letter and the gist of the editorial.

"We do not propose to print your vituperative comments on 'Time' magazine nor will we accept your editorial as paid advertising," the telegram said.

Were this ordinary repartee between an irresponsible periodical seeking public notice, however bad, and a typical small-town guardian of local pride, it would deserve little attention. But a queer, ominous phenomenon is at work here, the formidable influence of the China-Boy Luce properties and their revealed animus to truth, seemliness and the English language. Luce is a loner, a stranger among men, with few friends, who, unlike some other aloof giants of journalism, notably Hearst and McCormick, nevertheless has eagerly sought and, through his wife, accepted a political pay-off for supporting a candidate for President. He may not speak for Ike but he certainly doesn't speak against him and it remains to be seen whether he ever will—unless Ike, in time, decides that he has paid Luce in full and lets Clare out of her embassy in Rome.

The growth of the Luce axis has been phenomenal but by no means benign. He certainly did help Ike but he did so concurrently with vigorous blows in aid and comfort of Charlie Chaplin and other scandalous Reds while Ike and Clare were crying out against the Kremlin. His studious mutilation of the forms of grammar stands in contrast to his impudence in presuming to take a firm hand in the direction of public education.

A biographer who did the life story of Luce's first partner, Briton Hadden, and actually of "Time" itself, wrote that Luce and Hadden had a firm purpose to transmit their peculiar slant off the page into the mind of the public.

This purpose has been achieved in the most fascinating feat of effrontery in the history of publication. The typical New Bedford

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

There was a saying in Wall Street back in the old days that "as Steel goes so goes the market." In those days the common stock of the U. S. Steel Corporation was a bellwether in the market; or, perhaps it would be more accurate to say, was considered to be a bellwether, for often the market did not follow "Steel." (I might interpolate that most of the sayings about the stock market were not founded upon a factual basis, but upon what some clever person concocted out of his head.)

Today, we are being led to believe that "as the motor industry goes so goes the economy." Yesterday, we were being told that the defense expenditures were ruling our destinies.

In other words, what the Ruminator is leading up to is that our "beliefs" and "opinions" are more or less influenced by current events and current commentaries. Few of us do any down-to-earth ruminating (pondering and cud-chewing) in an effort to piece together the basic conditions and influences which establish the trends.

Just as a matter of running a subject down, let's discuss the motor industry for a moment.

We are told over and over again, in our newspapers and dope sheets, that the automobile manufacturers are producing cars at a much faster rate than they possibly can be absorbed.

Seldom do we read that automobile sales are amazingly active. Yet, they are.

Next we are told (which is true and factual) that installment contracts in the sale of automobiles are extremely high percentage-wise. That is, the proportion of cars sold "on time" today is far larger than it was two years ago; indeed, that the credit extended to automobile purchasers is expanding too rapidly for safety.

The situation in the motor industry has reached an extraordinary juncture when one of the most influential business associations in America—the American Bankers Association—took it upon themselves to issue a special bulletin warning its members (the banks of the U. S.) on the extension of motor-car loans, especially loans on used cars. This same warning was repeated at a meeting in Cleveland of the American Institute of Banking the very next day.

When you and I read an item like that we're likely to say, "That's good; that's fine; it's about time that installment sales were checked."

But, let's guess at the opposite influence.

The automobile manufacturers are vehement in their contrary opinion on sales. They assert that they are decidedly not over-producing; that dealers' stocks are not too high, and that second-hand cars have started to move out of used-car lots satisfactorily. They point out further that prior to the period of car-shortages, during the war era, dealers operated on a basis of two used cars to be sold for every new car. The auto makers tell us that the industry is simply returning to the former pattern.

That's the manufacturers' side.

Now let's look at the dealers' and the public's possible reactions to all this.

The dealers, of course, know all about the wet-blankets the bankers wish to spread over their business. At the same time, they want to sell cars. Financing isn't their business. So long as they can secure loans for their customers either from banks or installment-finance houses, they will sell cars.

Moreover, the automobile dealer may take these warnings and turn them into arguments why their prospects should buy a car pronto. They may seize on this bit of news as a compelling argument to close sales. They might say to a prospect: "Here, you need a car, or you wouldn't be here looking at them. I think I should tell you that the moss-backs who sit behind their marble columns in banks are getting old-fashioned about loaning money. They are 'tightening up' on money, as they call it. So I suggest to you that if you want to buy a car you'd better do it right away, before it happens that down-payments are hiked and time-payments made stiffer. Don't put it off, if you want to buy, because if you do maybe you can't get anyone to handle your deal; we can take care of you today, but can't promise about tomorrow."

The foregoing is merely an example of ruminating over a subject that attracts wide attention, as consumer credit does today. The results of "propaganda" sometimes boomerang. It will be interesting to see what does develop in the motor industry, but I for one prefer to guess that the motor-car slump hasn't hit us yet.

House Rejects VA Plan

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The House today rejected a proposal to restrict free medical care for war veterans who can afford to pay for it and whose ailment is not connected with his military service. By roll-call vote of 217 to 180, the House knocked from an appropriations bill a provision that would have allowed the Veterans Administration (VA) to ignore an oath by a veteran that he can't afford to pay for hospitalization. The VA may not ignore such an oath now. Instead, it must accept at face value a veteran's oath that he can't afford outside treatment and furnish hospitalization when available.

305 New Polio Cases

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Infantile paralysis cases reported over the nation last week totaled 305—the highest weekly total so far this year and up 21 per cent over the 250 in the week ended June 6. Announcing this today, the Public Health Service said there had been 3,124 cases of poliomyelitis reported this year up to June 13. This compares with 2,678 last year up to June 14. Last year was a record polio year, with 57,636 cases.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, June 18—A Fourth of July picnic, open to the public, will be staged at the pine grove near the Traver Hollow bridge by members of the Olive Legion Post and Auxiliary.

Children's Day exercises next Sunday at the Glenford Methodist Church will be at 2 p. m. while that of the Ashokan Sunday school will begin at 7 p. m.

Alonzo Winnie's 78th birthday is now given as June 25 instead of this Thursday as previously reported.

Charles Beesmer, Stony Hollow War 1 veteran who died in Kingston Saturday, came of old Olive stock, his father, George Beesmer, having been brought up in the area. Charlie's grandmother, Betsy Beesmer, was a well-known resident of the old village of Shokan in days before the waterworks. He was a cousin of Allen Terwilliger of this place.

Eltinge Gray, Jr., of the Onteora Trail is reported a patient at Benedictine Hospital.

No catches of big trout in the reservoir have been reported to the column desk of late though the taking of pike appears to keep up pretty well. There is generally a good crowd of fishermen at the dividing weir but the number of boats on the east basin remains comparatively small. It is possible that the big old trout are lurking in the deep rock cut channel below the gates, where they are quite safe from the temptations offered by fishermen in boats which are prohibited under war time regulations from going within a thousand feet of the dikes.

Registering for kindergarten studies last week were the following Ashokan tots: Roger Buley, Steven Davis, Roger DuBois, Irving Glass, Wayne Gray, William Schraut and Jane Stevens.

Ollie and Ruth Faulkner, former Shokan residents, planned to return to their home in Rockford, Ill., Thursday after spending a few days with relatives here. The couple motored east to see Ruth's mother, Aner Longyear, 90, who has not been feeling well the past three weeks.

Stanley Downey, Yonkers young man, is making good progress on his new house. The Downey lot bounds the site of the ruins of an old stone schoolhouse to which fount of learning barefoot children within a radius of several miles were wont to wend their way a century and more ago. Only the fireplace and chimney of this landmark which now belongs to Vera Sickler, remains standing.

John Leacock, Jr., and William Jackson of the army represent Shokan and Ashokan, respectively, in the Korean war theatre.

Horse and Buggy Days in South Olive: June, 1898—Mrs. George Davis who died recently at her home near Samsonville, leaves three small children and a husband besides a large circle of friends...Ethel, small daughter of the Frank Roosas, is quite seriously ill with the whooping cough ...Winchell District school roll of honor for week ending May 27 includes Lydia Beesmer and Chester Winchell, both 96 per cent... Frank Roosa has sold one of his horses to S. J. Roosa, Kyserike, and will now farm with oxen... A young son has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest VanKleeck.

Henry Schraut is reported ill at his home in the lower village.

The sleighs, buckboard wagon, fanning mill and other relics of days long gone by on the corner store shop still attract attention no end from motorists on busy Onteora Trail. The kids point and say, "Look, Moma, a big sleigh!" One stranger, stopping at this old country store recently, likened it to the famed Farmers Museum up at Cooperstown.

Mrs. Bert Winchell of the Ashokan mountain road is home again following hospital treatment.

The red peony blooms in Mrs. Henry Gebelein's front yard and Mrs. Leonard Ruckert's eye-pleasing rose bushes lend a cheerful note to the village scene this week.

Air Conditioning on wheels* comes of age!

Now you can have a car that's as comfortable on hot days as your air-conditioned home, office or favorite theater.

Now you can ride in draft-free coolness at the temperature level you choose – even when the outside reading is 110° and more.

Now you can take a full complement of passengers through the thick of traffic on a sweltering day – and each one of you will keep looking and feeling fresh as a daisy at dewtime.

Air intakes on each side of car introduce outside air into system.

You do this with the new Buick AIRCONDITIONER–the completely practical unit available at extra cost in 1953 SUPER and ROADMASTER Sedan and Riviera models.

But note this: what Buick put into its AIRCONDITIONER goes far beyond the usual.

For the advanced design of this Buick unit provides dual roof ducts that distribute up to 300 cubic feet of cooled, freshened, filtered, air per minute to all parts of the car interior evenly and constantly–without icy blasts and drafts on your neck, shoulders, legs.

Grilles in Buick's exclusive dual roof ducts insure draft-free distribution of conditioned air—and also provide individual control of air direction as desired.

What's more, these exclusive roof ducts have individually controlled air directors above the side windows. So each window-seat passenger can guide a gentle breeze of conditioned air exactly where he wants it.

Of course, the advanced Buick AIRCONDITIONER is automatic.

You switch it on, choose the temperature setting you want – and that level of coolness is maintained constantly. It thoroughly conditions the air around you – automatically. It carries off heat, stale air, tobacco smoke–automatically. It continuously introduces outside air into the system–automatically.

Return air grilles on package shelf help maintain continuous circulation of conditioned, pollen-free air.

It's fast-acting, too. Even after an hour or more locked up under summer's hottest sun, the car interior can be brought to a delightfully cool comfort in a matter of minutes.

And it's really compact. The cooling unit itself fits neatly on a narrow shelf in the big trunk compartment–leaves plenty of room for luggage and the like.

Why not drop in on us and try a demonstration?

You'll find that the amazing Buick AIRCONDITIONER with its exclusive dual roof ducts is the ultimate comfort in hot-climate driving.

The red peony blooms in Mrs. Henry Gebelein's front yard and Mrs. Leonard Ruckert's eye-pleasing rose bushes lend a cheerful note to the village scene this week.

CENTRAL HUDSON

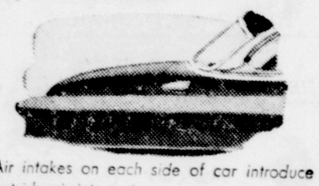

Air Conditioning on wheels* comes of age!

Now you can have a car that's as comfortable on hot days as your air-conditioned home, office or favorite theater.

Now you can ride in draft-free coolness at the temperature level you choose – even when the outside reading is 110° and more.

Now you can take a full complement of passengers through the thick of traffic on a sweltering day – and each one of you will keep looking and feeling fresh as a daisy at dewtime.

Air intakes on each side of car introduce outside air into system.

You do this with the new Buick AIRCONDITIONER–the completely practical unit available at extra cost in 1953 SUPER and ROADMASTER Sedan and Riviera models.

But note this: what Buick put into its AIRCONDITIONER goes far beyond the usual.

For the advanced design of this Buick unit provides dual roof ducts that distribute up to 300 cubic feet of cooled, freshened, filtered, air per minute to all parts of the car interior evenly and constantly–without icy blasts and drafts on your neck, shoulders, legs.

Grilles in Buick's exclusive dual roof ducts insure draft-free distribution of conditioned air—and also provide individual control of air direction as desired.

What's more, these exclusive roof ducts have individually controlled air directors above the side windows. So each window-seat passenger can guide a gentle breeze of conditioned air exactly where he wants it.

Of course, the advanced Buick AIRCONDITIONER is automatic.

You switch it on, choose the temperature setting you want – and that level of coolness is maintained constantly. It thoroughly conditions the air around you – automatically. It carries off heat, stale air, tobacco smoke–automatically. It continuously introduces outside air into the system–automatically.

Return air grilles on package shelf help maintain continuous circulation of conditioned, pollen-free air.

It's fast-acting, too. Even after an hour or more locked up under summer's hottest sun, the car interior can be brought to a delightfully cool comfort in a matter of minutes.

And it's really compact. The cooling unit itself fits neatly on a narrow shelf in the big trunk compartment – leaves plenty of room for luggage and the like.

Why not drop in on us and try a demonstration?

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Boggs Transferred To Caribbean Area

TOWER BOGGS

Woodstock, June 18 — Tower Boggs, well-known resident of this village who has served for 11 years with the Red Cross, has been transferred as field director from Camp Kilmer to the Caribbean headquarters of the armed forces. Boggs, who visited his family here last weekend will leave for his new post this week.

Prior to his year and a half service at Camp Kilmer, Boggs served as American Red Cross Field Director at Camp Edwards in Massachusetts for two years. In 1952 he received the Red Cross 10-year service award. During World War 2, he was stationed in Italy.

Although this country is considered in a peace-time status, Boggs said that during the year 1952 his office at Kilmer, which consists of 18 members beside himself, handled a total of 33,267 cases.

"While in the process of handling these cases," Boggs said, "we sent out 19,984 wires and received 18,928 wires. In the same year we made 5,000 telephone calls."

Gallery Opens First Exhibition of Season

Woodstock, June 18—There is always an element of excitement at the opening of the first show of the season of the Woodstock Artists Association at the gallery. Last Saturday afternoon was no exception with the newly renovated gallery providing larger space for exhibits than heretofore. This show is comprised of a total of 71 pictures and yet there is no appearance of crowding. The names of a number of new exhibitors appear on the list as well as many familiar ones displaying evidence of a refreshing winter's work.

As usual in the first group show there appears to be enough variety to satisfy visitors with an equally wide divergence in taste from abstract to representational painting. Frieda Borkman's Colored Town is completely delightful and Kurt Sluizer's Fisherman's Boy is arrestingly lowkeyed and deftly handled. A delicately wrought view of the town of Woodstock seen as a miniature is contained in Betty Bauman serigraph, and Madeline S. Wiltz attains a luminous quality in her Cuban Church. There is a pensive and wistful portrait of Dolores by Dr. A. E. Solomon and a skillful Intimate Landscape by Boyer Gonzales, containing richly imposed patterns of color. Croton-on-the-Hudson by Maurice Sievan is an engaging landscape in earthy tones.

WOODSTOCK—3 ... .

Almost wraithlike, yet always tragically real Andree Ruellan's Pierot is a subtle study while Dorothy Varian's Table and Chairs is sharply colorful and defined. Well thought out pattern is contained in Mary Early's The Balcony and there is a provocative charm in both Phoebe Towbin's Arcade and Sally Jacobs' Swimming Hole. Mollie Higgins Smith has contributed an appealing still life, Spring Bouquet and Ralph L. Wickiser's Descent is arresting.

The current exhibition will be on view at the gallery until June 25.

Garden Club to Hold Annual Flower Show

Woodstock, June 18—The Woodstock Garden Club is giving the annual flower show on Saturday, June 27, at 2 p. m., at the Woodstock Country Club. All entries should be in by 11 a. m., in order to be included in the judging which takes place at 12.

The Garden Club extends a hearty welcome to all other garden clubs and the public to exhibit in any, or all, of the following arrangements: miniature garden; miniature vases (not over six inches); men only; children's corner (accessories permitted); flowers as I like them; four roses (accessories permitted); all white; antique container; wild flowers; specimens and house plants; arrangement for special holiday (accessories permitted); coffee table; arrangement in container made by exhibitor.

Flowers Requested

Woodstock, June 18—Anyone who would like to contribute flowers for the decoration of the Woodstock Elementary School auditorium for the graduation exercises to be held Friday, June 19, at 8 p. m., is requested to bring them to the school on the afternoon of the graduation.

Artists Mentioned

Woodstock, June 18—Paintings by several former Woodstock artists are mentioned in Carlyle Burrows' column in the Sunday Art Section of the New York Herald Tribune, June 14. In the group show at the Milch gallery in New York Burrows singles out an "uncommonly vivid, colorful Robert Henri head" and added that "George Bellows' Crehaven is a very worthy inclusion."

At the Downtown gallery he notes that "Side Show by the late Kuniyoshi, is recent and fully fanciful."

Sells Ceramic Piece

Woodstock, June 18—Carl Walters, eminent Woodstock ceramic artist, has sold one of his large ceramic pieces to the Detroit Institute. The figure of a lemur animal is enhanced by a clear glaze with an under-glace decoration. It was exhibited at the Whitney Museum in New York in 1952.

To Hold Dental Clinic

Woodstock, June 18—The preschool dental clinic for children between the ages of three and five will be held at the Health Center June 25, 26 and 29. Appointments for children may be made by calling Mrs. Victor Busch, Woodstock 9403 on the mornings of Friday, June 19, and Monday, June 22.

Committee to Meet

Woodstock, June 18—The final meeting of the season of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee will be held with a luncheon at the Town House, Thursday, June 25, at 1 p. m. All members are urged to attend to assist with plans for the summer recreation program, sponsored by the committee, for girls in the township. Members may also bring guests.

Klitgaard Painting Gets Times Mention

Woodstock, June 18—A painting by Georgiana Klitgaard was given special mention in a feature article in the vacation section of the New York Times Sunday, June 14, titled Painting The Town Red—In Oils.

"It is symptomatic of the personality of Woodstock," said the Times, "that possibly newhere else in the Catskills, a mountain range sprawled over a four-county area almost four times the size of Rhode Island, can you find a shop selling authentic Nigerian devil masks at $200 apiece. Or a store window featuring a painting (Spring in the Valley, by Georgiana Klitgaard) going for $500."

Rev. Gaise to Speak At Woodstock School

Woodstock, June 18—The Rev. David C. Gaise of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston, will address the Woodstock School graduates at the school auditorium Friday evening at 8 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

The program: Invocation, the Rev. Kenneth Dearstyne; processional Pomp and Circumstance played by Mrs. Leo Herbert; The Star Spangled Banner; welcome by Alan Simmons.

Several vocal selections will be presented by the Woodstock School Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Edna Quick, accompanied by Mrs. Leo Herbert. They will include Come Let Us Go A-Maying, The Days of Long Ago and There Are Fairies Dancing On The Lawn.

Following the class presentation by Lynne Wright, a large group of scholastic awards will be presented by Walter Van Wagenen, principal of the school. Presentation of the diplomas will be made by Mrs. Charles Rapp, chairman of the board of trustees of Woodstock School District No. 2. The program will conclude with the benediction.

Business Association Directors Elected

Woodstock, June 16—The following new directors of the Woodstock Business Association were elected at a meeting held in Deanie's upstairs Monday night: William Hand, Charles Catalano, Harry Alpern, Warren Hutty, Wayne Underhill, Ed Bauman, Karl Cousins, Mordy Berkowitz, Hilda Lightstone and Joseph Deutsch. After the members' meeting the newly elected directors met and elected the following officers of the association: Mordy Berkowitz, president; Joseph Deutsch, vice president; Karl Cousins, secretary; Warren Hutty, treasurer.

There will be no meeting for members of the association during the months of July and August. The directors will meet, however, when and if necessary. The next members' meeting will be held on the third Monday in September.

Lodge Plans Sale

Woodstock, June 16 — The Agapae Rebekah Lodge will hold a rummage and food sale at the town hall Saturday, June 20, beginning at 9 a. m.

To Hold Tournament

Woodstock, June 16—It has been announced that the Father Herdegen golf tournament will be held at the Woodstock Country Club, Sunday, June 21. On Saturday, July 4, the club will hold the Warren Townley Memorial tournament of 36 holes.

Village Notes

Woodstock, June 18 — Miss Nancy Summers spent the weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Dudley G. Summers at their home on Glasco Turnpike.

Mitzie and Ed Shewmake were the guests of Mrs. Shewmake's aunt Mrs. Maude Petersham last weekend. The Shewmakes are now on their way to Fort Lauderrale, Fla.

To Close Saturdays

It has been announced by County Clerk Harry Sutton that during the months of July and August his office at 38 Main street and the Motor Vehicle Bureau at 32 Main street will close all day Saturdays. Other days of the week, business hours are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. The present Saturday hours are from 9 a. m. to 12 noon.

Martha Raye Divorced

Miami, Fla., June 18 (AP)—A divorce decree has ended the marriage of Martha Raye, movie actress and Miami Beach night club operator, and her fourth husband, Nick Condos, manager of her Five O'Clock Club. In the settlement Miss Raye received no alimony and Condos none of her property. They agreed to let their insurance policies—hers for $150,000 and his for $30,000 — remain unchanged with each other and their nine-year-old daughter as beneficiaries.

Margaret Passes

New York, June 19 (AP)—Margaret Truman took a 15-minute road test yesterday and qualified for a New York state automobile driver's license. The test was taken in lower Manhattan streets in a car registered in the name of her father, former President Truman.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., June 18—It is time for both businessmen and educators to put an end to the reckless overexpansion in the field of engineering education. Many educators and their young student counselors are being misled by the current strong demand and high wages for "physicists, engineers and draftsmen." I predict a lot of disappointments. In just a few years many of these hopeful engineering students may well become mere technicians simply because the supply will far outrun the demand.

The economic welfare of any nation depends upon two general factors: (1) the development of its material, educational and spiritual resources; and (2) the efficiency and fairness of its distribution methods. In a free economy this is the way the real, lasting welfare of a people is improved—by producing more and distributing same at less cost with less waste. My years of studying business conditions have forced me to conclude that reckless overexpansion in any field can never become permanent.

Our Economic History

Our economic history has usually consisted of distinct movements, and these movements have usually consisted of four periods: (1) a period of overexpansion; (2) a period of decline; (3) a period of depression; and (4) a period of improvement. Our history clearly outlines periods of intense activity, high prices, speculation, and borrowing, followed by periods of falling prices, periods of depression and failure. The movement which business follows depends on what people think and do. When people get careless and fail to heed the danger signs—when people become greedy and try to get more than they give—over-expansion usually follows. Following the crowd is usually followed by panic, contraction and readjustment. Remember 1929!

The trouble with most of our high school and college youths is that they don't remember 1929. I'm glad they don't. But they should know the lesson that 1929 taught. And then teachers—and business—should try to help prevent another such period by avoiding the temptation to over-expand and get the last dollar in profits or wages.

Let me be more specific. I read dozens of newspapers and periodicals each week; and I have dozens more digested for me. I read everywhere about the demand for engineers. One recent study of 174 companies indicates companies are hiring about 25% more engineers this June than last year, and at salaries nearly 10% higher than last year—ranging up to $400 per month. Not once in my reading have I yet run across any warnings from company recruitment officers or top management that the demand for engineers is coming perilously near the saturation point. Is this not a responsibility of both business and the school?

In the last half century we have succeeded in doubling our man-hour output and at the same time in improving our quality of manufacturing. We can now produce in most industries more than we can consume. During the last ten years, however, we have improved our distribution very little indeed. As a matter of fact some sales forces have lost ground. They have forgotten what efficiency and service require. I predict the second half of this century will see a belated revolution in our distribution efficiency. This is where the jobs really are! Why aren't our high school and preparatory school counselors calling attention to these opportunities? Why isn't business doing a better job of long-range planning and making those long-range distribution needs known?

Young people, in fairness to them, should be made aware of the fact that no company can guarantee to hold them at the drawing board or on the production line when business declines. As readjustment develops out of our postwar period of overexpansion, only the most fit engineers will survive. Demands for engineers are at a maximum now. Those who will graduate from engineering schools and colleges a few years hence will not have it so good. They should learn it now so that they can plan realistically for a productive job in our economy and avoid being disappointed by present rosy engineering promises.

TOWER BOGGS

Woodstock, June 18 — Tower Boggs, well-known resident of this village who has served for 11 years with the Red Cross, has been transferred as field director from Camp Kilmer to the Caribbean headquarters of the armed forces. Boggs, who visited his family here last weekend will leave for his new post this week.

Prior to his year and a half service at Camp Kilmer, Boggs served as American Red Cross Field Director at Camp Edwards in Massachusetts for two years. In 1952 he received the Red Cross 10-year service award. During World War 2, he was stationed in Italy.

Although this country is considered in a peace-time status, Boggs said that during the year 1952 his office at Kilmer, which consists of 18 members beside himself, handled a total of 33,267 cases.

"While in the process of handling these cases," Boggs said, "we sent out 19,984 wires and received 18,928 wires. In the same year we made 5,000 telephone calls."

Gallery Opens First Exhibition of Season

Woodstock, June 18—There is always an element of excitement at the opening of the first show of the season of the Woodstock Artists Association at the gallery. Last Saturday afternoon was no exception with the newly renovated gallery providing larger space for exhibits than heretofore. This show is comprised of a total of 71 pictures and yet there is no appearance of crowding. The names of a number of new exhibitors appear on the list as well as many familiar ones displaying evidence of a refreshing winter's work.

As usual in the first group show there appears to be enough variety to satisfy visitors with an equally wide divergence in taste from abstract to representational painting. Frieda Borkman's Colored Town is completely delightful and Kurt Sluizer's Fisherman's Boy is arrestingly low-keyed and deftly handled. A delicately wrought view of the town of Woodstock seen as a miniature is contained in Betty Bauman serigraph, and Madeline S. Wiltz attains a luminous quality in her Cuban Church. There is a pensive and wistful portrait of Dolores by Dr. A. E. Solomon and a skillful Intimate Landscape by Boyer Gonzales, containing richly imposed patterns of color. Croton-on-the-Hudson by Maurice Sievan is an engaging landscape in earthy tones.

WOODSTOCK—3 ... .

Almost wraithlike, yet always tragically real Andree Ruellan's Pierot is a subtle study while Dorothy Varian's Table and Chairs is sharply colorful and defined. Well thought out pattern is contained in Mary Early's The Balcony and there is a provocative charm in both Phoebe Towbin's Arcade and Sally Jacobs' Swimming Hole. Mollie Higgins Smith has contributed an appealing still life, Spring Bouquet and Ralph L. Wickiser's Descent is arresting.

The current exhibition will be on view at the gallery until June 25.

Garden Club to Hold Annual Flower Show

Woodstock, June 18—The Woodstock Garden Club is giving the annual flower show on Saturday, June 27, at 2 p. m., at the Woodstock Country Club. All entries should be in by 11 a. m., in order to be included in the judging which takes place at 12.

The Garden Club extends a hearty welcome to all other garden clubs and the public to exhibit in any, or all, of the following arrangements: miniature garden; miniature vases (not over six inches); men only; children's corner (accessories permitted); flowers as I like them; four roses (accessories permitted); all white; antique container; wild flowers; specimens and house plants; arrangement for special holiday (accessories permitted); coffee table; arrangement in container made by exhibitor.

Flowers Requested

Woodstock, June 18—Anyone who would like to contribute flowers for the decoration of the Woodstock Elementary School auditorium for the graduation exercises to be held Friday, June 19, at 8 p. m., is requested to bring them to the school on the afternoon of the graduation.

Artists Mentioned

Woodstock, June 18—Paintings by several former Woodstock artists are mentioned in Carlyle Burrows' column in the Sunday Art Section of the New York Herald Tribune, June 14. In the group show at the Milch gallery in New York Burrows singles out an "uncommonly vivid, colorful Robert Henri head" and added that "George Bellows' Crehaven is a very worthy inclusion."

At the Downtown gallery he notes that "Side Show by the late Kuniyoshi, is recent and fully fanciful."

Sells Ceramic Piece

Woodstock, June 18—Carl Walters, eminent Woodstock ceramic artist, has sold one of his large ceramic pieces to the Detroit Institute. The figure of a lemur animal is enhanced by a clear glaze with an under-glace decoration. It was exhibited at the Whitney Museum in New York in 1952.

To Hold Dental Clinic

Woodstock, June 18—The preschool dental clinic for children between the ages of three and five will be held at the Health Center June 25, 26 and 29. Appointments for children may be made by calling Mrs. Victor Busch, Woodstock 9403 on the mornings of Friday, June 19, and Monday, June 22.

Committee to Meet

Woodstock, June 18—The final meeting of the season of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee will be held with a luncheon at the Town House, Thursday, June 25, at 1 p. m. All members are urged to attend to assist with plans for the summer recreation program, sponsored by the committee, for girls in the township. Members may also bring guests.

Klitgaard Painting Gets Times Mention

Woodstock, June 18—A painting by Georgiana Klitgaard was given special mention in a feature article in the vacation section of the New York Times Sunday, June 14, titled Painting The Town Red—In Oils.

"It is symptomatic of the personality of Woodstock," said the Times, "that possibly newhere else in the Catskills, a mountain range sprawled over a four-county area almost four times the size of Rhode Island, can you find a shop selling authentic Nigerian devil masks at $200 apiece. Or a store window featuring a painting (Spring in the Valley, by Georgiana Klitgaard) going for $500."

Rev. Gaise to Speak At Woodstock School

Woodstock, June 18—The Rev. David C. Gaise of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston, will address the Woodstock School graduates at the school auditorium Friday evening at 8 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

The program: Invocation, the Rev. Kenneth Dearstyne; processional Pomp and Circumstance played by Mrs. Leo Herbert; The Star Spangled Banner; welcome by Alan Simmons.

Several vocal selections will be presented by the Woodstock School Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Edna Quick, accompanied by Mrs. Leo Herbert. They will include Come Let Us Go A-Maying, The Days of Long Ago and There Are Fairies Dancing On The Lawn.

Following the class presentation by Lynne Wright, a large group of scholastic awards will be presented by Walter Van Wagenen, principal of the school. Presentation of the diplomas will be made by Mrs. Charles Rapp, chairman of the board of trustees of Woodstock School District No. 2. The program will conclude with the benediction.

Business Association Directors Elected

Woodstock, June 16—The following new directors of the Woodstock Business Association were elected at a meeting held in Deanie's upstairs Monday night: William Hand, Charles Catalano, Harry Alpern, Warren Hutty, Wayne Underhill, Ed Bauman, Karl Cousins, Mordy Berkowitz, Hilda Lightstone and Joseph Deutsch. After the members' meeting the newly elected directors met and elected the following officers of the association: Mordy Berkowitz, president; Joseph Deutsch, vice president; Karl Cousins, secretary; Warren Hutty, treasurer.

There will be no meeting for members of the association during the months of July and August. The directors will meet, however, when and if necessary. The next members' meeting will be held on the third Monday in September.

Lodge Plans Sale

Woodstock, June 16 — The Agapae Rebekah Lodge will hold a rummage and food sale at the town hall Saturday, June 20, beginning at 9 a. m.

To Hold Tournament

Woodstock, June 16—It has been announced that the Father Herdegen golf tournament will be held at the Woodstock Country Club, Sunday, June 21. On Saturday, July 4, the club will hold the Warren Townley Memorial tournament of 36 holes.

Village Notes

Woodstock, June 18 — Miss Nancy Summers spent the weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Dudley G. Summers at their home on Glasco Turnpike.

Mitzie and Ed Shewmake were the guests of Mrs. Shewmake's aunt Mrs. Maude Petersham last weekend. The Shewmakes are now on their way to Fort Lauderrale, Fla.

To Close Saturdays

It has been announced by County Clerk Harry Sutton that during the months of July and August his office at 38 Main street and the Motor Vehicle Bureau at 32 Main street will close all day Saturdays. Other days of the week, business hours are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. The present Saturday hours are from 9 a. m. to 12 noon.

Martha Raye Divorced

Miami, Fla., June 18 (AP)—A divorce decree has ended the marriage of Martha Raye, movie actress and Miami Beach night club operator, and her fourth husband, Nick Condos, manager of her Five O'Clock Club. In the settlement Miss Raye received no alimony and Condos none of her property. They agreed to let their insurance policies—hers for $150,000 and his for $30,000 — remain unchanged with each other and their nine-year-old daughter as beneficiaries.

Margaret Passes

New York, June 19 (AP)—Margaret Truman took a 15-minute road test yesterday and qualified for a New York state automobile driver's license. The test was taken in lower Manhattan streets in a car registered in the name of her father, former President Truman.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

There is an article on old horse cars as told by an "old timer" to a reporter of the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Tuesday, Nov. 4th, 1919. Although dates of the old horse cars are not given in the article by the "old timer" still he brings out many phases now forgotten of those days. According to my records the first horse-car driven by four horses was run in August of 1866 from one part of the town to the other. The old timer goes into details about the old Delhi stages and Ellenville stages which were then owned by George F. Von Beck, who was also the proprietor of the Mansion House.

Mention is made of some drivers of the stages at the time, like Tom Tilford, Chan Edson and John Baldwin of the Delhi stages. They made stops at the Mansion House, corner Broadway and Strand, then at John Schriver's City Hotel on East Front street, head of Main street, and also at Tom Clark's old Eagle Hotel on Main street. They also stopped at Irving Pardee's Kingston Hotel on Crown street before they took off, out of town.

The "old timer" explained that on the rear of these coaches there was a large receptacle of leather, called a "boot" in which trunks of passengers for points up the U. and D. Plank Road were placed. In describing our Kingston stages which ran through the city, they were first "box stages" that one entered at the side, with four cross seats that carried three each. They first ran every hour, one leaving the Mansion House for uptown and one leaving Pardee's hotel on Crown street for Rondout.

As business grew the stages were replaced by omnibuses which ran each half hour from the same starting places. There being four stages, they passed one another at O'Reilly's woods, where the city hall and high school stand now. He stated that the conductor collected five cents as fare from passengers who rode from uptown to Greenkill avenue, and if the passengers wanted to go further they paid 10 cents for the full ride or five cents more to Richard Van Gaasbeck at a toll gate which stood across Union avenue (now Broadway) a short distance north of East Chester street.

Just as I was in the midst of writing this item, Stanley Lebert came in for Mullen's Tobacco, which I am sorry to say I should but do not carry. I am sure folks young and old of the trolley days remember Mr. Lebert. He was conductor on both lines and often it was he who collected fares from my father when we were on our way to Kingston Point during the famous summer trolley car days. On a summer day, especially if it was on a Sunday with the boats stopping at Kingston Point, the park in full swing, the band of music playing, and the merry-go-round working and the penny-arcade in full swing, you just couldn't get on the trolley down by our corner on Abeel and Broadway. It was crowded with all the passengers collected from the uptown section of town. We just hung on where we could. I liked best if I was allowed to stand in front with the motorman and watch him steer and clang his bell to clear the track of autos which got on the track. He was king of the street in those days.

Liberty Visits Halted

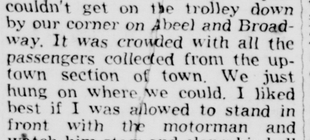

New York, June 18 (AP)—Visitors were stopped from visiting the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island today by a strike of a ferryboat crew demanding more pay. The ferryboat was tied up at her berth at the Battery. The crew, members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, also want shorter hours and better working conditions. Deckhands, asking $1.53 an hour, said their present wage of $1.18 an hour was the lowest in the port. The ferry is operated by the Statue of Liberty Corp.

Held in Bank Swindle

New York, June 18 (AP)—Irving Schwartzberg, 36, who served a prison term as a fixer in the recent basketball scandals, was held without bail yesterday as the alleged master mind of a $30,000 bank swindle. A hearing was set for Friday. Schwartzberg was arrested Wednesday night and was booked on charges of grand larceny, forgery and conspiracy. Assistant District Attorney William S. Tenney said other arrests were expected, "certainly in other counties and perhaps in other states."

Although it sometimes snows in midsummer around Hudson Bay, summer temperatures in that area sometimes hit 90.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Blame's All Yours In Play Like This

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If you force the defenders to find the correct line of defense, you have nobody to blame but yourself. The point is illustrated in today's hand.

West opened the king of hearts, and South won with the ace. South hastily cashed the ace of clubs and continued with the ace and king of spades. When South next led a low spade, West could see what was going on.

It was evident that South intended to take discards on dummy's high clubs.

Only one defense had any chance to succeed, so West adopted it. He ruffed the third spade with the ace of diamonds.

West could then cash one heart trick, and eventually his partner got a second trump trick to defeat the contract.

The hand was played in a Commercial League Team Match in New York, and at the other table Tom Curley, of the Bell Laboratories' Team, managed to make his contract of five diamonds against the same opening lead. The difference was that Curley didn't make his intention clear and therefore didn't force the opponents to find the right defense.

After winning the first trick with the ace of hearts, Curley cashed the ace and king of spades. He had intended to take the ace of clubs next, but he changed his mind when West dropped the queen of spades.

Leaving the ace of clubs in his own hand, declarer led a low spade towards dummy. West saw no danger and no reason to ruff, so he merely discarded a low club. Dummy ruffed, and declarer returned to his hand in the most natural way with the ace of clubs.

When Curley now led another low spade, West still didn't see the danger. He discarded another club, and declarer was able to ruff again in dummy. Now he could cash the king of clubs to discard his losing heart.

The rest, of course, was quite easy.

It Rained In

Ocean City, N. J. (AP)—It rained so hard the roof fell in. The roof on a warehouse collapsed after an early-morning downpour. Police said tons of water trapped on the flat roof caused the cave-in. Clogged eaves prevented runoff.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

There is an article on old horse cars as told by an "old timer" to a reporter of the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Tuesday, Nov. 4th, 1919. Although dates of the old horse cars are not given in the article by the "old timer" still he brings out many phases now forgotten of those days. According to my records the first horse-car driven by four horses was run in August of 1866 from one part of the town to the other. The old timer goes into details about the old Delhi stages and Ellenville stages which were then owned by George F. Von Beck, who was also the proprietor of the Mansion House.

Mention is made of some drivers of the stages at the time, like Tom Tilford, Chan Edson and John Baldwin of the Delhi stages. They made stops at the Mansion House, corner Broadway and Strand, then at John Schriver's City Hotel on East Front street, head of Main street, and also at Tom Clark's old Eagle Hotel on Main street. They also stopped at Irving Pardee's Kingston Hotel on Crown street before they took off, out of town.

The "old timer" explained that on the rear of these coaches there was a large receptacle of leather, called a "boot" in which trunks of passengers for points up the U. and D. Plank Road were placed. In describing our Kingston stages which ran through the city, they were first "box stages" that one entered at the side, with four cross seats that carried three each. They first ran every hour, one leaving the Mansion House for uptown and one leaving Pardee's hotel on Crown street for Rondout.

As business grew the stages were replaced by omnibuses which ran each half hour from the same starting places. There being four stages, they passed one another at O'Reilly's woods, where the city hall and high school stand now. He stated that the conductor collected five cents as fare from passengers who rode from uptown to Greenkill avenue, and if the passengers wanted to go further they paid 10 cents for the full ride or five cents more to Richard Van Gaasbeck at a toll gate which stood across Union avenue (now Broadway) a short distance north of East Chester street.

Just as I was in the midst of writing this item, Stanley Lebert came in for Mullen's Tobacco, which I am sorry to say I should but do not carry. I am sure folks young and old of the trolley days remember Mr. Lebert. He was conductor on both lines and often it was he who collected fares from my father when we were on our way to Kingston Point during the famous summer trolley car days. On a summer day, especially if it was on a Sunday with the boats stopping at Kingston Point, the park in full swing, the band of music playing, and the merry-go-round working and the penny-arcade in full swing, you just couldn't get on the trolley down by our corner on Abeel and Broadway. It was crowded with all the passengers collected from the uptown section of town. We just hung on where we could. I liked best if I was allowed to stand in front with the motorman and watch him steer and clang his bell to clear the track of autos which got on the track. He was king of the street in those days.

Liberty Visits Halted

New York, June 18 (AP)—Visitors were stopped from visiting the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island today by a strike of a ferryboat crew demanding more pay. The ferryboat was tied up at her berth at the Battery. The crew, members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, also want shorter hours and better working conditions. Deckhands, asking $1.53 an hour, said their present wage of $1.18 an hour was the lowest in the port. The ferry is operated by the Statue of Liberty Corp.

Held in Bank Swindle

New York, June 18 (AP)—Irving Schwartzberg, 36, who served a prison term as a fixer in the recent basketball scandals, was held without bail yesterday as the alleged master mind of a $30,000 bank swindle. A hearing was set for Friday. Schwartzberg was arrested Wednesday night and was booked on charges of grand larceny, forgery and conspiracy. Assistant District Attorney William S. Tenney said other arrests were expected, "certainly in other counties and perhaps in other states."

Although it sometimes snows in midsummer around Hudson Bay, summer temperatures in that area sometimes hit 90.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Blame's All Yours In Play Like This

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If you force the defenders to find the correct line of defense, you have nobody to blame but yourself. The point is illustrated in today's hand.

West opened the king of hearts, and South won with the ace. South hastily cashed the ace of clubs and continued with the ace and king of spades. When South next led a low spade, West could see what was going on.

It was evident that South intended to take discards on dummy's high clubs.

Only one defense had any chance to succeed, so West adopted it. He ruffed the third spade with the ace of diamonds.

West could then cash one heart trick, and eventually his partner got a second trump trick to defeat the contract.

The hand was played in a Commercial League Team Match in New York, and at the other table Tom Curley, of the Bell Laboratories' Team, managed to make his contract of five diamonds against the same opening lead. The difference was that Curley didn't make his intention clear and therefore didn't force the opponents to find the right defense.

After winning the first trick with the ace of hearts, Curley cashed the ace and king of spades. He had intended to take the ace of clubs next, but he changed his mind when West dropped the queen of spades.

Leaving the ace of clubs in his own hand, declarer led a low spade towards dummy. West saw no danger and no reason to ruff, so he merely discarded a low club. Dummy ruffed, and declarer returned to his hand in the most natural way with the ace of clubs.

When Curley now led another low spade, West still didn't see the danger. He discarded another club, and declarer was able to ruff again in dummy. Now he could cash the king of clubs to discard his losing heart.

The rest, of course, was quite easy.

Bloodmobile Will Visit Kingston Wednesday, July 15

The American Red Cross Regional Blood Center in New York will send a Bloodmobile to Kingston Wednesday, July 15, and the quota assigned for this visit is 150 pints of blood, Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, chairman for the local blood program announced today.

This will be an opportunity for local residents to roll up their sleeves and contribute to the National Blood Program. Mrs. Connelly said, "The armed forces will have first call on the blood we donate. But blood is needed at home, too, for military hospitals, for gamma globulin to prevent paralysis from polio in children, and to build a reserve for Civilian Defense. For blood saves lives, and whoever needs it most, gets it first," she added.

Anyone between the ages of 18 and 59, at least 110 pounds in weight and in normally good health, can give blood.

"Giving blood," Mrs. Connelly pointed out, "is safe, simple and painless. Donors are medically screened by a physician and every precaution is taken for their protection. However, it is imperative for prospective donors to make appointments before going to the collection center at municipal auditorium Wednesday, July 15. Too few donors make for inefficient operation and "walk-ins" who have not been scheduled overstrain collection capacity.

The local Red Cross office, telephone 7020, may be contacted for appointments.

Damage Is in Millions

Anchorage, Alaska, June 18 (AP)—Fire and explosions destroyed millions of dollars worth of military installations and supplies last night at Alaska's main military port of Whittier, 72 miles southeast of here. The rampaging, wind-blown flames in less than four hours destroyed three new warehouses, two docks and other buildings. Reports here and at Seward but not confirmed by the military said that a quantity of ammunition blew up. Three persons were reported critically injured.

Girl Scout camping has three main objectives: to stimulate enjoyment and appreciation of the out-of-doors; to provide training in citizenship through community living and democratic planning; to contribute to good health and to develop resourcefulness, initiative, and self-reliance.

Democrats to Hold Father's Day Picnic

New Paltz, June 18—A family picnic with an afternoon of recreation and fun for all ages is being planned by the Democratic Club of New Paltz for Fathers' Day, Sunday, June 21, at Kellars' Bontecou Farms five miles north of New Paltz on Route 32.

Activities planned during the afternoon from 2 to 6 p. m. include softball and other games and pony rides for the youngsters. Food and beverages will be furnished by the club social committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Tullia Kellar.

The public is invited to attend. The price of admission is $1 for each adult 18 years of age or older. Children with parents will be admitted free of charge. Directional signs will mark the picnic site on Route 32.

To Attend Guilford College This Summer

New Paltz, June 18—Miss Elin Morseth of Oslo, Norway, a graduate student at New Paltz State Teachers College this year, has been awarded a scholarship for the summer session at Guilford College near Greensboro, N. C. Miss Morseth came to the New Paltz school under the Fulbright program. Scholarship students frequently have the problem of transportation cost. Miss Lee Azevedo of Rio de Janeiro has also been granted a scholarship at Guilford. If anyone in the vicinity is traveling toward North Carolina the end of June the two students would appreciate transportation.

The community has had the opportunity of becoming acquainted with Miss Morseth this year. The children of the Campus School know her as Miss Walker's assistant in the library. Women of the town have heard Miss Morseth tell of Norwegian customs as she has visited many organizations as guest speaker. Visiting students from other lands add much to the community as they respond willingly to requests to speak to groups. Miss Azevedo has also spoken to several groups.

Miss Morseth is a graduate of a teachers college in Norway called Statens Larerskoleklasser. When she returns in August she will prepare to enter the teaching profession there. She feels that her experiences in America will be of great benefit to her in her teaching. She said that she will miss the warmth of our climate as Norway is colder and that it has been a wonderful experience to see our country and get to know the people.

To Visit California

New York, June 18—Miss Betty Lou Trautwein and Miss Ethel Ashton, two students attending the local college are planning a two weeks vacation trip to California. Friday, June 12, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Trautwein, Sr., accompanied the girls to the airport in New York. They will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Trautwein, Jr., in Sacramento, Calif.

Phillips Appointed To C of C Vacancy

New Paltz, June 18 — The Chamber of Commerce met on June 10 at the municipal building at which time Kelly Campbell, president, appointed Harold Phillips to fill the unexpired term of Samuel Savago, secretary-manager, who died recently. It was largely due to the efforts of Savago that the Chamber of Commerce was organized in New Paltz. The appointment of Phillips is subject to approval of the board of directors and the chamber.

The Chamber of Commerce is interested in the problem of a swimming place and recreation park for New Paltz. A committee was appointed to present resolutions to the village board at their next meeting June 29. Dr. George Thomas is chairman of the committee. Members are Mrs. Marion Lane, Al Weisz and Norman Baker.

Robert Glanz is chairman of a committee to make a survey of the village dump situation. Glanz is in Michigan at present but it is one of the community projects the chamber is greatly interested in improving.

A survey of the traffic problem will be made also. Joe Tighe is in charge of this study. When the Thruway is opened the effect it will have on traffic on Main street is one thing this survey will try to determine.

Civic memberships will permit organizations in town to pay one fee for a delegate. Any organization interested in cooperating with the chamber on civic improvements is urged to send a member to the meetings. They may come as a visitor and sit in to hear but if the civic fee of $10 is paid the representative will be a voting member.

The regular meeting night is the second Tuesday of the month. Next date is July 7.

Legion Plans Dance

New Paltz, June 18—The American Legion decided at its last meeting to have a July 4 dance for the public on the street in front of the Campus School. The Legion's Industrial Exposition and Carnival will be in progress from July 6-11 on the Campus School field and the dance will be held in conjunction with the exposition.

The Sundowners will provide the music for the dance. These musicians are well known as they are heard weekly on the local radio. Dancing will begin at 8 p. m.

The exposition will feature nightly prizes which will be on display at Osterhoudt's soon. The tent layout is almost completed and all the space inside the big tent has been sold. The Legion has booked good rides and they promise a week of fun right here at home.

Gardiner

Gardiner, June 17 — William Dobbs of Arlington, N. J., is visiting his cousin, Mrs. John Hoffman.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gladding and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pretroy of Richmond Hill, L. I., spent the weekend with Mrs. Gladding's brother, John Ostrander.

Mrs. Bertha Wiese accompanied her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Wiese of Poughkeepsie, to Matamoras, Pa., Saturday when they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Keyes, Mrs. David Wiese's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Whittemore and daughter of White Plains were the weekend guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Whittemore, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lyons and son, James of Mt. Vernon, spent the weekend at the Lucy home.

Miss Loretta Nilon of New York visited her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Moran and uncle, William Dodd, during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy were Sunday guests of Mr. Michael McCormick of Bridgeport, Conn.

Pupils and teachers of the local school held a picnic at Midway Park Thursday.

Eileen Murphy, Ethel Schiro and Gregory Decker will be graduated from the eighth grade of St. Joseph's School in New Paltz Sunday.

Reformed Church News—James Michael, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fall, was baptised at the Children's Day service Sunday. The Sunday school presented a pageant, Suffer the Children, written and directed by Mrs. Oscar Jansen, superintendent. This included both pupils and teachers with songs and trumpet music by Roger Thorpe. On Friday night, the ladies' societies of the church held their annual fellowship meeting. Mrs. John Van Strien gave a talk revealing the work accomplished by the ladies since the organization of the joint committee five years ago and hoped the groups would continue their efforts. Each society gave a short skit and the actions and costumes afforded much merriment. Between the skits hymn singing was enjoyed. The Dutch Daughters met at the parsonage and made final plans for the strawberry festival to be held Friday night, June 19.

Benefit Fireworks Display July 4

There will be a fireworks display on the evening of July 4 at the Kingston-Ulster Airport field, which is located at Boice's Lane. The Ulster County Shrine Club is sponsoring the event, the entire proceeds to be devoted to the work of the local Cerebral Palsy Committee in aiding children who have been stricken with the disease. David Greenberg, shown above, posed for the picture. The fireworks display, which is expected to attract a record attendance, is part of the Shriners' program for the underprivileged children of Ulster county. (Freeman Photo)

As Pegler Sees It

incident is no more flagrant than "Time's" obdurate insistence, contrary to truth, that Senator Pat McCarran was defeated and that he paid money to a registered ex-convict of the Buggsy Siegal mob in a lawsuit in Nevada. It is just another weird development in a profession which peers out all the windows for enemies of freedom of the press but never suspects that there might be danger from an inside job.

Bloodmobile Will Visit Kingston Wednesday, July 15

The American Red Cross Regional Blood Center in New York will send a Bloodmobile to Kingston Wednesday, July 15, and the quota assigned for this visit is 150 pints of blood, Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, chairman for the local blood program announced today.

This will be an opportunity for local residents to roll up their sleeves and contribute to the National Blood Program. Mrs. Connelly said, "The armed forces will have first call on the blood we donate. But blood is needed at home, too, for military hospitals, for gamma globulin to prevent paralysis from polio in children, and to build a reserve for Civilian Defense. For blood saves lives, and whoever needs it most, gets it first," she added.

Anyone between the ages of 18 and 59, at least 110 pounds in weight and in normally good health, can give blood.

"Giving blood," Mrs. Connelly pointed out, "is safe, simple and painless. Donors are medically screened by a physician and every precaution is taken for their protection. However, it is imperative for prospective donors to make appointments before going to the collection center at municipal auditorium Wednesday, July 15. Too few donors make for inefficient operation and "walk-ins" who have not been scheduled overstrain collection capacity.

The local Red Cross office, telephone 7020, may be contacted for appointments.

Phoenicia

Phoenicia, June 18—A surprise party was held Sunday for Charles Peck on his 60th birthday. Those present were William Peck of Arkville, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Barnhart, Mrs. Mildred Storms, Steve Tresolona and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Winchell, all of Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Finley of Phoenicia. A dinner and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Port were visitors in Phoenicia Sunday.

Frances Hill has returned from a trip to Waterloo with Mrs. Elsie Shultz.

Tiskilwa Rebekah Lodge held its last meeting Tuesday evening for the season. Mrs. Bessie Quick and Mrs. Betty Sickler baked two large birthday cakes, one for Mrs. A. P. Loomis and one for Miss Mary VanSteenberg.

Mrs. Pauline Andrews has been ill but is reported to be improving.

A carrier pigeon came in from the hills and is staying around High street. While it seemed quite tame it couldn't be picked up to check the tag.

Damage Is in Millions

Anchorage, Alaska, June 18 (AP) —Fire and explosions destroyed millions of dollars worth of military installations and supplies last night at Alaska's main military port of Whittier, 72 miles southeast of here. The rampaging, wind-blown flames in less than four hours destroyed three new warehouses, two docks and other buildings. Reports here and at Seward but not confirmed by the military said that a quantity of ammunition blew up. Three persons were reported critically injured.

Girl Scout camping has three main objectives: to stimulate enjoyment and appreciation of the out-of-doors; to provide training in citizenship through community living and democratic planning; to contribute to good health and to develop resourcefulness, initiative, and self-reliance.

Democrats to Hold Father's Day Picnic

New Paltz, June 18—A family picnic with an afternoon of recreation and fun for all ages is being planned by the Democratic Club of New Paltz for Fathers' Day, Sunday, June 21, at Kellars' Bontecou Farms five miles north of New Paltz on Route 32.

Activities planned during the afternoon from 2 to 6 p. m. include softball and other games and pony rides for the youngsters. Food and beverages will be furnished by the club social committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Tullia Kellar.

The public is invited to attend. The price of admission is $1 for each adult 18 years of age or older. Children with parents will be admitted free of charge. Directional signs will mark the picnic site on Route 32.

To Attend Guilford College This Summer

New Paltz, June 18—Miss Elin Morseth of Oslo, Norway, a graduate student at New Paltz State Teachers College this year, has been awarded a scholarship for the summer session at Guilford College near Greensboro, N. C. Miss Morseth came to the New Paltz school under the Fulbright program. Scholarship students frequently have the problem of transportation cost. To Visit California

New York, June 18—Miss Betty Lou Trautwein and Miss Ethel Ashton, two students attending the local college are planning a two weeks vacation trip to California. Friday, June 12, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Trautwein, Sr., accompanied the girls to the airport in New York. They will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Trautwein, Jr., in Sacramento, Calif.

Phillips Appointed To C of C Vacancy

New Paltz, June 18 — The Chamber of Commerce met on June 10 at the municipal building at which time Kelly Campbell, president, appointed Harold Phillips to fill the unexpired term of Samuel Savago, secretary-manager, who died recently. It was largely due to the efforts of Savago that the Chamber of Commerce was organized in New Paltz. The appointment of Phillips is subject to approval of the board of directors and the chamber.

The Chamber of Commerce is interested in the problem of a swimming place and recreation park for New Paltz. A committee was appointed to present resolutions to the village board at their next meeting June 29. Dr. George Thomas is chairman of the committee. Members are Mrs. Marion Lane, Al Weisz and Norman Baker.

Robert Glanz is chairman of a committee to make a survey of the village dump situation. Glanz is in Michigan at present but it is one of the community projects the chamber is greatly interested in improving.

A survey of the traffic problem will be made also. Joe Tighe is in charge of this study. When the Thruway is opened the effect it will have on traffic on Main street is one thing this survey will try to determine.

Civic memberships will permit organizations in town to pay one fee for a delegate. Any organization interested in cooperating with the chamber on civic improvements is urged to send a member to the meetings. They may come as a visitor and sit in to hear but if the civic fee of $10 is paid the representative will be a voting member.

The regular meeting night is the second Tuesday of the month. Next date is July 7.

Legion Plans Dance

New Paltz, June 18—The American Legion decided at its last meeting to have a July 4 dance for the public on the street in front of the Campus School. The Legion's Industrial Exposition and Carnival will be in progress from July 6-11 on the Campus School field and the dance will be held in conjunction with the exposition.

The Sundowners will provide the music for the dance. These musicians are well known as they are heard weekly on the local radio. Dancing will begin at 8 p. m.

The exposition will feature nightly prizes which will be on display at Osterhoudt's soon. The tent layout is almost completed and all the space inside the big tent has been sold. The Legion has booked good rides and they promise a week of fun right here at home.

Gardiner

Gardiner, June 17 — William Dobbs of Arlington, N. J., is visiting his cousin, Mrs. John Hoffman.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gladding and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pretroy of Richmond Hill, L. I., spent the weekend with Mrs. Gladding's brother, John Ostrander.

Mrs. Bertha Wiese accompanied her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Wiese of Poughkeepsie, to Matamoras, Pa., Saturday when they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Keyes, Mrs. David Wiese's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Whittemore and daughter of White Plains were the weekend guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Whittemore, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lyons and son, James of Mt. Vernon, spent the weekend at the Lucy home.

Miss Loretta Nilon of New York visited her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Moran and uncle, William Dodd, during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy were Sunday guests of Mr. Michael McCormick of Bridgeport, Conn.

Pupils and teachers of the local school held a picnic at Midway Park Thursday.

Eileen Murphy, Ethel Schiro and Gregory Decker will be graduated from the eighth grade of St. Joseph's School in New Paltz Sunday.

Reformed Church News—James Michael, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fall, was baptised at the Children's Day service Sunday. The Sunday school presented a pageant, Suffer the Children, written and directed by Mrs. Oscar Jansen, superintendent. This included both pupils and teachers with songs and trumpet music by Roger Thorpe. On Friday night, the ladies' societies of the church held their annual fellowship meeting. Mrs. John Van Strien gave a talk revealing the work accomplished by the ladies since the organization of the joint committee five years ago and hoped the groups would continue their efforts. Each society gave a short skit and the actions and costumes afforded much merriment. Between the skits hymn singing was enjoyed. The Dutch Daughters met at the parsonage and made final plans for the strawberry festival to be held Friday night, June 19.

Benefit Fireworks Display July 4

There will be a fireworks display on the evening of July 4 at the Kingston-Ulster Airport field, which is located at Boice's Lane. The Ulster County Shriae Club is sponsoring the event, the entire proceeds to be devoted to the work of the local Cerebral Palsy Committee in aiding children who have been stricken with the disease. David Greenberg, shown above, posed for the picture. The fireworks display, which is expected to attract a record attendance, is part of the Shriners' program for the underprivileged children of Ulster county. (Freeman Photo)

As Pegler Sees It

incident is no more flagrant than "Time's" obdurate insistence, contrary to truth, that Senator Pat McCarran was defeated and that he paid money to a registered ex-convict of the Buggsy Siegal mob in a lawsuit in Nevada. It is just another weird development in a profession which peers out all the windows for enemies of freedom of the press but never suspects that there might be danger from an inside job.

Purdue Graduates Wed in Rosendale

Ellianne Lee Rider Becomes Bride of Harold Paul Odom

Miss Ellianne Lee Rider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Worthington L. Rider, 75 Lounsbery Place, became the bride of Harold Paul Odom, son of Mrs. D. Davidson, Jr., Lebanon, Ind., and of Paul Odom, Miami, Fla., at 2 p. m., Saturday, June 13, in St. Peter's Church, Rosendale. The Rev. Vincent Mullery performed the ceremony. A reception was held at Spindler's Hotel, Rosendale.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballet length rosepoint lace gown. Her short veil was attached to a lace cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Mary Wick of Philadelphia, Pa., was the maid-of-honor. With her blue tulle gown, she carried a bouquet of yellow roses. The bridesmaids, sisters of the bride, the Misses Ann Elizabeth and Linda Jean Rider, wore flowered pink and white organdy gowns, and carried pink roses.

Guy Albertson of Mount Vernon was best man. Serving as ushers were Warren Russell, this city, and Herbert Schullman of North Bergen, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Odom left for a wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mass. They will reside in Manchester, Conn. For traveling, the bride chose a blue summer suit and white accessories.

Mrs. Odom was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '49, and from Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., class of '53, where she was a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

Mr. Odom also was graduated from Purdue University, class of '53, and will be associated with Pratt Whitney Company, Hartford, Conn.

Cites Women's Roles In Korean War as Flight Stewardesses

BY DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

We haven't heard much about women's part in the Korean war, but one group of courageous girls gets a belated bow on the third anniversary of the start of the Korean airlift, at the end of this month.

They are the stewardesses who have flown the airlift since its inception, June 30, 1950, expediting U. S. service personnel to the battle zone and evacuating American citizens.

Second Line of Defense

Typical of the alert, competent young men serving on the 500 commercial aircraft making up this second line of defense is pretty Barbara Fisher, of Philadelphia, Pan American stewardess who made the first stratocruiser run to Korea in 1950 and continued flying the airlift for two years. Says she:

"I was pulled off my regular run in the Pacific-Alaska division to go over with that first plane load of boys in stiff new uniforms. Who didn't seem to realize that we could be in the middle of a national emergency so fast.

"We delivered the service men and picked up the first load of evacuees for the trip back. Only women and children were on the return trip—some were widows of U. S. soldiers who had been killed in the first few days of fighting. All of them had been rushed from their homes, with time only to snatch the barest essentials.

Bewildered and Frightened

"All were exhausted and in a state of shock. There were 23 children aboard, bewildered and frightened. I realized the best thing I could do was to take care of the children and give the mothers a rest.

"So I organized a children's party in the lounge of the Stratocruiser 25,000 feet above the Pacific. It was a good party, too. We had ginger ale and sandwiches, and we made paper hats and cut out paper dolls. Somehow I managed to keep the tykes amused and entertained, and helped them forget the terror of the last few days."

Aid Battle-weary Service Men

The airlift operation was organized almost overnight by U. S. commercial airlines, at request of the Defense Department, to transport men and materials across the Pacific and bring back U. S. dependents and personnel on leave. The amazing efficient operation was accomplished by siphoning off 10 per cent of the nation's four-engine air fleet without interrupting regular passenger schedules. Today the airlift continues, working a 6,700-mile aerial conveyor belt across the Pacific, under the direction of MATS—and with it go the stewardesses on each plane, who have learned to be mother-confessors to battle-weary service men, nurses for frightened children and comforters for grief-stricken war widows.

To Barbara Fisher, as to the other stewardesses on the run, the airlift is all in the day's work. In her seven years with the airlines, Barbara has flown a million-and-a-half miles, visited most of the far corners of the earth, from New Zealand to Africa, with most of the stops between. At present she shuttles between New York, Lisbon and Johannesburg, South Africa. Does she miss the airlift? Well, Yes. Because—

Men Are Grateful

"It was wonderful to be the first woman to talk to our service men after six months or a year in the front lines. They needed somebody to talk to, and they were grateful to find an American girl who spoke the same language as a sister or girl-friend back home."

Swarthout, Mrs. Helen Terwilliger, Stephen Hyatt, principal School 6, Miss Olive Marsh, and Mrs. Hyatt. (Freeman photo)

Choate School Athletes Are Graduates

MICHAEL DAVID RAKOV

JAMES ROMER FULLER

Two local students, both prominent in athletics, have been graduated from The Choate School, Wallingford, Conn. At the school, Michael David Rakov, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold L. Rakov, 117 Albany avenue, was co-captain of the football team and played varsity basketball. He was also a member of St. Andrew's Cabinet, which sponsors a summer camp near Wallingford, for underprivileged boys from New Haven and New York. Mr. Rakov will enter Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., in the Fall.

James Romer Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Fuller, Noones Lane, played on the varsity football team at Choate, and was co-captain of the hockey team, and secretary-treasurer of the athletic association. He plans to enter Lafayette (Pa.) College in the Fall.

HOME BUREAU NEWS

Kerhonkson Unit

The Kerhonkson Unit of the Home Bureau met Wednesday night, June 10, at the home of Mrs. Henry R. Decker, with Mrs. Floyd Schoonmaker as co-hostess, for the final meeting of the current year until the group reconvenes in September.

The group met at 7 p. m. for a covered dish supper, with the main dish, of Salisbury steak, prepared by the hostesses, supplemented by an assortment of covered dishes furnished by those present.

Following the social hour, Mrs. Oscar Groves, chairman, presided at the business meeting.

The reignation of Mrs. Martin Somers as secretary, for the new year was read with regret. By an unanimous vote of members present, Mrs. Lester A. Wynkoop was chosen to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Frank Pugliese, one of the delegates who attended the first annual meeting Southern District of Home Bureaus, reported briefly to the group on her experiences.

Mrs. Neil Olsen, vice chairman, and Mrs. Anna Poole, the incoming chairman for the coming year, reported on the chairman's meeting which they attended at New Paltz. A brief resume was made of the plans for the coming year, including the interesting projects that will be a part of the year's work.

Mrs. S. Abrahams, who has been corresponding with the United Nations, relative to scheduling a fall trip for one group and other members of other groups who will join, reported no progress as to any definite date and time.

A word of praise for the fine things accomplished and a vote of thanks for same, were given to the retiring staff of officers; also to Mrs. Wynkoop, for the photography work she did periodically throughout the year, to help make the records more complete.

J. C. Penney Employes Honored at Dinner

Two employes of the J. C. Penney Company were honored at a dinner party in Judie's Tuesday evening by associates at the Wall street store. Edward L. Tomczyk (right) assistant manager, presented a brief case to Byron S. Chatham, (left) local manager for 17 years and company employe for 25 years, who has been transferred to the store at Troy Pa.

Mrs. Catherine Wright, who is resigning, was also honored and presented with a piece of luggage. She was at the local store for seven years.

Gerald Allen to Wed

New York, June 18 (Special to the Freeman)—The approaching marriage of Miss Joan Eulalie Garner, of 1036 Bucida Road, Delray Beach, Fla., to Gerald Grant Allen, of 28 West Chestnut street, Kingston, was disclosed here Wednesday when the couple secured a marriage license in the municipal building.

The couple said they would be married on Saturday, June 20, in St. Thomas Church here. Dr. Roeliff H. Brooks will officiate at the ceremony.

Mr. Allen was born in New York, the son of Greff and Mary Thorne Allen. The bride-elect, a teacher, is the daughter of Calvin W. and Eulalie V. P. Hagen Garner. She is a native of Delray.

Pope Pius XI was in office for 32 years and churchmen found it significant that his term was longer than the term which tradition says St. Peter served — 25 years.

Correction

Miss Joan Peters, not John Peters as previously listed, will be the valedictorian at the annual school closing and graduation of Immanuel Lutheran Christian Day School, tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Purdue Graduates Wed in Rosendale

Ellianne Lee Rider Becomes Bride of Harold Paul Odom

Miss Ellianne Lee Rider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Worthington L. Rider, 75 Lounsbery Place, became the bride of Harold Paul Odom, son of Mrs. D. Davidson, Jr., Lebanon, Ind., and of Paul Odom, Miami, Fla., at 2 p. m., Saturday, June 13, in St. Peter's Church, Rosendale. The Rev. Vincent Mullery performed the ceremony. A reception was held at Spindler's Hotel, Rosendale.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballet length rosepoint lace gown. Her short veil was attached to a lace cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Mary Wick of Philadelphia, Pa., was the maid-of-honor. With her blue tulle gown, she carried a bouquet of yellow roses. The bridesmaids, sisters of the bride, the Misses Ann Elizabeth and Linda Jean Rider, wore flowered pink and white organdy gowns, and carried pink roses.

Guy Albertson of Mount Vernon was best man. Serving as ushers were Warren Russell, this city, and Herbert Schullman of North Bergen, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Odom left for a wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mass. They will reside in Manchester, Conn. For traveling, the bride chose a blue summer suit and white accessories.

Mrs. Odom was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '49, and from Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., class of '53, where she was a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

Mr. Odom also was graduated from Purdue University, class of '53, and will be associated with Pratt Whitney Company, Hartford, Conn.

AP Women's Editor

We haven't heard much about women's part in the Korean war, but one group of courageous girls gets a belated bow on the third anniversary of the start of the Korean airlift, at the end of this month.

They are the stewardesses who have flown the airlift since its inception, June 30, 1950, expediting U. S. service personnel to the battle zone and evacuating American citizens.

Second Line of Defense

Typical of the alert, competent young men serving on the 500 commercial aircraft making up this second line of defense is pretty Barbara Fisher, of Philadelphia, Pan American stewardess who made the first stratocruiser run to Korea in 1950 and continued flying the airlift for two years. Says she:

"I was pulled off my regular run in the Pacific-Alaska division to go over with that first plane load of boys in stiff new uniforms. Who didn't seem to realize that we could be in the middle of a national emergency so fast.

"We delivered the service men and picked up the first load of evacuees for the trip back. Only women and children were on the return trip—some were widows of U. S. soldiers who had been killed in the first few days of fighting. All of them had been rushed from their homes, with time only to snatch the barest essentials.

Bewildered and Frightened

"All were exhausted and in a state of shock. There were 23 children aboard, bewildered and frightened. I realized the best thing I could do was to take care of the children and give the mothers a rest.

"So I organized a children's party in the lounge of the Stratocruiser 25,000 feet above the Pacific. It was a good party, too. We had ginger ale and sandwiches, and we made paper hats and cut out paper dolls. Somehow I managed to keep the tykes amused and entertained, and helped them forget the terror of the last few days."

Aid Battle-weary Service Men

The airlift operation was organized almost overnight by U. S. commercial airlines, at request of the Defense Department, to transport men and materials across the Pacific and bring back U. S. dependents and personnel on leave. The amazing efficient operation was accomplished by siphoning off 10 per cent of the nation's four-engine air fleet without interrupting regular passenger schedules. Today the airlift continues, working a 6,700-mile aerial conveyor belt across the Pacific, under the direction of MATS—and with it go the stewardesses on each plane, who have learned to be mother-confessors to battle-weary service men, nurses for frightened children and comforters for grief-stricken war widows.

To Barbara Fisher, as to the other stewardesses on the run, the airlift is all in the day's work. In her seven years with the airlines, Barbara has flown a million-and-a-half miles, visited most of the far corners of the earth, from New Zealand to Africa, with most of the stops between. At present she shuttles between New York, Lisbon and Johannesburg, South Africa. Does she miss the airlift? Well, Yes. Because—

"It was wonderful to be the first woman to talk to our service men after six months or a year in the front lines. They needed somebody to talk to, and they were grateful to find an American girl who spoke the same language as a sister or girl-friend back home."

MICHAEL DAVID RAKOV

JAMES ROMER FULLER

Two local students, both prominent in athletics, have been graduated from The Choate School, Wallingford, Conn. At the school, Michael David Rakov, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold L. Rakov, 117 Albany avenue, was co-captain of the football team and played varsity basketball. He was also a member of St. Andrew's Cabinet, which sponsors a summer camp near Wallingford, for underprivileged boys from New Haven and New York. Mr. Rakov will enter Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., in the Fall.

James Romer Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Fuller, Noones Lane, played on the varsity football team at Choate, and was co-captain of the hockey team, and secretary-treasurer of the athletic association. He plans to enter Lafayette (Pa.) College in the Fall.

HOME BUREAU NEWS

Kerhonkson Unit

The Kerhonkson Unit of the Home Bureau met Wednesday night, June 10, at the home of Mrs. Henry R. Decker, with Mrs. Floyd Schoonmaker as co-hostess, for the final meeting of the current year until the group reconvenes in September.

The group met at 7 p. m. for a covered dish supper, with the main dish, of Salisbury steak, prepared by the hostesses, supplemented by an assortment of covered dishes furnished by those present.

Following the social hour, Mrs. Oscar Groves, chairman, presided at the business meeting.

The reignation of Mrs. Martin Somers as secretary, for the new year was read with regret. By an unanimous vote of members present, Mrs. Lester A. Wynkoop was chosen to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Frank Pugliese, one of the delegates who attended the first annual meeting Southern District of Home Bureaus, reported briefly to the group on her experiences.

Mrs. Neil Olsen, vice chairman, and Mrs. Anna Poole, the incoming chairman for the coming year, reported on the chairman's meeting which they attended at New Paltz. A brief resume was made of the plans for the coming year, including the interesting projects that will be a part of the year's work.

Mrs. S. Abrahams, who has been corresponding with the United Nations, relative to scheduling a fall trip for one group and other members of other groups who will join, reported no progress as to any definite date and time.

A word of praise for the fine things accomplished and a vote of thanks for same, were given to the retiring staff of officers; also to Mrs. Wynkoop, for the photography work she did periodically throughout the year, to help make the records more complete.

J. C. Penney Employes Honored at Dinner

Two employes of the J. C. Penney Company were honored at a dinner party in Judie's Tuesday evening by associates at the Wall street store. Edward L. Tomczyk (right) assistant manager, presented a brief case to Byron S. Chatham, (left) local manager for 17 years and company employe for 25 years, who has been transferred to the store at Troy Pa.

Mrs. Catherine Wright, who is resigning, was also honored and presented with a piece of luggage. She was at the local store for seven years.

Gerald Allen to Wed

New York, June 18 (Special to the Freeman)—The approaching marriage of Miss Joan Eulalie Garner, of 1036 Bucida Road, Delray Beach, Fla., to Gerald Grant Allen, of 28 West Chestnut street, Kingston, was disclosed here Wednesday when the couple secured a marriage license in the municipal building.

The couple said they would be married on Saturday, June 20, in St. Thomas Church here. Dr. Roeliff H. Brooks will officiate at the ceremony.

Mr. Allen was born in New York, the son of Greff and Mary Thorne Allen. The bride-elect, a teacher, is the daughter of Calvin W. and Eulalie V. P. Hagen Garner. She is a native of Delray.

Pope Pius XI was in office for 32 years and churchmen found it significant that his term was longer than the term which tradition says St. Peter served — 25 years.

Correction

Miss Joan Peters, not John Peters as previously listed, will be the valedictorian at the annual school closing and graduation of Immanuel Lutheran Christian Day School, tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Ulster Garden Club Speaker Discusses Birds in Gardens

An illustrated talk on Birds in Our Gardens and How to Attend Them, was given by Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Dunbar of Lomontville, at a meeting of the Ulster Garden Club in the Senate House Museum on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, president, and Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton were hostesses. As program chairman, Mrs. Herbert Shultz introduced the guests, following a short business meeting.

Imitates Bird Calls

The birds commonly found in gardens in this section of the country, were described by Mr. Dunbar. He gave imitations of their calls, and spoke of their value in a garden. Besides the joy birds contribute to the garden owner, said Mr. Dunbar, they play a very practical role as well, in that they eat Japanese beetles, a variety of bugs and worms.

As the speaker introduced the individual birds, Mrs. Dunbar identified them for the large audience by drawing colored sketches.

Garden Club members were fascinated by what they termed as one of the most interesting meetings in the history of the club.

The birds identified were classified as to permanent, summer, and transient. The permanent group includes chickadee, woodpecker, down and hairy; nuthatch, white-breasted, cardinal, blue-jay, cedar waxwing, starling, English sparrow, and goldfinch. The summer birds comprise the robin, bluebird, chipping sparrow, scarlet tanager, wood thrush, vircos, warblers, rose-breasted grosbeak, oriole, house wren, flycatchers, phoebe, least, and pewee; cuckoo, towhae, catbird and hummingbird.

In the transient group were the sparrow, white-throated and the white-crowned; kinglet, ruby-crowned, golden-crowned, evening grosbeak, warblers, purple finch, pine siskin, redpoll, red-breasted nuthatch, and the brown creeper.

Mr. Dunbar took his degrees at Harvard and Columbia Universities and has taught science, both natural and mathematical, in high schools. He has had charge of nature work in camps and has gone into detailed botanical studies of the Ulster county district in cooperation with the New York state curator of plants in Albany, for whom he is now making a collection of Ulster county mounts for the state herbarium.

Mrs Dunbar's training in art work was under the late Isabelle D. Sprague-Smith, and Miss Lillian D. Link, sculptor, in New York.

After the delightful as well as educational talk, punch and cookies were served. Mrs. Hutton presided at the punch bowl.

NAACP Program Scheduled

The Ulster county, New York branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will hold a program at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, June 21, at the Progressive Baptist Church, 9 Hone street. The program will be focused upon the national and local accomplishments of the association.

The Rev. L. A. Weaver, pastor of the church will deliver the opening remarks. The president of the local branch and other members will answer questions on the work of the association. The full support of all members has been requested. The public is cordially invited to attend. The Rev. Charles Jackson and Allen W. Burton, are in charge of program arrangements.

Ulster Park Pupils to Enter MJM

St. Ursula Alumnae Has Honored Guest, Presents Officers

The Alumnae Association of the Academy of St. Ursula entertained Sunday afternoon at a reception to honor the Rev. Mother Marie Veronique, Mother General of the Sisters of St. Ursula, Tours, France, who is visiting at the local convent.

Miss Madeline Berg, president, welcomed and introduced the guest of honor. Miss Rose Ann Crosby also presented a message of welcome in French.

Recently elected officers were recognized. They are Miss June Coniglio, president; Miss Catherine Cater, vice-president; Miss Anne Bernice Keating, secretary; and Miss Anne Dwyer, treasurer.

Taking part in the entertainment program were Miss Yolanda Modica, Mrs. William Ryan, Miss Anne Roach, and Miss Clara Lewis, who played a Chopin composition for piano. Mother Mary Eileen and Miss Veronica Coniglio were the piano accompanists. The program was in charge of Miss Rosemary Conway and Miss Roach. Mrs. Harold Acker was refreshments chairman.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Roach of 38 Hoffman street, attended the recent commencement exercises at The Citadel, Charleston, S. C., when their son, Thomas S., was graduated. Before returning to the city on Thursday, they visited Myrtle Beach, S. C., and Williamsburg, Monticello, and Big Meadows, Va. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Poulin of Washington, D. C. accompanied the couple. Mrs. Poulin is the sister of Mrs. Roach.

Miss Patricia Sherman, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Sherman, Kerhonkson, will enter the University of Southern Florida in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Terwilliger of 319 Broadway, left today for Rockville Centre, where they will be the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Russell Ireland.

Miss Violet E. Post of Haverstraw, was the guest this week of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Post, Henry street.

Miss Sally Ward Swartzmiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller, 139 Fairview avenue, has completed advanced studies at the Royal University of Copenhagen. Following a tour in Europe, she will attend the University of Perugia during the summer. Miss Swartzmiller is expected to return to her home in August. Ulster Garden Club Speaker Discusses Birds in Gardens

An illustrated talk on Birds in Our Gardens and How to Attend Them, was given by Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Dunbar of Lomontville, at a meeting of the Ulster Garden Club in the Senate House Museum on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, president, and Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton were hostesses. As program chairman, Mrs. Herbert Shultz introduced the guests, following a short business meeting.

Imitates Bird Calls

The birds commonly found in gardens in this section of the country, were described by Mr. Dunbar. He gave imitations of their calls, and spoke of their value in a garden. Besides the joy birds contribute to the garden owner, said Mr. Dunbar, they play a very practical role as well, in that they eat Japanese beetles, a variety of bugs and worms.

As the speaker introduced the individual birds, Mrs. Dunbar identified them for the large audience by drawing colored sketches.

Garden Club members were fascinated by what they termed as one of the most interesting meetings in the history of the club.

The birds identified were classified as to permanent, summer, and transient. The permanent group includes chickadee, woodpecker, down and hairy; nuthatch, white-breasted, cardinal, blue-jay, cedar waxwing, starling, English sparrow, and goldfinch. The summer birds comprise the robin, bluebird, chipping sparrow, scarlet tanager, wood thrush, vircos, warblers, rose-breasted grosbeak, oriole, house wren, flycatchers, phoebe, least, and pewee; cuckoo, towhae, catbird and hummingbird.

In the transient group were the sparrow, white-throated and the white-crowned; kinglet, ruby-crowned, golden-crowned, evening grosbeak, warblers, purple finch, pine siskin, redpoll, red-breasted nuthatch, and the brown creeper.

Mr. Dunbar took his degrees at Harvard and Columbia Universities and has taught science, both natural and mathematical, in high schools. He has had charge of nature work in camps and has gone into detailed botanical studies of the Ulster county district in cooperation with the New York state curator of plants in Albany, for whom he is now making a collection of Ulster county mounts for the state herbarium.

Mrs. Dunbar's training in art work was under the late Isabelle D. Sprague-Smith, and Miss Lillian D. Link, sculptor, in New York.

After the delightful as well as educational talk, punch and cookies were served. Mrs. Hutton presided at the punch bowl.

Sixty Area Golfers Start in Herdegen Memorial Saturday

More than 50 of the area's finest amateur golfers, seeking the Ulster county amateur championship now held by Clarence "Dubby" Raichle of Twaalfskill, will tee off in the first round of the third annual Father Herdegen Memorial tournament at high noon Saturday at Shawangunk Country Club at Ellenville.

First off the tee will be Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., tounament chairman at Wiltwyck and first player to file an entry for this year's tournament.

Holcomb will be accompanied by Joe Blackwell, Sr., representing the host club and Bill Kaufman, of Saugerties, who plays out of the Rip Van Winkle Country Club at Palenville.

George Hughes of Twaalfskill won the 1951 inaugural, a 54-hole affair, with a two-under 208. This included a spectacular "63" at Woodstock.

Raichle's winning total last year for 72 holes was 302, 22-over par for the grind played at Palenville, Woodstock, Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck.

Use of winter rules this season is expected to improve the scoring on all fronts.

Raichle Is Choice of Many

In many quarters, Raichle is rated a strong favorite to become the first repeat champion in the tournament. He has been hitting the ball consistently well and fashioned a 69 in the recent Member-Guest at Twaalfskill. Earlier he starred in the Central Hudson tourney at Poughkeepsie and overpowered the rolling, hilly Shawangunk layout with a "33" last week.

His strongest opposition can be expected from George Hughes, 1951 champion and last year's runnerup who leads the two-year totals by a comfortable margin.

Besides the defending champion, who is blazing at the peak of his game, the field will include such redoubtable performers as former champion George Hughes and Alvin Boice of Twaalfskill, Bill Van Aken of the IBM Club in Poughkeepsie and Boyer Gonzales, the Woodstock champion.

Shift to Woodstock Sunday

The tournament swings to Woodstock Country Club Sunday at 10 a. m. and concludes in Kingston next weekend.

The 27 low scorers at the end of 36 holes will resume on Saturday, June 27, at Wiltwyck and conclude the tournament at Twaalfskill the next day.

In previous years the tournament, a memorial to the late Father Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter's Church, was an invitational affair restricted to players with handicaps of 10 or less.

Strongest Field in Years

Father Joseph A. Geis, pastor of St. Peter's, will present the Herdegen trophy to the winner at a buffet luncheon for the finalists, who will be guests of Twaalfskill.

Besides the club champions listed above, Raichle will have to beat off the challenge of a distinguished field that includes many other prominent names in area golf. Among them are Allen Waterous of Woodstock, who posted a 66 on Wednesday; Maurice and Dick Davenport, the potent father-son combination at Wiltwyck, J. Watson Bailey, Bob Daley, Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., Roy Vogt and others.

The younger group features Charles T. Turck, Charles H. Gaffney, Billy Waterous and Jim Mellin of Woodstock, Bill Kaufman, Clyde Wonderly, Jr., Norman Foster, Harold Van Aken, ace of the KHS squad, Ronnie Marks, Jim Pruden, Herb Waterous.

Shawangunk, host club for the first time, will pin its hopes on an entry list that includes Joe Blackwell Sr., Timmie Bilyou, Harold Harris, J. Carroll Schipp and George Barthel.

The schedule for the first two days is found elsewhere on today's sports page.

C. J. Turck's 137 Net Leads President's Cup

Action Ends Sunday At Twaalfskill Club

Turck, who made a close run for the cup in 1952, posted his leading score with gross rounds of 78 and 73 for a 156 total, with 14 handicap. He is the only player among the early finishers to net under 140.

Club and city champion, Alvin Boice, Lon Smith and Joe O'Connor of Rosendale are tied with net 142s. Boice fired the best actual 36-hole medal of 145 with rounds of 76 and a sparkling one-under-par 69. Boice carries only 3 handicap. Lou Smith shot 156 gross and had 14 handicap.

Fabian Russell of Saugerties finished with 144 on a 178 gross and 33 handicap. Tied at 145 are Charles H. Gaffney and Robert Russell.

Several standout players, including George Hughes, have yet to report but the feeling is that Turck's 137 will stand a lot of beating.

The winner receives the trophy donated by President Floyd W. Flint.

The summaries:

Charles J. Turck, 78-73-151-14-137.

Joseph O'Connor, 78-85-160-18-142.

Lou Smith, 79-77-156 14-142.

Alvin Boice, 76-69-145-3-142.

KHS Hurler Fans 14 Batters for Seasonal High

Crosby and Vogt Pound Home Runs

The have-nots of the City Baseball League clashed headon yesterday at the Athletic Field and—barring a tie—it figured that one of them would wind up with even less.

That happened to be the Kingston Indians, who dropped a 16-1 decision to the inspired pitching of Gerry Bechtold of the Dobler crew.

Neither team had won a game until yesterday and now the Indians are settled in the bottom of the loop with four straight losses, while Doblers have their first victory in five starts.

Bechtold, late of the Kingston High School varsity staff, stifled the Braves with two scattered hits, walked only two and struck out 14 for a seasonal record in the twilight loop.

Crosby, Vogt Homer

Four of the Brewmeisters collected two hits, including home run smashes by Link Crosby and Allan Vogt, who knocked in three runs with his homer and single.

Bechtold, the most impressive pitcher the league has watched this season, lost his shutout in the third and it took three Dobler bobbles to get Ronnie Brandt across with the run. Ironically, they were the only miscues charged to the winners.

It was never a contest after Doblers greeted Brandt with a six-run outburst in the first inning and continued their clubbing against Bob Peterson.

George Glaser slammed two hits and made a great defensive play on Peterson in the fourth. Lee Barringer and Don Lyons also hit safely twice for the winners. The two Indian safeties went to Bob Peterson and Bob Gordon.

Batting—Gene Stephens, Boston Red Sox, set a modern Major league record as he singled twice and doubled in the seventh inning against Detroit when the Red Sox scored 17 runs.

Pitching—Eddie Lopat, New York Yankees, struck out two, walked nobody and allowed eight hits in winning his 13th straight game over two seasons, against St. Louis, 5-0.

Yanks Gain Second Win In Esopus

The Yankees squared their seasonal record at two wins and two losses in the Esopus Little League, by clubbing the Dodgers, 18 to 6, at Ross Field.

The results left the two teams tied for second place with two wins and two setbacks. Giants lead with four straight victories.

While Fred Soehlein and Jay Van Loan collaborated in a seven-hitter, the Yankees raked three Dodger hurlers for 11 safeties, including an inside-the-park homer by Al MacIntosh. Of the three Dodger pitchers—Charlie Turner, John Dailey and Richard Terpening, Turner was charged with the loss.

The Yankees scored in every inning and four times came up with four runs. Leonard Anthony, Yankee third sacker, socked "3 for 3"—all singles. Jay Van Loan rapped a pair of doubles and scored four runs. MacIntosh had a double besides the homer and scored five runs. Don Tinnie hit two singles.

Paul Letus went "3 for 3" for the losers, a double and two singles and Charlie Turner singled and tripled.

Indians Scalp Braves, 8 to 5 To Tie Tigers in National

The Indians scalped the Braves, 8 to 5, yesterday at Hasbrouck Park to tie the Tigers for the National Little League lead at 6 wins and 2 losses.

Norman Happner pitched three-hit ball and struck out 10, while the Indians parlayed six blows off Billy Huber and Bob Coughlin into eight runs.

The winners scored five times in the second and twice in the third for a 7-3 lead. They added another in the sixth and the Braves, losing their sixth game in eight starts, staged a mild rally for two in their half of the sixth.

The nine hits in the game went to nine different players and there were no extra base blows. Frank Cavano had a single and scored two runs for the Indians.

The week's schedule ends today with the Pirates and Braves fighting it out to avoid the cellar. They have identical records of 2 wins and 6 losses.

Sixty Area Golfers Start in Herdegen Memorial Saturday

More than 50 of the area's finest amateur golfers, seeking the Ulster county amateur championship now held by Clarence "Dubby" Raichle of Twaalfskill, will tee off in the first round of the third annual Father Herdegen Memorial tournament at high noon Saturday at Shawangunk Country Club at Ellenville.

First off the tee will be Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., tounament chairman at Wiltwyck and first player to file an entry for this year's tournament.

Holcomb will be accompanied by Joe Blackwell, Sr., representing the host club and Bill Kaufman, of Saugerties, who plays out of the Rip Van Winkle Country Club at Palenville.

Pre-tournament feeling is that a 36-hole total of 160 will safely qualify a player for the finals.

George Hughes of Twaalfskill won the 1951 inaugural, a 54-hole affair, with a two-under 208. This included a spectacular "63" at Woodstock.

Raichle's winning total last year for 72 holes was 302, 22-over par for the grind played at Palenville, Woodstock, Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck.

Use of winter rules this season is expected to improve the scoring on all fronts.

Raichle Is Choice of Many

In many quarters, Raichle is rated a strong favorite to become the first repeat champion in the tournament. He has been hitting the ball consistently well and fashioned a 69 in the recent Member-Guest at Twaalfskill. Earlier he starred in the Central Hudson tourney at Poughkeepsie and overpowered the rolling, hilly Shawangunk layout with a "33" last week.

His strongest opposition can be expected from George Hughes, 1951 champion and last year's runnerup who leads the two-year totals by a comfortable margin.

Besides the defending champion, who is blazing at the peak of his game, the field will include such redoubtable performers as former champion George Hughes and Alvin Boice of Twaalfskill, Bill Van Aken of the IBM Club in Poughkeepsie and Boyer Gonzales, the Woodstock champion.

Shift to Woodstock Sunday

The tournament swings to Woodstock Country Club Sunday at 10 a. m. and concludes in Kingston next weekend.

The 27 low scorers at the end of 36 holes will resume on Saturday, June 27, at Wiltwyck and conclude the tournament at Twaalfskill the next day.

In previous years the tournament, a memorial to the late Father Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter's Church, was an invitational affair restricted to players with handicaps of 10 or less.

Strongest Field in Years

Father Joseph A. Geis, pastor of St. Peter's, will present the Herdegen trophy to the winner at a buffet luncheon for the finalists, who will be guests of Twaalfskill.

Besides the club champions listed above, Raichle will have to beat off the challenge of a distinguished field that includes many other prominent names in area golf. Among them are Allen Waterous of Woodstock, who posted a 66 on Wednesday; Maurice and Dick Davenport, the potent father-son combination at Wiltwyck, J. Watson Bailey, Bob Daley, Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., Roy Vogt and others.

The younger group features Charles T. Turck, Charles H. Gaffney, Billy Waterous and Jim Mellin of Woodstock, Bill Kaufman, Clyde Wonderly, Jr., Norman Foster, Harold Van Aken, ace of the KHS squad, Ronnie Marks, Jim Pruden, Herb Waterous.

Shawangunk, host club for the first time, will pin its hopes on an entry list that includes Joe Blackwell Sr., Timmie Bilyou, Harold Harris, J. Carroll Schipp and George Barthel.

The schedule for the first two days is found elsewhere on today's sports page.

C. J. Turck's 137 Net Leads President's Cup

Action Ends Sunday At Twaalfskill Club

Competition in the annual President's Cup tournament at Twaalfskill winds up Sunday, with Charles J. "Jimmy" Turck's 36-hole net total of 137 looming as a difficult figure to beat.

Turck, who made a close run for the cup in 1952, posted his leading score with gross rounds of 78 and 73 for a 156 total, with 14 handicap. He is the only player among the early finishers to net under 140.

Club and city champion, Alvin Boice, Lon Smith and Joe O'Connor of Rosendale are tied with net 142s. Boice fired the best actual 36-hole medal of 145 with rounds of 76 and a sparkling one-under-par 69. Boice carries only 3 handicap. Lou Smith shot 156 gross and had 14 handicap.

Fabian Russell of Saugerties finished with 144 on a 178 gross and 33 handicap. Tied at 145 are Charles H. Gaffney and Robert Russell.

Several standout players, including George Hughes, have yet to report but the feeling is that Turck's 137 will stand a lot of beating.

The winner receives the trophy donated by President Floyd W. Flint.

The summaries:

Charles J. Turck, 78-73-151-14-137.

Joseph O'Connor, 78-85-160-18-142.

Lou Smith, 79-77-156 14-142.

KHS Hurler Fans 14 Batters for Seasonal High

Crosby and Vogt Pound Home Runs

The have-nots of the City Baseball League clashed headon yesterday at the Athletic Field and —barring a tie—it figured that one of them would wind up with even less.

That happened to be the Kingston Indians, who dropped a 16-1 decision to the inspired pitching of Gerry Bechtold of the Dobler crew.

Neither team had won a game until yesterday and now the Indians are settled in the bottom of the loop with four straight losses, while Doblers have their first victory in five starts.

Bechtold, late of the Kingston High School varsity staff, stifled the Braves with two scattered hits, walked only two and struck out 14 for a seasonal record in the twilight loop.

Crosby, Vogt Homer

Four of the Brewmeisters collected two hits, including home run smashes by Link Crosby and Allan Vogt, who knocked in three runs with his homer and single.

Bechtold, the most impressive pitcher the league has watched this season, lost his shutout in the third and it took three Dobler bobbles to get Ronnie Brandt across with the run. Ironically, they were the only miscues charged to the winners.

It was never a contest after Doblers greeted Brandt with a six-run outburst in the first inning and continued their clubbing against Bob Peterson.

George Glaser slammed two hits and made a great defensive play on Peterson in the fourth. Lee Barringer and Don Lyons also hit safely twice for the winners. The two Indian safeties went to Bob Peterson and Bob Gordon.

Batting—Gene Stephens, Boston Red Sox, set a modern Major league record as he singled twice and doubled in the seventh inning against Detroit when the Red Sox scored 17 runs.

Pitching—Eddie Lopat, New York Yankees, struck out two, walked nobody and allowed eight hits in winning his 13th straight game over two seasons, against St. Louis, 5-0.

Yanks Gain Second Win In Esopus

The Yankees squared their seasonal record at two wins and two losses in the Esopus Little League, by clubbing the Dodgers, 18 to 6, at Ross Field.

The results left the two teams tied for second place with two wins and two setbacks. Giants lead with four straight victories.

While Fred Soehlein and Jay Van Loan collaborated in a seven-hitter, the Yankees raked three Dodger hurlers for 11 safeties, including an inside-the-park homer by Al MacIntosh. Of the three Dodger pitchers—Charlie Turner, John Dailey and Richard Terpening, Turner was charged with the loss.

The Yankees scored in every inning and four times came up with four runs. Leonard Anthony, Yankee third sacker, socked "3 for 3"—all singles. Jay Van Loan rapped a pair of doubles and scored four runs. MacIntosh had a double besides the homer and scored five runs. Don Tinnie hit two singles.

Paul Letus went "3 for 3" for the losers, a double and two singles and Charlie Turner singled and tripled.

Indians Scalp Braves, 8 to 5 To Tie Tigers in National

The Indians scalped the Braves, 8 to 5, yesterday at Hasbrouck Park to tie the Tigers for the National Little League lead at 6 wins and 2 losses.

Norman Happner pitched three-hit ball and struck out 10, while the Indians parlayed six blows off Billy Huber and Bob Coughlin into eight runs.

The winners scored five times in the second and twice in the third for a 7-3 lead. They added another in the sixth and the Braves, losing their sixth game in eight starts, staged a mild rally for two in their half of the sixth.

The nine hits in the game went to nine different players and there were no extra base blows. Frank Cavano had a single and scored two runs for the Indians.

The week's schedule ends today with the Pirates and Braves fighting it out to avoid the cellar. They have identical records of 2 wins and 6 losses.

Dodger-Cardinal Series Makes Braves' Job Easy

They Watch as Foes Commit Hari-Kari

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers are doing their level best to insure the 1953 National League pennant for the upstart Milwaukee Braves.

The two would-be contenders have met nine times this spring. The Dodgers won the four played in Brooklyn and the Cardinals have just finished sweeping their second series—a total of five games—from Brooklyn in St. Louis.

When you can set up a situation where two of the top teams are busily engaged in beating each other, it makes it a lot easier for a third team to grab the top rung and hold on.

Braves Rained Out

Milwaukee — certainly not an outfit to let such a golden opportunity slip by—gained three full games during Brooklyn's decline and fall in St. Louis. And because the Braves, too, have been winning, the only progress the Cardinals have made towards first place is the half game they picked up yesterday when Milwaukee was rained out.

The Cardinals beat the Dodgers, 12-4, in the windup of their series, played with the mercury pushing 100 degrees. The Chicago Cubs moved within two percentage points of getting out of the cellar as they whipped Pittsburgh, 8-4. New York defeated Cincinnati, 6-3.

The onrushing New York Yankees subdued St. Louis twice, 5-0 and 3-0, stretching their amazing American League lead to 11 games over Cleveland. The Indians had to go 12 innings to beat Philadelphia, 6-4.

Boston broke seven modern records for single-inning scoring by pushing across 17 runs in the seventh against Detroit. The Red Sox went on to win, 23-3, making a total of 40 runs scored off Tiger pitching.

Chicago defeated Washington, 8-4, with six runs in the ninth inning.

Carl Erskine, who used to be able to beat the Cardinals just by tossing his glove on the mound, lasted only four innings and gave up six runs—three of them on a bases loaded double by Stan Musial. The loss marked the 10th straight game a Brooklyn starting pitcher has failed to last. Harvey Haddix, aided by Hal White in the sixth, picked up his eighth victory.

Eddie Lopat in the first game and Jim McDonald and Tom Gorman in the second game baffled the Browns as the Yankees made it three in a row and 31 out of their last 36 games. Lopat's victory was his eighth straight this season. He won his last five in a row last year.

During the runfest at Boston the Red Sox collected 14 hits and six walks to score their 17 runs. One of the hits was a home run by Dick Gernert with two on base. All but two of the other safeties were singles.

Three men reached base three times in the inning. Gene Stephens doubled once and singled twice. Sam White and Tom Umphlett got two singles and a walk apiece. White scored three runs. All were modern major league records.

Forced into extra innings when Joe Astroth homered for the Athletics in the ninth, the Indians picked up two runs in the 12th on an error and three scratch hits—a pop fly that fell near second base, a bunt and a short blow to center by Larry Doby. The tie-breaking run scored after a long fly by Al Rosen with the bases loaded.

Robinson Out

Chicago, June 19 (AP) — Jackie Robinson will be missing from the Brooklyn Dodger lineup for at least three days, perhaps longer. Robinson bruised and lacerated his right knee as he crashed into a concrete wall trying to catch a foul fly yesterday in St. Louis. The X-rays were negative but Robinson had difficulty walking today and the knee was badly swollen.

Lincoln Park Raps Sickler's 13 to 1 Behind McElrath

Lincoln Park ... trounced Sickler's Delivery, 13 to 1 behind Ferrell McElrath's two-hit pitching and a 16-hit bombardment that included two home runs by Henry Leininger and one by Joe Ruzzo.

McElrath unfurled his second two-hit performance in the City Softball League this season and was staked to an early lead. Lincolns exploded for six runs in the third. Alecca and Brown had the Sickler hits.

Leininger had four hits in five trips, adding two singles to his pair of homers. Jack and Joe Ruzzo, Embree, Murray and Dee Titus had two hits each for the Lincolns.

Figures Squared Off

Legion Cops First Game in FYL Loop

Bob Maines outdueled Joe Pino as the American Legion entry of the Fraternal Youth League picked up its first victory of the season, 6 to 1, over the Veterans of Foreign Wars, yesterday at municipal stadium.

Maines permitted only two hits—both singles to Ronnie Ashdown and Joey Hoffman—and walked three and fanned eight. He also contributed a triple for the only extra base blow of the game.

Pino pitched effectively, yielding only seven hits, while walking three and fanning 10 but five VFW bobbles added to his difficulties.

It was the second straight loss for the Vets.

Dykes Bangs Three

Bobby Dykes, Legion third sacker, went "3 for 3," all singles and knocked in three runs for the winners. Don Duffy, the catcher, had "2 for 2" and figured in both Legion rallies.

Maines lost a shutout on an unearned tally in the second inning when Ronnie Ashdown reached first on Tony Amato's error, stole second and scored on Don Duffy's miscue.

Bobby Dykes singled Duffy home in the bottom half of the frame for a 1-1 tie and the Legion chased three runs across in the next inning.

Red Sox Trounce Yanks, 7-3 To Capture First Half Flag

Boice Gives Only Three Hits, Fans Nine

The high flying Red Sox wrapped up the first half of the American Little League pennant yesterday, by trouncing the Yankees, 7 to 3, at the 156th FA diamond.

Strong-armed Charlie Boice, the league's premier flinger, stopped the Yankees with three hits, fanned nine and walked seven to gain the decision over John Melchoir.

Melchoir was touched for eight hits, including doubles and singles by Don Krueger and Jim Cullum, struck out 10 and didn't issue a pass. He also whacked a double for one of the Yankee safeties. Mike Sangaline and Bill Thomas got the others.

The Red Sox staked Boice to a 2-0 lead in the first inning and added two more for a 4-0 margin before the Yankees crashed through with a pair of runs in the fourth. The Red Sox answer to that was a trio in the fifth.

Won Seven Games

Red Sox singles were credited to Joe DeCicco, Charlie Boice, Tom Cragan and Frank Sammons.

The Red Sox won seven and lost two games during the round and several of the wins were by lopsided margins. The Giants surprised them in their last outing but they were back on the beam yesterday.

Last year's champion Dodgers finished in second place with 4 wins and 3 setbacks.

League officials said the remainder of the first round schedule would be cancelled and second half play will start Monday, with the Yankees meeting the Dodgers.

Olson 3-1 Choice Over Paddy Young

New York, June 19 (AP)—Randy Turpin's fall work will be cut out for him tonight at Madison Square Garden when Carl (Bobo) Olson meets Paddy Young for the American middleweight title and the right to fight the Britisher for the world title in August.

Olson, Hawaiian born San Francisco boxer, rates a solid 3 to 1 favorite over the rugged Irishman from New York's Greenwich Village. In fact, Olson may be the choice over Turpin if he gets past saddle-nosed Paddy. The pick here is Olson despite the ever-present danger in Young's left hook.

The 15-round match, scheduled for 9:00 p. m. (EST) will be shot across the nation on television (NBC) and radio (ABC) for a $50,000 fee. Each fighter gets 30 per cent of the TV cash and the estimated $35,000 that 9,000 fans are expected to pay at the box office.

If Olson wins as the odds indicate, there may be some difficulty roping him for the proposed Aug. 27 New York date with Turpin. The International Boxing Club has Turpin signed but the match hasn't been completed on this end.

Five Win Prizes In Wiltwyck Golf

Five prize winners were announced for the weekly Ladies' Day competition Wednesday at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

The Calloway system of scoring was used and low net prizes were won by Mrs. Stanley Hankinson, Mrs. Reuben Leventhal, Mrs. William Zwick, Mrs. Robert Daley and Mrs. Ernest LeFevre.

Putting prizes went to Mrs. Ivan Whitmore, Mrs. Roland Riegel and Mrs. John Dudyk. Mrs. Ernest LeFevre was in charge of the day's program.

The sixth annual Wiltwyck women's invitational tournament will be held on Wednesday, June 24, starting at 8 a. m. Several area clubs will be represented.

Ladies' Day play resumes on Wednesday, July 1, with Mrs. Stanley Hankinson in charge.

FLY CASTING WITH RIGHT SIDE-WINDS

A BACKHAND CAST IS USED IF A STRONG WIND IS BLOWING FROM YOUR RIGHT. IT'S MADE BY CROSSING THE CASTING ARM IN FRONT OF YOUR BODY TO CAST OVER YOUR LEFT SHOULDER IN MILD WINDS OR PARALLEL WITH THE WATER IN HEAVY WINDS. THE BACKCAST AND FORWARD CAST IS MADE IN THE SAME PATH OF ACTION WITHOUT CHANGING ANGLE OF ROD'S TILT. SOME ANGLERS PREFER TO USE A CLOCKWISE ROTARY ACTION BY RAISING ROD TILT FOR THE FORWARD CAST.

IN A RIGHT SIDE HEAD-WIND, DRIVE THIS CAST LOWER DOWN AT THE FINISH. IF IT IS A RIGHT SIDE BACK-WIND, USE A LEFT HAND LINE PULL ON BACKCAST.

Body Turn Natural in Backswing

By JULIUS BOROS
1951 U. S. Open Champ

Some professionals advocate a forward press—a slight movement forward at the start of the backswing to relax the muscles for the uncoiling.

That is purely the choice of the individual. If it is natural to do, so, fine. If it doesn't feel natural, forget it.

As the club moves back, the body will turn naturally as the arms are extended.

The wrists will start to cock or bend about half way in the backswing.

Don't make any deliberate effort to cock your wrists. That will come automatically. By the time you have reached the top of the backswing, the wrists will be fully cocked. The left shoulder is under the chin.

The head has remained in almost the same position as at the address.

At the top of the backswing, the right hip should be turned completely out of the way so the club can be swung all the way to the top without restriction by the body.

The hands should be under the shaft at this point, with firm control of the club.

The shaft should be parallel to the ground, the right elbow tucked in close to the body to insure an inside-out swing, the weight shifted to the right foot.

Don't attempt to learn every one of these points now. If your swing is properly executed these fundamentals will come mechanically. Only practice can tell when you have reached the top of your swing.

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers are doing their level best to insure the 1953 National League pennant for the upstart Milwaukee Braves.

The two would-be contenders have met nine times this spring. The Dodgers won the four played in Brooklyn and the Cardinals have just finished sweeping their second series—a total of five games—from Brooklyn in St. Louis.

When you can set up a situation where two of the top teams are busily engaged in beating each other, it makes it a lot easier for a third team to grab the top rung and hold on.

Braves Rained Out

Milwaukee — certainly not an outfit to let such a golden opportunity slip by—gained three full games during Brooklyn's decline and fall in St. Louis. And because the Braves, too, have been winning, the only progress the Cardinals have made towards first place is the half game they picked up yesterday when Milwaukee was rained out.

The Cardinals beat the Dodgers, 12-4, in the windup of their series, played with the mercury pushing 100 degrees. The Chicago Cubs moved within two percentage points of getting out of the cellar as they whipped Pittsburgh, 8-4. New York defeated Cincinnati, 6-3.

The onrushing New York Yankees subdued St. Louis twice, 5-0 and 3-0, stretching their amazing American League lead to 11 games over Cleveland. The Indians had to go 12 innings to beat Philadelphia, 6-4.

Boston broke seven modern records for single-inning scoring by pushing across 17 runs in the seventh against Detroit. The Red Sox went on to win, 23-3, making a total of 40 runs scored off Tiger pitching.

Chicago defeated Washington, 8-4, with six runs in the ninth inning.

Carl Erskine, who used to be able to beat the Cardinals just by tossing his glove on the mound, lasted only four innings and gave up six runs—three of them on a bases loaded double by Stan Musial. The loss marked the 10th straight game a Brooklyn starting pitcher has failed to last. Harvey Haddix, aided by Hal White in the sixth, picked up his eighth victory.

Eddie Lopat in the first game and Jim McDonald and Tom Gorman in the second game baffled the Browns as the Yankees made it three in a row and 31 out of their last 36 games. Lopat's victory was his eighth straight this season. He won his last five in a row last year.

During the runfest at Boston the Red Sox collected 14 hits and six walks to score their 17 runs. One of the hits was a home run by Dick Gernert with two on base. All but two of the other safeties were singles.

Three men reached base three times in the inning. Gene Stephens doubled once and singled twice. Sam White and Tom Umphlett got two singles and a walk apiece. White scored three runs. All were modern major league records.

Forced into extra innings when Joe Astroth homered for the Athletics in the ninth, the Indians picked up two runs in the 12th on an error and three scratch hits—a pop fly that fell near second base, a bunt and a short blow to center by Larry Doby. The tie-breaking run scored after a long fly by Al Rosen with the bases loaded.

Robinson Out

Chicago, June 19 (AP) — Jackie Robinson will be missing from the Brooklyn Dodger lineup for at least three days, perhaps longer. Robinson bruised and lacerated his right knee as he crashed into a concrete wall trying to catch a foul fly yesterday in St. Louis. The X-rays were negative but Robinson had difficulty walking today and the knee was badly swollen.

Lincoln Park Raps Sickler's 13 to 1 Behind McElrath

Lincoln Par... ...trounced Sickler's Delivery, 13 to 1 behind Ferrell McElrath's two-hit pitching and a 16-hit bombardment that included two home runs by Henry Leininger and one by Joe Ruzzo.

McElrath unfurled his second two-hit performance in the City Softball League this season and was staked to an early lead. Lincolns exploded for six runs in the third. Alecca and Brown had the Sickler hits.

Leininger had four hits in five trips, adding two singles to his pair of homers. Jack and Joe Ruzzo, Embree, Murray and Dee Titus had two hits each for the Lincolns.

Figures Squared Off

Legion Cops First Game in FYL Loop

Bob Maines outdueled Joe Pino as the American Legion entry of the Fraternal Youth League picked up its first victory of the season, 6 to 1, over the Veterans of Foreign Wars, yesterday at municipal stadium.

Maines permitted only two hits —both singles to Ronnie Ashdown and Joey Hoffman—and walked three and fanned eight. He also contributed a triple for the only extra base blow of the game.

Pino pitched effectively, yielding only seven hits, while walking three and fanning 10 but five VFW bobbles added to his difficulties.

It was the second straight loss for the Vets.

Dykes Bangs Three

Bobby Dykes, Legion third sacker, went "3 for 3," all singles and knocked in three runs for the winners. Don Duffy, the catcher, had "2 for 2" and figured in both Legion rallies.

Maines lost a shutout on an unearned tally in the second inning when Ronnie Ashdown reached first on Tony Amato's error, stole second and scored on Don Duffy's miscue.

Bobby Dykes singled Duffy home in the bottom half of the frame for a 1-1 tie and the Legion chased three runs across in the next inning.

Boice Gives Only Three Hits, Fans Nine

The high flying Red Sox wrapped up the first half of the American Little League pennant yesterday, by trouncing the Yankees, 7 to 3, at the 156th FA diamond.

Strong-armed Charlie Boice, the league's premier flinger, stopped the Yankees with three hits, fanned nine and walked seven to gain the decision over John Melchoir.

Melchoir was touched for eight hits, including doubles and singles by Don Krueger and Jim Cullum, struck out 10 and didn't issue a pass. He also whacked a double for one of the Yankee safeties. Mike Sangaline and Bill Thomas got the others.

The Red Sox staked Boice to a 2-0 lead in the first inning and added two more for a 4-0 margin before the Yankees crashed through with a pair of runs in the fourth. The Red Sox answer to that was a trio in the fifth.

Won Seven Games

Red Sox singles were credited to Joe DeCicco, Charlie Boice, Tom Cragan and Frank Sammons.

The Red Sox won seven and lost two games during the round and several of the wins were by lopsided margins. The Giants surprised them in their last outing but they were back on the beam yesterday.

Last year's champion Dodgers finished in second place with 4 wins and 3 setbacks.

League officials said the remainder of the first round schedule would be cancelled and second half play will start Monday, with the Yankees meeting the Dodgers.

Olson 3-1 Choice Over Paddy Young

New York, June 19 (AP)—Randy Turpin's fall work will be cut out for him tonight at Madison Square Garden when Carl (Bobo) Olson meets Paddy Young for the American middleweight title and the right to fight the Britisher for the world title in August.

Olson, Hawaiian born San Francisco boxer, rates a solid 3 to 1 favorite over the rugged Irishman from New York's Greenwich Village. In fact, Olson may be the choice over Turpin if he gets past saddle-nosed Paddy. The pick here is Olson despite the ever-present danger in Young's left hook.

The 15-round match, scheduled for 9:00 p. m. (EST) will be shot across the nation on television (NBC) and radio (ABC) for a $50,000 fee. Each fighter gets 30 per cent of the TV cash and the estimated $35,000 that 9,000 fans are expected to pay at the box office.

If Olson wins as the odds indicate, there may be some difficulty roping him for the proposed Aug. 27 New York date with Turpin. The International Boxing Club has Turpin signed but the match hasn't been completed on this end.

Five Win Prizes In Wiltwyck Golf

Five prize winners were announced for the weekly Ladies' Day competition Wednesday at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

The Calloway system of scoring was used and low net prizes were won by Mrs. Stanley Hankinson, Mrs. Reuben Leventhal, Mrs. William Zwick, Mrs. Robert Daley and Mrs. Ernest LeFevre.

Putting prizes went to Mrs. Ivan Whitmore, Mrs. Roland Riegel and Mrs. John Dudyk. Mrs. Ernest LeFevre was in charge of the day's program.

The sixth annual Wiltwyck women's invitational tournament will be held on Wednesday, June 24, starting at 8 a. m. Several area clubs will be represented.

Ladies' Day play resumes on Wednesday, July 1, with Mrs. Stanley Hankinson in charge.

FLY CASTING WITH RIGHT SIDE-WINDS

A BACKHAND CAST IS USED IF A STRONG WIND IS BLOWING FROM YOUR RIGHT. IT'S MADE BY CROSSING THE CASTING ARM IN FRONT OF YOUR BODY TO CAST OVER YOUR LEFT SHOULDER IN MILD WINDS OR PARALLEL WITH THE WATER IN HEAVY WINDS. THE BACKCAST AND FORWARD CAST IS MADE IN THE SAME PATH OF ACTION WITHOUT CHANGING ANGLE OF ROD'S TILT. SOME ANGLERS PREFER TO USE A CLOCKWISE ROTARY ACTION BY RAISING ROD TILT FOR THE FORWARD CAST.

IN A RIGHT SIDE HEAD-WIND, DRIVE THIS CAST LOWER DOWN AT THE FINISH. IF IT IS A RIGHT SIDE BACK-WIND, USE A LEFT HAND LINE PULL ON BACKCAST.

By JULIUS BOROS
1951 U. S. Open Champ

Some professionals advocate a forward press—a slight movement forward at the start of the backswing to relax the muscles for the uncoiling.

That is purely the choice of the individual. If it is natural to do, so, fine. If it doesn't feel natural, forget it.

As the club moves back, the body will turn naturally as the arms are extended.

The wrists will start to cock or bend about half way in the backswing.

Don't make any deliberate effort to cock your wrists. That will come automatically. By the time you have reached the top of the backswing, the wrists will be fully cocked. The left shoulder is under the chin.

The head has remained in almost the same position as at the address.

At the top of the backswing, the right hip should be turned completely out of the way so the club can be swung all the way to the top without restriction by the body.

The hands should be under the shaft at this point, with firm control of the club.

The shaft should be parallel to the ground, the right elbow tucked in close to the body to insure an inside-out swing, the weight shifted to the right foot.

Don't attempt to learn every one of these points now. If your swing is properly executed these fundamentals will come mechanically. Only practice can tell when you have reached the top of your swing.

Onteora Central School Briefs

Investiture Held

On Thursday, June 11, the Intermediate Girl Scouts of the Onteora School held their first investiture in the school cafeteria. The ceremony opened with the participants and parents joining in the salute to the flag and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Mrs. Arthur Henkel presented Girl Scout pins to Louise Weidner, Louise Allen, Lena Bachor, Margaret Savage and Evelyn Lang.

Twenty-four Girl Scouts recited the Scout promise and received their pins—Tanya Ivanoff, Barbara Tosi, Betty Elifant, Mae MacDaniel, Alberta Fox, Roberta Cronan, Charlotte Wheeler, Dorthy Stone, Elizabeth Lang, Kirsten Warnes, Joan Dwyer, Loretta Charles, Carole Lang, Jean Maier, Therese Bachor, Gloria Wright, Jane Lane, Karen Ann Littel, Margaret Savage, Betty Lou Allen, Gail Shultis, Mary Louise Bonestill, Bernice Banks and Mary Hansen.

Mrs. Weidner then presented Mrs. Henkel with a gold star for a year of Scouting and a pair of Girl Scoute bookends in appreciation of her help in organizing the troop.

The ceremony closed with the Scouts and leaders joining in the singing and prayer in their closing circle.

Refreshments made by the Scouts were served.

Unwanted Decoration

Oxford, England, June 18 (AP)—Oxford University's cricket field—one of Britain's most famous—bore a new and unwanted decoration today. The name "Malenkov" had been burnt in the outfield grass. Grounds keepers said the nine-inch letters apparently had been etched into the turf with either gasoline or acid. They will be there for a while, too. The only thing that can be done is to wait for the grass to grow out again.

Wins $25,000 Award

Detroit, June 19 (AP)—Robert Moses, New York city construction co-ordinator and commissioner of parks, last night won a $25,000 award in General Motors better highways awards contest. Other awards ranging from $2,500 to $10,000 were announced for essays on "How to plan and pay for the safe and adequate highways we need." John J. Ryan of 28 Demott avenue, Baldwin, L. I., won $2,500 for the best essay from the Middle Atlantic region consisting of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Winners were selected from more than 44,000 essays.

Studies Voting

Paris, June 19 (AP)—President Vincent Auriol studied National Assembly voting on rejected candidates for the premiership today in hopes of picking a man who can get even a precarious majority in parliament. The latest hopeful — radical Socialist Andre Marie — lost out early this morning. As the nation's political crisis continued into its 30th day—a French postwar record, it appeared the president might turn to the independents among the assembly's ranks. There was no immediate indication, however, when Auriol might name his new prospect.

Onteora Central School Briefs

Investiture Held

On Thursday, June 11, the Intermediate Girl Scouts of the Onteora School held their first investiture in the school cafeteria. The ceremony opened with the participants and parents joining in the salute to the flag and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Mrs. Arthur Henkel presented Girl Scout pins to Louise Weidner, Louise Allen, Lena Bachor, Margaret Savage and Evelyn Lang.

Twenty-four Girl Scouts recited the Scout promise and received their pins—Tanya Ivanoff, Barbara Tosi, Betty Elifant, Mae MacDaniel, Alberta Fox, Roberta Cronan, Charlotte Wheeler, Dorthy Stone, Elizabeth Lang, Kirsten Warnes, Joan Dwyer, Loretta Charles, Carole Lang, Jean Maier, Therese Bachor, Gloria Wright, Jane Lane, Karen Ann Littel, Margaret Savage, Betty Lou Allen, Gail Shultis, Mary Louise Bonestill, Bernice Banks and Mary Hansen.

Mrs. Weidner then presented Mrs. Henkel with a gold star for a year of Scouting and a pair of Girl Scoute bookends in appreciation of her help in organizing the troop.

The ceremony closed with the Scouts and leaders joining in the singing and prayer in their closing circle.

Unwanted Decoration

Oxford, England, June 18 (AP)—Oxford University's cricket field—one of Britain's most famous—bore a new and unwanted decoration today. The name "Malenkov" had been burnt in the outfield grass. Grounds keepers said the nine-inch letters apparently had been etched into the turf with either gasoline or acid. They will be there for a while, too. The only thing that can be done is to wait for the grass to grow out again.

Wins $25,000 Award

Detroit, June 19 (AP)—Robert Moses, New York city construction co-ordinator and commissioner of parks, last night won a $25,000 award in General Motors better highways awards contest. Other awards ranging from $2,500 to $10,000 were announced for essays on "How to plan and pay for the safe and adequate highways we need." John J. Ryan of 28 Demott avenue, Baldwin, L. I., won $2,500 for the best essay from the Middle Atlantic region consisting of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Winners were selected from more than 44,000 essays.

Studies Voting

Paris, June 19 (AP)—President Vincent Auriol studied National Assembly voting on rejected candidates for the premiership today in hopes of picking a man who can get even a precarious majority in parliament. The latest hopeful — radical Socialist Andre Marie — lost out early this morning. As the nation's political crisis continued into its 30th day—a French postwar record, it appeared the president might turn to the independents among the assembly's ranks. There was no immediate indication, however, when Auriol might name his new prospect.

UNCLE EF

After an embarrassing experience at the church, the Reverend Passmore arranged with the road patrol to watch for any scheduled June bridegroom who might be seen leaving town on his wedding day, and since then there have been no escapes.

The Weather

FRIDAY, JUNE 19, 1953

Sun rises at 4:06 a. m.; sun sets at 7:25 p. m., EST.

Weather, partly cloudy.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 63 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 82 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity — Fair and continued warm this afternoon, tonight and Saturday with temperatures this afternoon

well up in the 80s; lowest tonight in the 60s and highest Saturday around 90. Gentle variable winds this afternoon and tonight becoming moderate to fresh southwesterly Saturday.

Eastern New York — Fair tonight, lowest temperature 58-64. Saturday considerable cloudiness and warm with chance of a few showers in north and central portion.

City engineer's weather report: Temperature at 10 a. m. today 82, barometric pressure 29.70 inches, humidity 80 per cent, and wind E at seven MPH. High temperature yesterday 89 at 2 p. m., and low 59 at 4 a. m. Mean 74 and normal 69. Humidity 94 at 5 a. m., and low 63 at 3 p. m. Barometric pressure 29.70 at 2 a. m., and 29.63 at 6 p.m. Wind SE at seven MPH.

Forecast Through June 24

New York, June 19 (AP) — Weather forecast for Middle Atlantic states and eastern New York, tomorrow through Wednesday: Temperatures will average a bit above normal with slowly rising trend. Scattered showers likely early next week and in portions of New York over weekend, with total rainfall one-quarter inch.

100 Persons Attend Dedication of New Ashokan Concern

Approximately 100 persons attended Saturday a party dedicating the new factory of the Onteora Manufacturing Company in Ashokan.

Music for dancing was provided by the Melody Hillbillys Orchestra and later in the evening a buffet supper was served.

An exhibition of company products and their component parts attracted interest. Several sizes of oil filters for Mack trucks manufactured for WGB Oil Clarifiers, Inc., of Kingston, were also exhibited, as was a "lifetime clothesline pulley" and samples of sub-contract work done for IBM.

Transfer of machinery to the new building is expected to proceed rapidly with full scale operation beginning in the near future.

Six MIGs Destroyed

Seoul, June 19 (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets destroyed six Communist MIGs and damaged three in air battles high over northwest Korea today. On the ground, Communist infantrymen in company strength jabbed viciously at South Korean positions along the central front, probing for weak spots where a major assault might break through. Chinese Reds smacked into several ROK-held hill positions along the east central front where 30,500 to 40,000 Communists had rolled back allied lines as much as two miles early this week in a pre-armistice drive toward the 38th Parallel. Except on the central front, ground action was light.

Club Operator Slain

New York, June 19 (AP) — The badly beaten up body of a prominent Greenwich Village nightclub operator was found today in a parked automobile on a Manhattan street. Police said he appeared to be a homicide victim. They identified the victim as Stephen Franse, owner of the Club 82 and former owner of the Howdy Club and other village nightspots.

Education Called Means to Combat Delinquency in US

In treating mentally defective criminals "kindness gets better results than harsh brutality," Major Thomas J. Hanlon, superintendent of the state Institute for Mental Defectives at Napanoch, told members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting.

Explaining the changing trend from punishment to correction of criminals, Major Hanlon said that "education is the answer to the correction of the delinquent."

He invited the Kiwanians to visit Napanoch, where a full program is provided for inmates. "There is no idleness within the institution," he said. The institution has a present population of 1,038 inmates, serving time on convictions from petit larceny to second degree murder.

Gives Cause of Riots

Major Hanlon urged that more money be spent on schools instead of on institutions as a way of decreasing juvenile delinquency. Here, as well as in other areas of life, he urged that people be treated as individuals and that programs be designed to fit their needs.

He attributed recent prison riots elsewhere in the country to "lack of proper classification, segregation, and individualized treatment."

People should be interested in their prisons and in the matter of correction because of the menace of criminals, the high costs of prisons and the loss to society of human beings, he said.

Trumans to Travel

Independence, Mo., June 19 (AP) —Former President and Mrs. Truman are to leave today on an automobile trip to Washington for their first visit there since leaving the White House in January. He plans to see his former colleagues in the Senate and a number of his former cabinet members. He also is scheduled to have lunch with officials of the Truman Memorial Library Association. Present plans call for the Trumans to travel to Philadelphia from the capital, then to New York where their daughter, Margaret, is living.

All C-124s Grounded

Tokyo, June 19 (AP)—All giant C-124 Globemasters flying the airlift between Japan and Korea were grounded today pending an investigation of history's greatest air disaster which killed 129 American servicemen yesterday.

Barometric pressure 29.70 at 2 a. m., and 29.63 at 6 p.m. Wind SE at seven MPH.

Forecast Through June 24

New York, June 19 (AP) — Weather forecast for Middle Atlantic states and eastern New York, tomorrow through Wednesday: Temperatures will average a bit above normal with slowly rising trend. Scattered showers likely early next week and in portions of New York over weekend, with total rainfall one-quarter inch.

100 Persons Attend Dedication of New Ashokan Concern

Approximately 100 persons attended Saturday a party dedicating the new factory of the Onteora Manufacturing Company in Ashokan.

Music for dancing was provided by the Melody Hillbillys Orchestra and later in the evening a buffet supper was served.

An exhibition of company products and their component parts attracted interest. Several sizes of oil filters for Mack trucks manufactured for WGB Oil Clarifiers, Inc., of Kingston, were also exhibited, as was a "lifetime clothesline pulley" and samples of sub-contract work done for IBM.

Transfer of machinery to the new building is expected to proceed rapidly with full scale operation beginning in the near future.

Six MIGs Destroyed

Seoul, June 19 (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets destroyed six Communist MIGs and damaged three in air battles high over northwest Korea today. On the ground, Communist infantrymen in company strength jabbed viciously at South Korean positions along the central front, probing for weak spots where a major assault might break through. Chinese Reds smacked into several ROK-held hill positions along the east central front where 30,500 to 40,000 Communists had rolled back allied lines as much as two miles early this week in a pre-armistice drive toward the 38th Parallel. Except on the central front, ground action was light.

Club Operator Slain

New York, June 19 (AP) — The badly beaten up body of a prominent Greenwich Village nightclub operator was found today in a parked automobile on a Manhattan street. Police said he appeared to be a homicide victim. They identified the victim as Stephen Franse, owner of the Club 82 and former owner of the Howdy Club and other village nightspots.

Education Called Means to Combat Delinquency in US

In treating mentally defective criminals "kindness gets better results than harsh brutality," Major Thomas J. Hanlon, superintendent of the state Institute for Mental Defectives at Napanoch, told members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting.

Explaining the changing trend from punishment to correction of criminals, Major Hanlon said that "education is the answer to the correction of the delinquent."

He invited the Kiwanians to visit Napanoch, where a full program is provided for inmates. "There is no idleness within the institution," he said. The institution has a present population of 1,038 inmates, serving time on convictions from petit larceny to second degree murder.

Gives Cause of Riots

Major Hanlon urged that more money be spent on schools instead of on institutions as a way of decreasing juvenile delinquency. Here, as well as in other areas of life, he urged that people be treated as individuals and that programs be designed to fit their needs.

He attributed recent prison riots elsewhere in the country to "lack of proper classification, segregation, and individualized treatment."

People should be interested in their prisons and in the matter of correction because of the menace of criminals, the high costs of prisons and the loss to society of human beings, he said.

Trumans to Travel

Independence, Mo., June 19 (AP) —Former President and Mrs. Truman are to leave today on an automobile trip to Washington for their first visit there since leaving the White House in January. He plans to see his former colleagues in the Senate and a number of his former cabinet members. He also is scheduled to have lunch with officials of the Truman Memorial Library Association. Present plans call for the Trumans to travel to Philadelphia from the capital, then to New York where their daughter, Margaret, is living.

All C-124s Grounded

Tokyo, June 19 (AP)—All giant C-124 Globemasters flying the airlift between Japan and Korea were grounded today pending an investigation of history's greatest air disaster which killed 129 American servicemen yesterday.
